ROW OVER HOSPITAL

Forbes is Blamed at Hearing

Proposed Site and Building Plans at Livermore Are Basis for Charges

Veterans' Bureau Chief Says Huge Sum Paid Architect; Drawings Unusable

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Statements somewhat sensational in character regarding the purchase of the site for and the preparation of original plans of an as yet unconstructed government tuberculosis hospital at Livermore, Cal., were read today into the record of the Senate committee investigating the Veterans Bureau.

Col. O'Ryan, general counsel for the committee, presented a report from A. E. Roberts, chairman of the California rehabilitation committee, which said charges had been made directly to former Director Charles R. Forbes, under whose administration the purchase was made, that the transaction was "tainted by graft." The report added that at the time Mr. Forbes made no denials of this or other charges made to him by Legion representatives. When this report was read, Col. Hines, director of the bureau, testified that Mathew O'Brien, a San Francisco architect employed under the administration of Mr. Forbes, had been paid $64,000 for plans of the hospital which subsequently proved unusable. O'Brien's contract called for 6% per cent of the total cost of the project $1,600,000, Gen. Hines said, and Charles H. Stratton of the bureau's building department, told the committee that under the usual practice in the building trade, Mr. O'Brien's fees would not have exceeded $48,000 even with a contract for construction had been let.

CLAIM NOT ALLOWED

Gen. Hines said Mr. O'Brien had filed a claim for an additional $12,000, but that this had not been allowed, and a counter claim for $20,000 had been filed against the architect by the bureau. This claim, he added, probably will be submitted to the courts for determination. Meantime, new plans for the hospital are in preparation by the bureau forces.

Mr. Forbes, who attended the opening of the hearings yesterday and several times sought to challenge statements placed in the record, was absent from sessions today. The condition of his health was reported as serious by his friends, who are reported to have ordered him to conserve his strength until such times as he can have opportunity to reply to the charges made concerning his administration.

Mr. Grauperl, in the report from Gen. O'Ryan read to the

GIRAND DAM PLEA HIT

Action on Permit Postponed

Federal Board Denies Right to Act Until Arizona Accepts Pact

Colorado River Flood Curb Necessary Before Aid Can be Extended

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The Federal Water Power Commission at its meeting Monday indefinitely postponed action on the application for a construction permit for Diamond Creek in the Colorado River, presented by the Girand interests who have held a preliminary permit on this site for some months.

The new permit was prepared and sent to the board for signature and approval. No action was taken and the tentative permit was destroyed. The attitude of the Water Power Commission is that it has no authority to go further than preserve rights of the Girand interests under their preliminary permit and that no authority could be granted by the commission to permit actual construction until the Colorado River pact is either ratified by Arizona, the only State of the seven in the pact which has not acted favorably, or else, Arizona, by declining to ratify the pact, places the whole matter of control and development of the Colorado where it was before the pact was negotiated.

EXTENSION FAVORED

Several of the members of the Federal Water Power Commission favor the extension of the Girand preliminary permit for eighteen months to enable Arizona to take legislative action on the pact in order that progress can be made in the way of general flood control and allocation of water rights and power allotments as provided in the pact. Such action could be taken by Arizona through a special session of the Legislature, and if it is true that State officials are anxious to protect Girand and his associates who have done the pioneer work at Diamond Creek, Arizona can extend for a reasonable period its State permission to Girand and his associates and all rights in the enterprise will be protected until the whole development of the Colorado River by Federal government and the seven States involved can be worked out along the lines of the pact now awaiting only the ratification of Arizona.

Almost all government and other power experts believe that once the program for the Colorado River is seattled there can be no political reason for delaying longer the actual construction of a power site at Diamond Creek, but that to grant it now might delay the final control and development

OIL STATION ATTENDANT SHOT IN ARM

Bandit Fires When His With Bag Which Contained Day's Receipts

Battling with a solitary bandit who attempted to hold him up in the Union Oil filling station at Eighth and Alvarado streets, Earl Worden, manager of the station, last night was shot in the arm by the hold-up man after he had struck the man over the head with a heavy money bag.

The hold-up was one of three similar attempts last night, in all of which the bandits were routed. The bandit entered Worden's oil station as he was counting the day's receipts. He had a large bag of small change in his hand. The bandit thrust a gun in his face. He swung the bag, striking the hold-up man and the bag burst money spilling over the floor. The astonished bandit fired twice, one bullet missing its mark, the other striking Worden in the arm, fracturing a bone.

Frank MacVicke, proprietor of a garage at 1525 Vine street, used a crowbar to rout a lone robber who attempted to hold him up in the garage at about the same time. The bandit fled.

Two men entered the front door of Mrs. W. B. Blood's home at 5871 Alta Loma Terrace late last night, and one of them kept her covered with a gun while the other hurriedly searched the house. The intruders were frightened away by a noise outside before getting anything of value.

FIVE DEATHS AND SUICIDE LAID TO MAN

Farmer Believed to Have Set Fire to Home After Tragedy; Bodies Found

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BEND (Or.) Oct. 23.—After killing his sister, her baby daughter, and his three children, Eli Chasse, a French-Canadian farmer who lived eleven miles north of here, near Deschutes, set fire to his home and then ended his own life by shooting himself through the head with a revolver, it was reported here today following the discovery of the tragedy early this morning by W. B. Steele, a neighbor who saw the house in flames. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that the deaths had been caused by "party or parties unkown."

The bodies of the sister and four children were burned in their beds where they had been beaten to death with a hammer.

The dead are: Eli Chasse, 45 years of age; Mrs. Anna Lauzer, sister of Chasse; Rita Lauzer, 2½, daughter of dead woman; Estrange Chasse, 5, daughter of dead man; Viola Chasse, 7, daughter of dead man, and Wilfrid Chasse, 9, son of dead man.

Evidence developed that Chasse had been despondent lately because of financial difficulties and that Chasse's sister had expressed fear of her brother because of threats she said he had made.

HARVEY DEFENDS POLICY OF AMERICA IN SPEECH

Farewell Talk at Pilgrims' Dinner Reiterates Willingness to Aid in Reparations Tangle

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Ambassador Harvey delivered a long farewell speech at the Pilgrims' dinner tonight, in which he reiterated the willingness of the United States to help assess Germany's capacity to pay reparations, reviewed the Monroe Doctrine and declared that America must and would keep aloof from the broils of Europe.

He reminded his large audience, which included the British Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, the British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, and the French, Belgian and Japanese ambassadors, that the United States had waived all reparations claims from Germany for the joint account of the Allies and was therefore disinterested, but that when America came to the door of Europe to assist in a settlement of the reparations she found the door closed.

READY TO HELP

"We are ready to promote any scheme for the economic rehabilitation of Europe," he declared. "We are ready to join in any conference which will promote the recuperatoin and stability of the world, but we cannot smash in the door."

Ambassador Harvey recalled in his best humorous vein his first speech to the Pilgrims, which he said, "proved successful in evoking quite unprecedented approval from the public prints of my native land.

"My start at least was equal to that of Zev," he continued, "yet since that evening much water has splashed over the dam and in the mutual interest of our two countries at least I am happy to believe that much good has been accomplished. We can most easily reckon the approximate total by visualizing conditions as they would appear today if no changes had transpired in the meantime.

"Suppose, in addition to the troubles now besetting, there hovered above us the clouds of an Anglo-Japanese alliance, which, having served its original purpose had become an actual menace to the peace of three great nations, of constant and ever-increasing peril, of possible, even though accidental clashes on the Pacific Ocean, of the multiplying, from the necessity of self-proctection, of naval armaments to a degree never before imagined, of growing distrust, rapidly approaching resentment, concerning the financial relations of Great Britain and the United States, and finally, perhaps most disheartening of all, the seemingly unending centuries old problem in Ireland, whose satisfactory solution has become ab-

SPAN OF LIFE LENGTHENS

Mayo Says Five Years Can Be Added if Physician's Advice is Followed After Age of Forty

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Boys born nowadays, under normal conditions, have twelve years more to live than did their grandfathers. Death could be delayed an additional five years if every man and woman would undergo a rigid examination when 40 years old and abide religiously by the rules laid down by the examining physician.

The days of medical secrecy are past and the physician or surgeon who hides facts from his patient is out of date.

If you don't like the Volstead Act, change it. But while it's here, obey it.

These are the high points in an address delivered before the Rotary Club by Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn., who is in Chicago attending the annual session of the American College of Surgeons.

MOST GERMS GOOD

Dr. Mayo said that germs, which are blamed for so much of the world's ills, are 98 per cent good—both those which inhabit the human body and those found in the soil.

"The farmer would be hard to deceive on the properties of the bacteria in his land," said Dr. Mayo. "He knows what they can do. But some times he is neglectful of those that inhabit him and his family. Cleaniness is the big thing in health."

In the regular sessions of the College of Surgeons, which are being attended by distinguished practitioners of this and other countries, it was announced that cancer is spreading more rapidly and has a greater death rate than tuberculosis.

CHICAGO GOITER CENTER

Next of importance to cancer, is goiter, a menace to the health and beauty of every woman and girl. Chicago is the center of the "goiter belt" of the United States and this is due, it is asserted, to lack of sufficient iodine in the water. The disease is not prevalent in other parts of the United States, but takes thousands of victims in Europe and Asia. In Chicago alone, it is said, there are 200,000 goiter cases, about 20,000 which are under treatment.

Speakers at today's session admitted that important gains are being made in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis, but when cancer is mentioned, they shrug

SCORES KILLED AND HURT IN HAMBURG DISTURBANCE

Communists Desperately Resisting Movement of Separatists; Martial Law Declared

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Oct. 23—A severe battle is in progress at Aix La Chapelle between Separatist bands and the shupo, supported by the workers. The separatists have retaken the city hall. The death roll runs high on both sides, while the wounded list runs higher.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Seven policemen were killed and nineteen severely wounded and at least fourteen other persons were killed and 103 wounded in today's rioting in Hamburg, according to advices thus far received in Berlin.

In the suburbs of Barmbeck and Dehsheide fighting broke out afresh this afternoon when the Communists began firing from the roofs of houses. A vigorous counter-action was promptly begun and the police at last accounts were completely in control of the situation.

The newspapers here print conflicting reports concerning the situation at Aix La Chapelle, but it is known that twenty-five civilians were wounded in the fighting there today.

COMMUNISTS BLAMED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HAMBURG, Oct. 23.—Several persons were killed or wounded here today in outbreaks of rioting which began when Communists attempted to storm all the police stations in the city.

Ten of the stations were captured by the Communists who made prisoners of the occupants. Barricades have been erected in several streets from behind which the Communists are keeping up a well directed fire against stations still in the hands of the police, who have been reinforced and are trying to restore order.

The Communists captured an armored car manned by security police, killing one of the crew and making prisoners of the others.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HAMBURG, Oct. 23.—With new riots and street battles breaking out at 3 o'clock this evening martial law has been declared in the city and the Communists' coup is developing into more seriousness every hour. No one is allowed on the streets after 11 and before 5 in the morning, and patrols have orders to fire on all those appearing.

The Communists are gathering in force in the suburbs and are being met by guards who are being heavily reinforced. A few members of the Reichswehr who have been left in the city are co-operating with the police to control the situation.

FIGHT SEPARATISTS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

AIX LA CHAPELLE, Oct. 23.—Loyal blue police, reinforced by firemen, assembled just before dark tonight for a combined attack to oust the Separatists from the government headquarters building. After numerous hurried conferences with the Belgian and British authorities, however, the German officials called off the attack for the night.

At 3 o'clock this evening, Leo Deckers, one of the Separatist leaders, and forty of his followers still held the headquarters building and the colors of the Rhineland government fluttered from the flagstaff.

The police officials state tonight that the police would attack the building tomorrow morning unless the Separatists evacuated it during the night. This they seemed to think likely.

WALTON IS OUSTED

Impeached by Legislature

Bill Charges Governor With Entering Into Corrupt Political Scheme

Senate Will Take Up Case Today With Justice Presiding

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 23.—Gov. J. C. Walton was suspended from office at 6:40 p. m., when the State Senate by a vote of 36 to 1 adopted a resolution temporarily relieving him of his official duties, following the submission by the lower house of a bill of impeachment against him.

The impeachment bill charged the executive with entering into "a corrupt agreement" with Dr. A. E. Davenport, State Health Commissioner, to place T. P. Edwards, the Governor's personal chauffeur, on the payroll of the health department at $200 a month; and that thereby "certain monies were diverted from the statutory object and purpose for which they were appropriated by law."

The suspension resolution was introduced by Senator W. M. Guigar of Muskogee. A committee was named to inform the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of the action.

NOTIFIED BY TELEPHONE

Lieut.-Gov. Trapp is in Sapulpa and was notified by telephone.

The committee delivered its message to the Governor in his office.

Immediately afterward the house transmitted Article No. 2, charging the Governor with preventing the meeting of a grand jury that was to inquire into his official acts, and the Senate accepted it also.

The Senate notified the House that it would convene at any time to receive additional impeachment articles that might be adopted later by the lower body and then adjourned. The House ended its session almost at the same time.

The text of the resolution suspending the Governor follows:

Whereas, the House of Representatives of the Ninth Legislature, pursuant to the provisions of the Constitution, as filed with the Senate articles of impeachment, and,

Whereas, J. C. Walton, Governor of Oklahoma, is charged with offenses made grounds of impeachment by the Constitution, and,

Whereas, the filing of the articles with the Senate automatically suspends J. C. Walton as Governor and the office with its duties and compensations devolves upon the Lieutenant-Governor;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate that the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor be advised as to their duties in this event and that the secretary of the Senate notify the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of the proceedings thus had, and to present to each of them a copy of this resolution.

COURT OF IMPEACHMENT

The Senate will resolve itself into a court of impeachment tomorrow morning, it was said. Chief Justice J. T. Johnson of the State Supreme Court will preside.

Meanwhile the House is to continue consideration of the remaining twenty counts in the impeachment indictment.

Gov. Walton was among the last to leave the darkened State House tonight. With a small group of friends, he walked slowly down the stairway to the main floor.

The Governor halted briefly to read a copy of the Senate resolution suspending him from office which a press representative handed to him.

"The vote was 36 to 1 for the resolution," the Governor was told.

"Who voted for me?" he inquired in a low voice.

"Senator Barker."

The executive inquired about three other votes all of which had been cast against him.

"Will you have any statement to-night, Governor?" he was asked.

"Not a word," the executive replied.

VOTE UNEXPECTED

The vote on the impeachment charges in the House came unexpectedly late in the day. After most of the session had been devoted to reading testimony taken

FEAR SHIP CREW LOST

Eighty Men May Have Drowned

Fierce Northeast Storm is Lashing East Coast, Periling Vessels

Distress Signals Are Received From Craft Battling Against Waves

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Eighty officers and men in the crew aboard the British steamship West Moreland are believed to have been lost at sea today. The vessel has not been heard from since distress signals were dispatched while it was thirty-six miles off the Delaware breakwater in the terrific storm that is sweeping the Atlantic coast from Florida to Maine.

Distress signals from the vessel were received early today by the Danish steamship Phoenix. At that time the West Moreland was reported fourteen miles east of Five Fathoms lightship, which is twenty-two miles from the breakwater.

DISTRESS SIGNALS

The first message was picked up at 7 o'clock, and a few minutes later another was received, saying the seas were overwhelming and that the lifeboats on the ship had been smashed.

A later message asked that the crew be saved with all possible speed.

Further attempts to communicate with the West Moreland, however, failed, and it is feared the ship went down with all hands.

One of the worst northeast storms in years tonight continued to lash the entire Atlantic seaboard from Hatteras to Cape Cod.

Ships in grave danger of the fury of the gale, sent out distress signals. All of the nearby coast resorts reported jetties broken, wash-outs, electric light and telephone service disrupted, and the beaches and the meadows inundated by the heavy seas, borne in by a fifty-mile an hour gale. The minimum estimate of the damage runs into the hundreds of thousands.

Norfolk's downtown was under two feet of water in some sections including the heart of the business area.

A driving rain that accompanied the wind felled telephone poles and trees, flooded many inland places and disrupted train and trolley service.

Distress signals were received from the Danish steamship Phoenix, the barkentine Macerata and a three-masted British schooner off Fire Island, N. Y.

LIGHTSHIPS BLOWN AWAY

The Cape Charles lightship was blown from her station while the storm was at its height and the coast guard cutter Manning was dispatched to her assistance. The wind was blowing fifty-six miles an hour off the Virginia Capes when the cables holding the lightship to her post parted. She drifted toward the Cape Henry side of the capes. While the Manning was making her way to sea to search for the lightship the latter reported she would be able to make port.

Her anchors were carried away when she was blown from her station.

Members of the crew reported the storm was the worst they had experienced in several years. Nobody on board the ship was able to sleep Monday night and the vessel rolled heavily under the lashing high seas and a fifty-six-mile gale.

BARGES PICKED UP

While the storm was bringing distress to other ships, two barges which broke away from their anchorage off Southport Monday morning were picked up by the tug William B. Keenan and last reports the tug was trying to make port with the barges.

The coast guard cutter Tamaraw also went to search for the

JUDGE LINDSEY SUBPOENAED

Denver Justice to Refuse to Reveal Confidences Concerning Asserted Illegal Operations

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Oct. 23.—Juvenile Judge Ben B. Lindsey's letter today to the grand jury declaring he will not divulge confidences concerning alleged illegal operations in Denver, may not prove sufficient to excuse him from appearing before that body when it convenes tomorrow morning, Dist.-Atty. Van Cise said this afternoon.

Judge Lindsey made the statement that it was his belief that 1000 illegal operations were performed in Denver annually, in a letter mailed today to the grand jury. He also made public his intention to refuse to violate the confidences placed in him by women and girls who have gone to him with their troubles. He has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury.

Just what procedure may be undertaken as a result of the judge's refusal to tell all he knows, was not stated by Dist.-Atty. Van Cise, although he intimated that definite action would be taken.

WILL DO DUTY

"I shall meet conditions as they arise," was the only comment Van Cise would make.

"However, if a man makes a statement to the press, as Judge Lindsey has done, in which he said that illegal operations have cut Denver's birth rate in half, then I shall do my duty toward finding out just what this man knows."

Judge Lindsey, by way of supplementing the letter, in which he draws a fine line between exposure of individual cases and constructive legislation as a whole, declared today that last week he had been made the confidant in two such cases, involving Denver high school girls.

"I shall divulge absolutely nothing of what I know in the two cases," the judge said. "It would be the height of folly, in the light of recent all-too-conspicuous cases, to attempt criminal prosecutions where the offenders have been set scot free. Then, any way, the secrets of these girls are too sacred to me. I have talked to physicians who treated them, and I have done all that could be done, under the existing power of the law.

NEW CRISIS IN BERLIN AFFAIRS

Socialists Are Growing More Impatient

Stresemann Government Has Grave Problem

Radical Element is Bitter Against Bavaria

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Another parliamentary crisis, and one which will harbor far more serious internal ramifications than that which recently carried Dr. Stresemann into office for a second time at the head of a loosely jointed coalition, is an early prospect, in the opinion of political leaders. Socialistic impatience with the Stresemann government's tolerance of Von Kahr, the Bavarian dictator, and the indignation of the radicals over the resolute manner in which Saxony is being dealt with under the existing state of military law already constitute points of divergence, which threaten the Socialists' defection from the present coalition.

The Chancellor's failure to make prompt and categorical use of his dictatorial authority in enforcing urgent remedial measures, is also causing restiveness in the ranks of the radical party and its principal organ, Vorwaerts, which is not holding back plain-spoken criticism of the government, in which the party is represented by three ministers.

Among the Reichstag leaders there is a feeling that Chancellor Stresemann's majority is no longer an asset to him in Parliament and that he may find himself without adequate support when the house reconvenes next Friday. The government will then be called upon by the radicals to explain the apparent discrepancy whereby Saxony is overrun with Reichswehr divisions whereas Bavaria is permitted to flout the central government's authority at pleasure.

VON KAHR'S STAND

Dr. Von Kahr's rebellion is primarily aimed at the Socialistic regime which he asserts has constantly dominated the Berlin Cabinet, and on this score it is not precluded that the Socialists will force the issue by withdrawing from the coalition, leaving the Chancellor or President Ebert the choice of organizing a bourgeois government or dissolving the Reichstag and then placing the Federal authority in the hands of a directorate.

Sufficient political and economic combustibles have been accumulating the past week to bring on a crisis overnight. An attempt to modify the Weimer constitution to favor of more pronounced Federalism might precipitate a conflict which would immediately terminate the Socialists' relations with the government.

Beset with a score of ailments of foreign and internal origin, the Stresemann Cabinet has seemingly contented itself to drift, with numberless adversities confronting it. Its failure to halt the further collapse of the mark has incidentally handicapped its efforts to float a new currency based on a gold standard. Along with the collapse of finances, has gone the development of more serious conditions in the food situation throughout Germany, which daily is assuming more menacing proportions, especially in the metropolitan centers.

RELIEF MEASURES FAIL

None of the several hectic relief measures which the government has attempted to put into operation in the past ten days has so far accomplished a correction of the economic and social evils, and its efforts to liquidate the political and economic disorganization in the Ruhr and Rhineland since the abandonment of passive resistence have foundered on the irreconcilable attitude of the occupying powers, and more recently through the increased activities of the separatists.

Briefly stated, the chancellor and his ministers seem to have lost their way in an impenetrable gloom born of the chaos which is engulfing it and the German people at a pace which neither martial law, nor dictatorial legislative authority seems capable of halting.

BELGIAN PROPOSALS ACCEPTED

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Germany today accepted the Belgian proposals for guaranteeing the payment of reparations. Chairman Meyer of the war burden commission handed the German experts' report, drafted after studying Brussels'—plan to M. De La Croix, Belgian delegate to the reparations commission. M. De La Croix submitted the German report to the financial subcommittee of the commission which is examining the Belgian plan also.

Tomorrow Herr Meyer will deliver Chancellor Stresemann's memorandum addressed to the reparations commission, which elaborated the contents of the German experts' report and confirms their acceptance of the Belgian plan.

It is said in high quarters that the Reich is prepared to grant a series of monopolies on railways, tobacco, alcohol, salt matches and other revenue producing sources to guarantee the Allies collecting reparations which the Belgians estimate at a minimum total of 2,850,000,000 gold marks ($712,500,000) annually.

Under this scheme the Germans would operate the services under interallied control, but the Reachs budget would rely on any taxation of these sources, depositing all proceeds to the reparations account.

TRULY IS WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Canadian Miss Appointed to High Post Bonded for $15,000,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 23.—Weighing a little under 120 pounds and having seen only twenty-three summers, Miss Eileen McBride, niece of the late Sir Richard McBride, former Premier of British Columbia, has been appointed by the grain men of British Columbia to the position of clearance clerk for the grain-clearing station here.

"Worth her weight in gold," Miss McBride will be bonded for $15,000,000. All the grain-export papers will be indorsed over to her at this port, and she will ship grain against warehouse receipts. In the busy season it is estimated that Miss McBride will be the owner, by reason of these grain asrignments, of millions of dollars' worth of Canadian high-grade wheat.

WIND HITS COAST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A high wind, racing between forty and sixty miles an hour from the Massachusetts coast to Virginia, caused great inconvenience to shipping, forcing many vessels to remain in port. The storm, because of barometric conditions this afternoon, is expected to last until tomorrow.

In the city here trees were blown down and bill boards torn apart.

The only casualty reported was a motorman of Mineola, Long Island, who is likely to die from an electric shock sustained in picking up a live wire blown down by the storm. Minor injuries suffered by people slipping on the wet streets were reported from all quarters.

New Jersey and Virginia coast towns reported floods in sections near rivers or the sea. In several of them transportation facilities were crippled. Stone jetties at Asbury Park were damaged by heavy seas.

TWO OF ESCAPED CONVICTS RETAKEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) Oct. 23.—Manuel Mores and John Romero, two of three men in a group of thirty-one Federal prisoners who escaped here last night, were captured at Truckee, Cal., this morning, but the third man, George Butler, still was at large today. The men were handcuffed and were believed to have been assisted in their escape. United States Marshal J. M. Fulmer and two deputies were taking the group of thirty-one prisoners from a Virginia and Truckee train to the Washoe County Jail here when Romero, Mores and Butler melted into the crowd and escaped. All the men were under sentence to Federal prisons.

The Separatists this morning attempted to rush the City Hall but were repulsed and pursued by the workmen down Schillerstrasse.

The dispatch adds that the police have been confined to barracks.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—A detachment of Nationalists from Cologne is reported to be marching on Duren, now occupied by the Separatists, and a column of peasants from the Mont Jole district is marching on Aix La Chapelle.

Nationalists today recaptured the City Halls at Muenchen-Gladbach and Mont Jole and expelled the Separatists from them. During the disorder there were some casualties and several houses were pillaged.

SEPARATISTS EXPELLED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

JULICH (Prussia) Oct. 23.—Separatist movement in this Rhineland town was short-lived. The police, aided by firemen, armed with guns, hatchets and clubs, tonight expelled the Separatists from the Rathaus and postoffice, which they had occupied Monday. About twenty of the Separatists were arrested. The others fled to the country.

The Separatists, armed, had resisted the loyal Julich authorities last night and throughout today, but just after dark this evening the police and firemen launched a combined attack and in the hand-to-hand fighting which followed one Separatist was killed and eleven others were wounded. The police and firemen also had several casualties.

The flag of the Rhineland republic was lowered from the rathaus and torn to bits by the crowd.

by the investigation committee and one effort to suspend the oral presentation had been voted down, the House suddenly changed its course, cut off the reading and plunged into consideration of the second article on the impeachment bill. Consideration of article three followed at once.

Article two, the second of the twenty-two specific charges against the Governor made in the committee report, was approved without discussion by the House. It alleged that Gov. Walton had diverted State funds to his own use by placing his private chauffeur on the State Health Department pay roll.

A brief debate preceded adoption of article three, which charged the Governor with an offense against the Constitution by dispersing an assembly of the Lower House on September 26 by the State militia.

Each of the charges constituting sufficient grounds upon which to arraign the Governor before an impeachment court, they were submitted separately to the Senate as bills of impeachment as soon as the House had acted.

NATURE OF TESTIMONY

Testimony that had been presented was that of Dr. E. T. Bynum, who was at different times executive counselor and State Bank Commissioner; Aldrich Blake, counselor who succeeded Bynum, and who was, like him, deposed; Buck Garrett, former Sheriff of Carter county, and recently a personal bodyguard to the Executive and "Colonel" Zack Mulhall, wealthy cattleman and personal friend of the Governor.

Bynum told the committee he believed his removal from office as bank commissioner resulted from his refusal to appoint an incompetent man as his assistant at the order of the Governor.

Bynum said he was called before the executive who told him "that stuff won't get by with me. I have five friends you have got to take care of."

Blake's testimony at his second appearance before the committee dealt with the Governor's alleged use of State Department pay rolls to accommodate his friends. The former executive counselor told the committee that on one occasion, while the Governor was out of the city, he had discharged twenty-nine employees of the State Highway Department, who had been added to the pay roll, because there were no funds from which they legally could be paid.

NAVAL MAN AND WIFE ARRESTED AS DRUNK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—George T. Swasey, commander of one of the destroyers at the base here, and Mrs. Swasey, his attractive young wife, were arrested early this morning by county officers, following their visit to Tijuana.

Commander Swasey was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, and his wife is accused of drunkenness on a public highway.

A third person in the party, giving the name of Irvin Conners, also attached to a destroyer, will be arraigned with the Swaseys.

GRAFT SEEN IN HOSPITAL PLANS

committee, asserted that the purchase of the Livermore site "is one of the most suspicious circumstances that has arisen in this district."

He added that the suspicions of his committee had been aroused "by reports circulating in the town of Livermore" and that an investigation had disclosed the following facts:

"November 17, 1921, General Counsel Charles F. Cramer, of the Veterans Bureau, made an investigation of the hospital site at Livermore which had been recommended by the National Tuberculosis Association as one of the four sites in Northern California that was admirably situated for the purpose of the tuberculosis settlement. Mr. Cramer went over the ground with Mathew O'Brien, a resident of Pleasanton, who, among other lines of endeavor, maintains an architect's office in San Francisco. After looking over the ground Mr. Cramer requested Mr. O'Brien to assist him in obtaining an option on the property. On November 18, 1921, Mr. O'Brien informed Mr. Cramer that he had obtained a fifty-day option on the property."

CONDUCT SUSPICIOUS

Gen. O'Ryan interrupted his reading to say that the next part of the report dealt with the purchase of the property which he "will cover very thoroughly a little later." He then resumed the reading as follows:

"Following the obtaining of the option by Mr. O'Brien, a man by the name of Thomas O'Day went to Washington and attempted to put over the sale of the property to the government at a price of $150,000, and for some reason which cannot be ascertained, was put off from time to time until the expiration of the option. On April 12, 1922, Mr. O'Brien being the same O'Brien who obtained the option on the property for Mr. Cramer, appeared in Washington and filed an application for appointment as architect for the hospital. His application was accompanied by splendid recommendations, but there was no recommendation as to his professional capacity, nor was an inquiry made by Director Forbes as to his professional standing in the city and county of San Francisco.

"On June 28, 1922, Col. Forbes was in San Francisco. At that time the American Legion was satisfied that the transaction relating to the Livermore hospital was shady. John R. Quinn, State Commander of the American Legion, and A. E. Graupner, the district chairman of the rehabilitation committee, the secretary of the committee, and the director of publicity of the committee of the Legion called on Director Forbes in order to discuss the matter.

GRAFT CHARGED

At that time charges were made directly to Col. Forbes that the purchase of the property was surrounded by graft; that the plans for the hospital were such as to excite suspicion, and that the circumstances surrounding the open cultivation of the grape crop were such as to lead the American Legion to believe that Col. Forbes, either was participating or openly winking at the corrupt transaction.

"At that time Director Forbes made no denials of any of the allegations made to him by the American Legion, and his whole justification seemed to be that as long as the property had been acquired and was suited to the purpose of a tubercular hospital, it was no concern of the American Legion what was paid for the property or how the money was disposed of. From that time on the matter was subject to suspicion and on March 1, last, charges were placed in the hands of Brig.-Gen. Sawyer in Washington. The matter also was called to the attention of Director Hines on his assuming office."

O'BRIEN SAYS FEE FAIR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Mathew O'Brien, San Francisco architect, whose plans for the veterans' hospital at Livermore, and the subsequent payment of such plans are being made the subject of an investigation by a select committee of the United States Senate, said today that he had been paid $97,000 for his work.

"My business with the Veterans' Bureau is closed," O'Brien said. "I have received my fee and that ends it.

"Two sets of plans were made. The second set was made after the first had been rejected by the bureau. Architects are allowed under the rules of the American Institute of Architecture to receive 6 per cent of the construction cost included in the lowest bid for any structure. I only charged 5 per cent because of certain considerations made to me. I received an initial payment of $64,000 and my attorney notified me later that the $33,000 remaining also had been paid.

"I had nothing to do with the fact that the plans as finally adopted by the bureau were not put into effect. It was decided after the bids for the structure were opened to divide the hospital between Livermore and some city in the southern part of the State, 500 beds to go to each place. That called for new plans and new bids in which I have no interest.

"The plans called first for a $2,500,000 hospital plant. This estimate was later reduced to $1,600,000 and still later it was decided to divide the hospital. I consier my charge a just and fair one."

WILL IS CITED IN SCHICK CASE

Hand of Clark Revealed in Woman's Statement

Wanted Paper in His Favor, Mrs. Schick Says

More Records, Books Seized in Soul-Mate Home

BY BEN A. MARKSON
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—Battering with increased effort at the barrier of mystery which blocks the solution of the disappearance and probable murder of George E. Schick, investment broker, authorities have moved E. Drew Clark, exponent of mysticism, to a solitary cell while fresh clews are investigated and new witnesses summoned. Clark, his wife, Mrs. Etta May Clark, and Mrs. Sarah M. Schick, wife of the missing man, are held on charges of forging power of attorney to Schick's estate as the attempt to unravel the mystery progresses.

Developments today were as follows: Investigators made another search of the El Cajon "soul mate home" where Clark and Mrs. Schick lived after Schick vanished. They took with them books and papers hitherto overlooked in the research into Clark's life and habits.

Dist.-Atty. Kempley made known a statement by Mrs. Schick in which letter asserts Clark tried to persuade her to make out a will in his favor, offering to do likewise for her and mentioning an estate which he expected to inherit. This she refused to do. It was tacitly understood that Mrs. Schick would be a chief witness for the prosecution if a murder charge is placed against Clark and Mrs. Clark.

SAW MAN DIGGING

Sheriff Byers was investigating a report said to have been made by Frank Moore of Los Angeles that Moore had seen a man digging near the Coast Highway ten miles from Ensenada last February, shortly after the date of Schick's disappearance while a woman waited in an automobile near, by. This was late at night and the Sheriff was informed the man answered to Clark's description.

Deputy Sheriffs were detailed to check local storage concerns for a trunk filled with correspondence and articles stored by Clark.

The witnesses questioned by the District Attorney's Office included Mrs. R. L. Nichols, her sister, Miss Myra Gilchrist, and their mother, Mrs. Gilchrist, neighbors of the Clarks when the latter resided on Mission Drive; Mrs. Emma Bell, also a neighbor, and W. J. Ryan, realtor, who resided next door to the Schicks in Kensington Park. Mrs. Nichols, Miss Gilchrist and Mrs. Gilchrist went into detail of a disturbance they heard in the Clark's Mission-Drive home on the night Schick vanished. The voices of two angry men, the quieter voice of a woman, the sound of overturned furniture, a heavy thud and, then silence, was the gist of their story. Mrs. Bell was the witness who saw fire burning on the edge of the canyon back of the Mission-Drive home for two days and two nights subsequent to February 7 and a man dragging sacks into the canyon.

CLARK FAINTS

Clark fainted in his cell last night, according to his attorneys, Arthur Dorn and A. O. Shreve. They quoted Clark as saying he heard a woman screaming during the night in the matron's ward and believed it was his wife being abused. Two men believed to be detectives were placed in the cell with Clark all night. They were locked in as prisoners but are reported to have subjected Clark to the hardest grilling he has yet received. Denials of a third degree were made by investigators.

The case is undoubtedly one of the most mysterious and difficult in the crime annals of Southern California. It is a murder enigma without a corpus delicti. Optimistic statements by authorities have thus far met with no great justification. Neither Clark nor Mrs. Clark has shown definite signs up to the present of weakening in their insistence of innocence. However, the strength of the investigation is unabated.

Mission Canyon is still the scene of the digging for evidence of Schick's demise and an expedition to the point on the Coast highway near EnSenada mentioned by Frank Moore is probable if Sheriff Byers credits his information with importance.

That the defense of Mrs. Sarah M. Schick under the charge of forgery in granting E. Drew Clark power of attorney in disposing of her missing husband's property will be that she was under Clark's hypnotic power, is indicated by Attorney Adam Thompson, who, with Renwick Thompson, his son, has been retained as her counsel.

MOTHER COMING

Following Mrs. Schick's collapse during an interview with her attorney, and the call for medical aid, Thompson announced that he has not only retained Dr. R. O. Shelton, who was called at the time, but three other alienists to prove that Mrs. Schick was not operating under her own normal mind. Drs. T. Coe Little, H. F. Andrews and R. G. Hurlburt are the others named. Thompson further stated there is nothing to conceal, and he is prepared to conduct her defense openly before the public. Mrs. Schick's mother, Mrs. O. D. Loomis, is said to be en route to San Diego to aid her daughter.

A claim that it can be proved Schick transferred his property to his wife prior to his disappearance also is made by Thompson, who stated the missing man did not owe his brother, M. J. Schick, $15,000 as alleged by the latter in obtaining an injunction tying up the property.

The brother's court action to obtain custody of the two Schick boys, August and George, also will be contested by Mrs. Schick's counsel.

Defends Isolation Policies of United States

Tells Pilgrims of Desire to Give Europe Aid

WAY IS CLEARED

"How vastly more desperate, if not, indeed, positively hopeless, would be the outlook here in your country and everywhere throughout the world, if those portents of distrust of only three years ago still blurred the skies of today. Happily they have disappeared and the way to peace to that extent at least, is clear.

"These things did not merely happen; they were done by men. And out of the doing sprang perhaps the greatest of blessings in the establishment of a faithful relationshp between all the English-speaking peoples such as has not existed in many years—more than a century. I would not assume to depict the sentiments of the English, or Ireland, or the far-flung dominions, but I do feel I can speak with fair confidence of Canada as I know I can with surety of the United States. I doubt if anyone here fully comprehends the magnitude of the charge in the attitude in the people of my country toward the people of yours, that has taken place in the past few years.

"The ambassador proceeded to expound the Monroe Doctrine and said that when the American elder statesmen, in return for their demand for no interposition by Europe in American affairs, offered "no participation by the United States in the political broils of Europe," the great powers on this side of the ocean could but smile indulgently at their presumptuous tender of payment in kind, so trifling as to be negligible.

"We have not changed; we keep our promises," he remarked. "We would not impose our will upon Europe or any part of Europe. We shall not now or even hereafter participate in the political broils of Europe. Let that be understood."

Col. Harvey referred to Secretary of State Hughes' assertion that no isolation but independence is the cardinal doctrine of a republic, and asked:

"Is it a harsh doctrine? Is it narrow; is it ungenerous; is it mean?"

"As one who weighs in the balance the considerations which seem to be actuating the European powers, our position, in a relative sense at least, could hardly be pronounced indefensible wholly disregarding the irrefutable fact that billions of our money, borrowed by our government and then loaned by our government are still being used to maintain greater armies than ever before existed, for purposes surely of no concern to us. Have we not at least tried to help win the peace, as the rather, absurd popular phrase runs, as once upon a time we tried to help win the war?"

The ambassador recalled that a year ago, when it was apparently the universal opinion in Europe that the crux of the settlement lay in determining the amount Germany could pay, and only an unbiased authority could ascertain that satisfactorily, the moral obligation seemed to rest on the United States which was disinterested because it had waived all reparation claims on Germany.

TOOK BOLD STEP

"With what result?" the Ambassador continued. "Very reluctantly eleven months ago Secretary Hughes went so far as diplomatic usage premits, and without requiring a formal request from any power, offered to provide American adjudication. If you knew the United States as I know it, you would realize that that was a somewhat brave thing to do. Mr. Hughes did it publicly.

"America came to the door of Europe, and, behold, the door was closed. What could the United States do? What could any self-respecting nation have done? The United States went home.

"Conditions on the continent have changed somewhat during the eleven months that have elapsed, but there is no material difference in the fundamental situation. The need of a financial plan to prevent economic disaster in Europe, is obviously no less imperative and it is quite within the range of possibility that the preparation of such a plan would have been rendered more feasible by the abandonment of resistance by the German government.

"If so, while Secretary Hughes gave no opinion in perpetuity, and could hardly renew his proffer without seeming to be intrusive, there need be no question by my government's entire willingness to take part in such an economic conference as he originally suggested, if required by all the Allies chiefly concerned in German reparations.

MUST OPEN DOOR

That is to say, that under President Coolidge, as under President Harding, the United States stands quite ready to help in any practicable way to promote the recuperation and re-establishment of economic stability throughout the world. We are willing to come in, as the saying is, as soon as we are asked. But surely we cannot be expected to smash in the door. No, the Monroe Doctrine forbids it."

The Ambassador paid tribute to the overseas dominions, saying: "I am moved by the presence and participation of the Prime Minister of Australia to make the compliments of a former colony to your splendid dominions."

He quoted from President Harding's Vancouver speech and concluded:

"Surely I can do no better than to leave last in your minds tonight this unconscious linking together by a great American magistrate, as of one stock and spirit, all the elements comprising our mighty race, and that I do with assurance and satisfaction since I know the voice of our President in his last vital utterance, to have been the voice of the people, of the whole people, of our great republic."

DENVER, Oct. 23.—Crazed love early today caused A. R. [illegible] plumber, to shoot to death Mrs. Georgia B. Bryan, wife of an [illegible] fire chief, and A. J. Sherie, a farmer. Mitchell's divorced [illegible] strong religious feeling, he told police, caused him to confess [illegible] crime first to a minister and then to the police.

The bodies of Mrs. Bryan and Sherie were found in the front yard of the Sherie home, near Morningside, Colo., where several hours before Mitchell, Sherie and Mrs. Bryan were the principals in a liquor-drinking party, it is said.

PLANNED SUICIDE

After the shooting, Mitchell told police, he returned to his room in Denver, Grace Bryan, the slain woman's young daughter, he said, called him on the telephone and asked if he had seen her mother. This call, Mitchell said, caused him to go to the home of his divorced wife, Margaret Mitchell, and confess.

"I had intended to shoot myself after I shot Mrs. Bryan and Sherie," Mitchell told the police, "but I unloaded by gun on them. I pleaded with my wife to shoot me. She refused. She told me 'the wages of sin is death.' She was always religious and she advised me to go to a Christian minister and make a clean breast of my crime. We went to Rev. W. B. Gaberson, pastor of a Baptist church, and I made a confession."

The three knelt in prayer, [illegible] all said, and then they went [illegible] Denver police headquarters [illegible] Mitchell surrendered.

"Insane love of a woman [illegible] rotten whisky is responsible [illegible] this," said Mitchell. "Let [illegible] a warning to all women [illegible] shows what whisky will do. [illegible] Mrs. Bryan six months ago [illegible] became infatuated with her."

Mitchell said:

Arizona has taken such final legislative action on the pact as the Legislature determines.

Great pressure will be exerted here by the six States which already have accepted the pact to prevent any action on any power or water permit on the Colorado River until the pact is finally established. Court action to enforce this view of the law will be resorted to as the last resort by the other States if all other remedies fail.

HENEY'S STORY CONTRADICTED

Witness on the Stand Clashes With Cross-Examiners

Sensational Case Near End; Argument Monday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN JOSE, Oct. 23.—Marked with many clashes between the witness and attorneys for the defendants, the cross-examination of Francis J. Heney, Los Angeles attorney, at the trial of his ouster suit against his brother's widow, Mrs. Mary A. Heney and her son, Edwin, to eject them from their vineyard home commenced today before Superior Judge F. B. Brown.

M. E. Harrison, chief of defendant's counsel, had difficulty in getting the plaintiff to give direct answers to the questions, the witness continually attempting to get into lengthy discussions of his position in the case. However, he did emphatically deny that he had ever promised R. M. Wright of San Jose, a commission if Wright would increase a loan on the property from $16,000 to $20,000. The defendants then subpoenaed Wright, who produced a letter from Francis J. Heney in which he offered Wright $250 if the larger amount was loaned. The letter stated that the plaintiff wanted to pay some accounts for his brother, Richard Heney, Jr., husband of the defendant, Mary Heney, and according to the defendants the additional money was turned over to the plaintiff to pay a note due Albert Steinfelt, Tucson banker, now amounting to more than $5000. The plaintiff admitted that he got this money in 1913, but denies that it was for that purpose. The Steinfelt note was signed originally by Richard and the plaintiff and renewed by them several times. After receiving the money in 1914 the plaintiff admitted that he gave Steinfelt his own notes for the amount then due, his brother not signing them.

ADMITS MISTAKE

The defendants allege that the plaintiff had acted as their attorney and adviser for years and as such represented them at the trustees sale when he purchased the property. He admitted today that he was mistaken when he testified that he represented his brother as attorney in only one lawsuit.

A letter was produced showing that he handled other litigation for his brother and, while he testified that he had never charged him a fee, the latter stated a certain suit would be started and he would take his fees in wine. In a letter to Edwin Heney, two months before the trustees' sale, the plaintiff wrote that he "first wanted to save the property for your mother if that is possible," and Harrison asked him why he never put in writing what he claimed to have told Edwin and his brother Seth Heney that he was going to buy the place on the foreclosure sale and put their mother off. The plaintiff's only explanation was that he had told Edwin and "I thought he'd know what I meant."

The witness gave as his explanation for not telling the defendants of his inability to sell the wine on the vineyard under a power of attorney he had from his sister-in-law at the time of the trustee's sale, was that his wife was sick, he was trying a law suit and that he did not believe the wine could be sold. He admitted, however, that on June 16, 1922, less than two months before the sale he had requested the power of attorney and wrote that it was necessary to make haste in returning it to him signed if the vineyard was to be saved for his sister-in-law.

CASE NEAR END

The plaintiff closed his direct examination today by producing a statement of account showing that there was $56,975 owing to him from the defendants on August 9, 1922, the date of the trustees' sale. The defendants have offered to pay the plaintiff whatever amount the court may determine is due if the property is returned.

The statement showed an item of $550 for a motor truck which the plaintiff claimed he bought for use on the vineyard in 1911. He admitted on a cross examination that he took a bill of sale for the truck the next year, refused to permit a creditor of his brother's to take the machine on account and later himself took the truck from the vineyard.

The trial will be resumed tomorrow, Attorneys in the case informed Judge Brown today they would probably be ready to commence their arguments Monday.

SINGLE PRUNE TO COST MILLIONS

That is Price in Marks for Oregon Fruit Sold in Germany

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALEM (Or.) Oct. 23.—Oregon prunes just sold by the Oregon Growers' Co-operative Association will cost their German purchasers approximately 100,000,000 marks per prune, the association estimates on the basis of today's exchange value of the mark. The prunes are petites of the 40-50 size and sold at the rate of $11 for 110-pound lots.

Two Foresters Long Missing in Montana Range

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) Oct. 23. Somewhere in the unmapped and little-known vastness of the Mission Range near Flathead Lake, two rangers of the United States Forestry Service have been missing since the 14th inst. in a heavy snow storm and late this afternoon a rescue party was being organized. The missing rangers are Jack Clark and J. D. Swan of Missoula, Mont.

Nine days ago the two left on an exploration tour of the range —an range which few are known to have crossed—carrying rations for a four days' trip. They were last heard of when they left Holland Lake.

Late today Theodore Shoemaker, chief of the public relations department of the United States Forestry Service in District No. 1, left for the Mission Range to organize a searching party.

PARIS LEGION DENIES CEMETERY NEGLECT

GRAVES REGISTRATION SERVICE DECLARED TO BE DOING EFFECTIVE WORK

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Accusations that the graves of American soldiers buried in France are neglected have been found to be untrue by Paris Post No. 1, American Legion, it was announced today.

H. C. Huffer, junior vice-commander of the post, has cabled Lemuel Bowles, National adjutant of the American Legion at Indianapolis, an expression of the surprise felt here by members of the organization that any such complaints should be made.

"The American Graves Registration Bureau in Paris," Mr. Huffer cabled, "is ably managed and is doing effective work. In less than two years 46,000 bodies have been exhumed and sent to the United States. Thirty thousand other bodies have been exhumed and reinterred in metallic caskets."

STUDENTS "KIDNAP" ASQUITH FOR SPEECH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23.—Herbert H. Asquith, who came here for the demonstration of the Liberal party, was "kidnaped" today by a number of the Liberal students of Liverpool University when he refused their request that he address them. The former Premier was ambushed as he was leaving the home of Robert Holt, his host, and was compelled to proceed to the university. He accepted the situation in good spirit and delivered a humorous speech, after which he was allowed to depart.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The American Indian is investing heavily in the live-stock industry, according to the Indian Bureau of the Department of the Interior. At present he owns 1,659,000 head of live stock, with an estimated value of $35,000,000.

FALL DEFENDS NAVY OIL PACT

Lauds Harding Contract on Teapot Dome

Made After Geologists Had Reported Seepage

Ex-Secretary Says He Had Legal Authority

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Challenging the Senate Public Lands Committee before which he appeared today, to find another oil company which would have accepted the Teapot Dome contract on the terms negotiated with the Sinclair interests, former Secretary Fall of the Interior Department asserted that in his judgment the lease now under investigation by the committee was highly beneficial to the government.

The President, he declared, is charged with the preservation of an oil supply for the Navy, and when it was shown by reports of geologists that the reserve's oil supply could not be kept intact under ground it was sound business policy to provide for the field's development.

SET ASIDE BY WILSON

President Wilson, without awaiting an act of Congress, set aside certain lands in California and Wyoming known to contain oil, as naval reserves, Mr. Fall said, adding that President Harding had authority, in order to provide oil for the Navy, to make the most advantageous contracts possible, without awaiting specific authority from Congress. Particularly was he wise in doing so, the committee was told, when he was convinced of drainage of the oil through wells located on adjacent property.

Mr. Fall, who negotiated the Teapot Dome lease in conjunction with Secretary Denby of the Navy Department, declared lawyers might differ as to his position in the matter but, he insisted, he had legal authority for his acts. Mr. Fall said that he disagreed with the contention of Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, one of the members of the committee, that the Teapot Dome contract should only have been awarded after advertisement for bids.

VIOLATED NO LAW

The former Interior Department head said he desired to declare with all possible emphasis that he had not violated any law in approving the Sinclair lease, and he wanted to repudiate any suggestion that President Harding had exceeded his authority when he transferred administration of the oil reserves from the Navy to the Interior Department.

It cost the committee $14,400 for the services of geologists, Mr. Fall commented, to ascertain the conditions at Teapot Dome, which he had learned, he said, at an expense to the government of $500. With oil rapidly dissipating from the reserve, seeping into adjoining oil properties being exploited by private corporations, it was good guardianship, he argued, for the government to save what it could before the entire supply had disappeared.

ENFORCEMENT ORDER ENFORCEMENT ORDR

BACKS GOVERNOR'S ACTION IN TELLING OFFICIALS TO DO DUTY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb today indorsed the statement issued today by Gov. Richardson calling on public officials of California to co-operate in enforcing national prohibition.

"Gov. Richardson's appeal for enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment," said Mr. Webb, "is timely and proper and I am in hearty accord with it.

"The statement furnishes encouragement and support to the officials who are striving to enforce the dry law along with other laws.

"It doesn't lie with the law-enforcing officers anywhere to select the laws they will enforce."

In his statement Gov. Richardson charged that in some cities of the State the violation of the dry law "has been open and notorious" and, he said, the bootleggers must be stopped from "plying their nefarious trade."

RULING IN LIBRARY CASE AT PASADENA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The State Supreme Court today denied an application of the city of Pasadena for a writ of mandamus to compel City Treasurer Bessie Chamberlain to sign $30,000 in city bonds for construction of a branch library. The court stated the necessary two-thirds vote was not obtained at a special election last April at which Pasadenans balloted on the branch library proposition and other questions.

SONG RUNS BANANA OUT OF MARKET

National Bananthem Now Serious as Scarcity of Fruit is Revealed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Banana yodelers who all year have been yapping their unmitigated disappointment over the scarcity of their favorite fruit now have a real reason for warbling the famous "Yes" song. For the national bananthem, the singing of which has caused so many broken heads and divorces, is no longer a joke but a hideous reality.

"Yes, we really have no bananas," said J. H. Sheckles, sales manager of the Atlantic Navigation Company, fruit importers, today. "The country's in the throes of a big shortage. There are big droughts in all the tropical banana districts of Cuba, Jamaica and Central America. Millions of bunches have been lost."

Only 200,000 stems of the fruit are being distributed in New York, according to Mr. Sheckles, thus giving vaudeville singers an opportunity to wail their plaints anew.

Owing to the shortage, competition is keen among local banana dealers.

CEMENT ASSOCIATION ORDERED DISSOLVED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The dissolution of the Cement Manufacturers' Association, on the ground that it was a trust, was ordered by Judge Knox in United States District Court today. Judge Knox extended the dissolution to include the association and all its corporate and individual members. He further ordered the so-called trust to discontinue the practice of interchaning statistics regarding production and granted all other decrees sought in the government suit.

REORGANIZATION OF Y.M.C.A. PLANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—A reorganization plan, which provides that local associations shall be the sovereign organizations within the international, was unanimously adopted by the Young Men's Christian Association educational convention here today. The plan will be submitted to the 2000 local associations for referendum.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH BEING INVESTIGATED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, Oct. 23.—Investigation has been started into the death of Clarence Pierson, 20 years of age, who succumbed today after having been found unconscious near his home. His mother said he left home this morning apparently in the best of health. An autopsy indicated traces of poison in the vital organs which will be turned over to chemists for analysis.

A NATIONAL BANK

To keep step with Los Angeles —opens its doors today

Where HIGHWAYS of COMMERCE meet—at the CROSSROADS of the WESTERN WORLD—this new million-dollar national bank establishes a place of business to do its part in the up-building of Los Angeles and the vast commercial empire of California.

At the head of this new financial institution, as President, is Mr. E. M. Smith, one of the leaders in the industrial growth of Los Angeles—a man who does big things in a quiet, unassuming way. Ably supporting him are young, broad-gauged, aggressive executives with long experience in local banks.

The Directorate is comprised of progressive citizens representing a diversity of interests—men prominently identified with the pioneer work and development of this city. They are going to work hard to make Pacific National one of the leading banks of the WEST.

Here is a bank buoyant with the spirit of the greater Los Angeles. Primarily a commercial bank its business will be conducted along time-tested principles of commercial banking. You are cordially invited to become a depositor.

ODD FIGHT MADE FOR BENCH JOBS

Interest Centers on Hearst Deal With Koenig

Publisher Seeks to Revenge Self on Tammany

Feud With Foley Responsible for Spectacle

BY ROBERT Q. SCALLON
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Ten justices of the Supreme Court, each drawing a salary of $17,500 a year and sitting only in Manhattan and the Bronx sections of this city, are to be elected November 6.

Never before in the history of the Supreme Court, which is not an Appeals Court, but one of first jurisdiction for the trying of civil suits and important criminal cases, has there been such an occasion. Never have so many judicial plums been hung from the political fruit tree and never has there been such dissension and jealousy over the selection of candidates for these tremendously important places on the bench.

In consequence, the city today enjoys the strange spectacle of William R. Hearst hobnobbing with Samuel Koenig, the local Republican leader, in the effort to put over ten candidates picked by the publisher and his new political bedfellow. And, for contrast, the voters see Mr. Hearst and his newspapers denouncing in a fashion that even one Hearst Hearst, the "puppets" and "marionettes" of Tammany leader Charles F. Murphy, as Mr. Hearst is pleased to design the ticket of ten judges indorsed by Tammany Hall.

INDORSEMENTS UNUSUAL

Yet Tammany, in framing its ticket, indorsed virtually everyone of the sitting judges who is up for re-election, while the Hearst-Koenig ticket indorsed only two of these judges, but out-and-out Republicans.

Judicial nominations in this State are still controlled by State conventions and not by primaries.

The result is the edifying spectacle of a judicial election in which the whole fight centers not about the candidates themselves, but about William R. Hearst's deal with Sam Koenig, who last year thrust his own brother on the bench, to take a fall out of the men Hearst at present considers his arch-enemies, Charles F. Murphy and Thomas F. Foley, the latter being the most powerful figure in Tammany Hall next to Murphy himself.

FIFTEEN-YEAR FEUD

Hearst's fight with Foley dates back about fifteen years to a time when Hearst wanted to elect one his own editors as Sheriff of New York county. The job was then, on a fee system, worth more than $100,000 a year to the incumbent, for two years, and Hearst had promised his man the job. Foley stepped in and declared he wanted that job himself and in a most strenuous election Foley was elected Sheriff. Hearst has never forgiven him that blow.

Women are taking a hand in the struggle and veterans are being asked to vote for fellow-veterans on the judicial ticket. Both sides have taken great pains to put several Jews and one or two Italians on their tickets.

BATTERED TROJANS BACK HOME

U.S.C. Football Warriors Return From North, Sadder but Wiser

The Trojans, a sadder and much wiser football team, returned yesterday from Seattle, where the proteges of Elmer Henderson dropped a 22-to-0 game to mighty Washington. The homecoming, which was featured by the turnout of practically the entire U.S.C. student body, marks the last chapter of the Washington incident, at least, for twelve months, and the Trojans are now engaged in the very serious business of getting ready to take on Mr. Andrew Kerr's massive Cardinal machine.

It seems that the U.S.C. team was taken completely by surprise up in the far Northwest. Everyone expected that the Trojans would win the game, but that it would be a great fight. And that's just the feeling the folks had here at home. But the Seattle contingent had been laying low for the Methodists. Most of the papers were saying all manner of sweet things about the Trojans before the battle—but with a purpose in mind. Then, when Cot Rice heaved the ball far over Otto Anderson's head early in the game, the Huskies got just the chance they wanted and were o." like a house afire.

Coach Henderson will make a few shifts in his line-up preparatory to taking on Stanford at Palo Alto Saturday. Fat Adams will be at center, while Rice rests on the bench for a period. The big fellow didn't play any too well against the Huskies and will probably go better after a little thought on the matter. Otto Anderson will also be on the sidelines, with Gene Dorsey doing the punting. Du Puy is slated for Honey Earle's place at guard.

VERNON CLUB SHOOT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Bill Pugh, secretary of the Vernon Gun Club, announces that a club shoot for take-home trophies will be held by the Vernon organization next Sunday.

The shoot will be at 100 targets from sixteen yards in four frames. The high guns will be awarded the prizes. Time permitting and enough entries warranting a fifty-target distance handicap shoot will follow the trophy competition.

FIVE TEAMS START STUDIO BALL LEAGUE

The organization of a studio baseball league, with five and possibly eight teams competing, is announced by Floyd Carelton, manager of the Hollywood Merchants. The teams in the league at present are Pickford-Fairbanks, Fox, Metro, Lasky and the Hollywood Merchants. It is hoped that two others will soon join. Games will be played every Sunday, double-headers being the order of the day. Seven-inning games are scheduled.

WANTS NINE IN COAST LEAGUE

Long Beach After Franchise for Ball Team

Business Men's Meeting to Promote Plan

Ocean City to be Put in Diamond Limelight

Long Beach has not abandoned its hopes of eventually breaking into Pacific Coast League as a baseball city. Plans for getting a Class AA club there were virtually laid yesterday at a meeting of the town's prominent business men called together by Ross Abdill, one of Long Beach's most able promoters.

Since the town has passed the 100,000 mark in population it has been desirous of obtaining a team in organized baseball, but, thus far, has not been able to achieve its ambitions. Abdill has taken up the work of putting Long Beach on the map as a real baseball city and expects to start by having either the Boston Red Sox or the New York Yankees, world's champions, do their 1924 training there next spring.

At the session yesterday the business men of the town, including bankers and realtors, virtually agreed to finance the project of putting the ocean city in the limelight by bringing either one of the major league clubs to Southern California to train. In addition, they went on record as promising to furnish the capital to construct a ball park and grandstand second to none on the Pacific Coast. They have a location, 600x382 feet already selected, on which they plant erecting a ball park that will be a credit to the city of Long Beach.

Long Beach, through the untiring efforts of Ross Abdill, has reached the stage where it wants a real baseball club. Abdill had at the meeting, Oscar C. Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles club, who forcibly pointed out the advantages of having a major league club prepare there. Reichow was associated with the Chicago Daily News for twenty-three years as baseball writer and traveled with the Chicago Cubs for twelve seasons. His opinions carried considerable weight with the Long Beach enthusiasts. It was through his communications with Robert Quinn, president of the Boston Red Sox club, that the Long Beach business men interested themselves in plans to develop the national game there.

Abdill has aroused the enthusiasm of Long Beach and plans to make a community affair out of the baseball project by selling blocks of tickets to the prominent business men of the town. He has already interested so many people in the affair that there is hardly a shadow of a doubt that his scheme will materialize. Long Beach requires and demands something like baseball to keep up with the wonderful growth of the town, and judging from the attitude of the business men present at the meeting yesterday nothing will be left undone to foster the efforts to break into the Pacific Coast League.

Sunday baseball has been prohibited in Long Beach, but City Manager Windham, intimated at the gathering yesterday that he did not think there would be any difficulty on that score if arrangements could be made tot bring a major league club to Long Beach. He realizes the value of having either the Boston Red Sox or the world's champions train there and is willing to use his influence to place the town on a plane with Los Angeles as a baseball city.

Chicago's six-day bicycle race will start in the Coliseum October 27.

Getting Ready for the Newsboys' Club Boxing Bouts

The gentleman above is none other than Bert Colima, middleweight title holder of the Coast, who will appear on the program. Below we have the youngsters who will appear in the battle royal. Behind them are C. G. Pyle of the Elks and Tom Doyle, while Jack Doyle, daddy of the four-round boxing game, is crouched down in the foreground.

M'CANN IN DREAMLAND

Pepper Martin Knocks Out Frankie in Forty-five Seconds at Jack Doyle's Coliseum

Oh, boy—Frankie McCann got his sufficiently in forty-five seconds of scrapping at Jack Doyle's boxing coliseum last night. The mitt wizard that did the work was Vincent (Pepper) Martin. The lads had hardly squared off when Pepper landed a killing right to the jaw and down sloshed Frankie. McCann arose bewildered only to be sent down again, this time on the flat of his back, where he was counted out. The big house murmured for ten minutes after the unexpected knockout.

Oh what a night for the Martin! for Terry Martin hung it on clever Eddie Macy in every one of the four rounds. Terry's kidney punch did the fell work. Eddie simply couldn't squirm away from it.

Young Rocky Kansas and Young Benny Leonard fought a draw for the benefit of the Newsboy's Thanksgiving turkey spread. Thanks to Prexy Carlos of the Newsies club.

Johnny Jordan was just too foxy and clever for the slugging Joe Layman. Johnny craftily kept out of the way of Joe's sleep producing right at all times. When not engaged in this elusive work, Johnny kept peppering Joseph with rights and lefts to the face, a plan of battle that he maintained all through the four rounds. He won by a big margin. Layman connected a number of times, but Johnny was too many for him, and kept his button well safeguarded. Speedy Sparks won all the way over Jimmy Meyers, who substituted for Tom Kelly. Meyers brought nothing into the ring but a face that was a cross between that of Bull Montana's and Ben Turpin's, which Sparks industrious assaulted at every moment of the journey. Meyers was knocked cockeyed in the third round, visiting the canvas three times. Referee Blake was forced to stop the bout.

Packy McMullin and Sammy Santos put up a sensational four-round turmoil, with Sammy finishing on the long end. Each round was chock full of fierce, swapping action with the crowd at times lustily shouting its joy. Santos greeted the slugging Packy in the first round with a swipe to the jaw that opened for a spell the celestial regions for Mac. The second was upsticks. The third went to the Irishman, and the fourth, a toe-to-toe barrage of mitts, was about fifty-fifty. Santos's early advantage gave him a just decision.

Eddie Conrad won over Kid Sullivan at 128 pounds. The first two sessions were about even. The third went to Sullivan but Conrad had the fourth by almost copping one of Sullivan's lamps.

Jack Thompson got the judges' eyes at the end of the fourth over Paul Duarte. Thompson came through with a Vernon (Tiger's) rally near the end of the fourth inning that had Duarte peeping anxiously for an opening (through the ropes.) The first three spasms were hand-in-hand affairs.

DRAFT RULE IS UP AGAIN

An outline of a possible restoration of the selective draft in baseball was received here yesterday by Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles club. This was drawn up by William (Cap) Neal, vice-president of the Louisville Colonels, American Association, which is one of the three class AA league clubs.

As it relates to the Coast League and other class AA organizations it is far more liberal than the measure proposed by the majors last fall, which the Coasters refused to accept after flying off on a tangent. Under the Neal proposal, the majors can draft no player from class AA organizations who has not previously engaged in thirty championship games in the majors. They could not take any young player developed by a Coast League club. The major league proposition was to draft any player sent here by a major league club regardless of whether he had played any games in the majors. In short, in this respect, the class AA leagues would not enjoy as much latitude as the majors offered last fall.

The Coast League fight against the majors has been such a flivver that Neal's proposition, with certain reservations, probably will receive serious consideration.

STAR GOLFERS IN EXHIBITION

Two Matches on Tap for the Next Few Days

Professionals in Return Affair at Midwick

Two Hunters Play Smith and Clarkson at Rancho

BY CHARLES WEST

The interval between tournaments being too long to keep the golf enthusiasts happy, exhibition matches are in order at present, two high-powered contests being scheduled for the next few days. Today Mel Smith, Pasadena Golf Club professional, and Chick Fraser of Midwick will battle two famous pros in McDonald Smith of San Francisco and Hutt Martin, who presides over the golf shop at Bullock's. The foursome will be played at Midwick this afternoon as a return match, Smith and Fraser having won a thirty-six hole argument last Sunday on the same links.

The other exhibition will bring into competition both amateur and professional players. Dr. Paul Hunter of Annandale, holder of numerous titles in recent years, playing with Willie I. Hunter of Rancho, an equally famous exponent of the royal and ancient pastime. The two Hunters will meet McDonald Smith, San Francisco pro, and Arthur Clarkson, former Wisconsin State champ, at the Rancho Golf Club Sunday. The resulting conflict should be a regular battle, and the Rancho links will undoubtedly be the destination of hundreds of fans Sunday afternoon. The players will leave the tee promptly at 1:45 p.m. Tags will be sold at $1.

REAL CHAMP

The return of Dr. Hunter to the golfing limelight is greeted with enthusiasm by followers of the sport here. In 1920 and 1921 he held the State championship, bringing the title to Southern California after it had rested with the north too long for comfort. In 1921 he was selected for the American team to compete for the Walker cup abroad, and in various Southern California tournaments he was always a strong contender. Illness in his family caused him to drop tournament play temporarily, and of recent months he has been bothered with tonsilitis. His failure to compete in the State championships at Del Monte this summer was a big disappointment to Southern California golfers, and it is to be hoped that he will resume competition in the future.

First-round matches in the B.P.O. Elks' tournament of Lodge 99 were completed Sunday and the antlered brethren will continue the tournament with second rounds this week, play being held on the links of the San Gabriel Country Club. George Cline of Wilshire won the low gross trophy in a play-off with C. C. Conrad, Sunday, both having scored 82, and annexed the Roy R. Meads trophy by virtue of his victory. H. A. Anderson and O. L. Wuerker tied for low net and will play it off next Sunday. Results of first-round matches follow:

Championship flight, Jack Doyle trophy—George T. Cline defeated J. C. Howard, W. H. Rose defeated J. M. Duff, Fred Hudson defeated J. F. McNally, W. E. Sprouse defeated J. C. Hodge, by default; L. C. Conrad, M. F. Shannon, not played; F. D. Hudson defeated O. L. Wuerker, W. R. Hermanson defeated Asa Kerns, H. H. Carlton, Jr., defeated H. A. Anderson.

Second flight, Larry Semon trophy—D. L. Stevens defeated F. C. Williamson, A. S. Collins defeated Walter K. Crane, H. V. Cure defeated R. R. Morse, J. J. Doyle defeated P. E. Malobey, Brown Meade defeated C. Van der Abe, W. B. Kneiser defeated G. B. West, D. M. Bell defeated J. O. Burnett, A. E. Dugua defeated C. W. Daley.

Third flight—Fred E. Usher defeated Bert Hadley, Harry Conard defeated Ralph J. Scott, Robert Conant defeated I. W. Hitchcock, J. B. Macomish, bye, J. F. Dunaway defeated Bert Rose, Charles Morgan defeated E. J. Stall, Thomas P. White defeated W. J. Robertson, J. W. Summerfield defeated T. A. Hadley.

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER

W.M.H.

Vincent Richards, youthful tennis phenom, said a mouthful on his brief visit here when he pointed out in explanation of his defeat at the hands of Howard Kinsey in the California State tennis championships, that he was not familiar with hard court play. He pointed out that Kinsey seemed to be a full point a game better on the asphalt of Berkeley than he is on grass.

Harvey Snodgrass simply added his little bit to the affair by showing the difference between cement courts and asphalt. He took on Howard Kinsey, conqueror of Alfonso and Richards, and made the bespectacled San Franciscan look absolutely helpless. Snodgrass, at the top of his game, is almost unbeatable on cement and the same thing is true of May Sutton Bundy.

Incidentally the first public appearance of Snodgrass since his extremely successful Eastern invasion, was most impressive. The local star has improved his game immensely and his strokes have been tempered to meet grass court conditions. It was noticeable that Snodgrass no longer hits his drive with an excess of top but hits it very flat—more like Tilden.

Snodgrass has a temperament much improved by competition and sailed into Kinsey with none of the signs of nervousness which used to characterize his play against first ranking players. His forehand ball is hit flat and deep with a little bit of a slice and his half-volleys as he rushed in to the net were well placed strokes and not merely defensive pickups.

Capt. Tony Spangler of Occidental showed himself to be an end of the very highest quality in the game against Stanford at the Coliseum last Saturday and was characterized by most of the "experts" as the best looking end to appear on a southern gridiron this season.

The Tiger captain turned in every play shot at him, spilled the heavy Stanford interference with great regularity and caught a half a dozen Stanford plays from the rear. He was down under punts with a lot of speed and tackled in a deadly manner. The only other end that has shown as much stuff locally this year was Harrison, the rangy left end for Nevada.

The rise of Harlan Fengler, infantile wonder of the speed game, is a good thing for it. The thing that has made speedway racing more than usually interesting, despite the

ZEV SURE TO RACE MY OWN

Great Three-Year-Olds Are Booked at Latonia

Will Measure Strides in Champion Stake

Big Feature is Scheduled for November 3

[BY L. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 23.—Zev, the conqueror of the English Derby winner Papyrus, and My Own, Rear-Admiral Grayson's crack three-year-old, will positively appear in the Great Championship stake, to be run at Latonia November 3, a telegram received by Latonia racing officials from Col. Matt J. Winn, general manager of the Kentucky Jockey Club, today stated.

The Championship closed with seventy-six nominations, including in which are the greatest of the three-year-olds on the American turf. In Memoriam, owned by Carl Wiedemann of Newport, Ky., who has shown good form, has been especially prepared for the event, and most likely will be a starter. Mr. Wiedemann is credited with having announced that he would bet a large amount of money that his horse could defeat either of the eastern cracks. Whether the appearance of Zev and My Own will frighten owners and cause withdrawals of eligibles for the race is not yet apparent.

The championship saw its first running in 1919, when it was won by Mad Hatter.

BALTIMORE (Md.) Oct. 23.—Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson, owner of My Own, will confer tomorrow with William P. Riggs, secretary of the Maryland Jockey Club, regarding a proposal made by Riggs that My Own be matched against his full sister, My Dear, owned by Fred Musante, in a mile and-a-half race at Pimlico, November 10, for a $20,000 purse.

The race will be a weight for age affair. Admiral Grayson has suggested that an effort be made to have Eddie and Clarence Kummer ride the horses, or, if they are not available, Johnny and Harry Calahan.

My Own worked a mile over a heavy track today in an easy 1:45. My Dear was also put through a workout and finished a mile and one-eight in 1:54, eased up.

COAST MOGULS TO MEET AT CATALINA

It has been decided to hold the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast League at Catalina on Monday, November 5. Formerly the annual meeting was held on the second Tuesday in November, which in this case would have brought it on the 13th. But the constitution was changed, making the date optional with the league head, merely specifying that the annual meeting be held on a date reasonably close to the last Tuesday in October.

Trojan Frosh Prepare for Card Yearlings

LEO CALLAND DRIVES SQUAD

Coliseum Scene of Struggle Saturday Afternoon

Trojans Out to Avenge Loss of Last Season

U.S.C. Boss Has Hard Time Picking Eleven

Leo Calland and his University of Southern California freshman eleven are about the busiest bunch of gridders in these parts at present preparing for their game with the Stanford frosh which takes place in the Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

Calland's crew has two reasons for wanting to slip the proteges of "Husky" Hunt a trimming. First, the Trojan babes' season would not be called a success unless they trimmed both the Card and Bear yearlings, and second, they want to avenge the 10-to-9 defeat handed last year's U. S. C. peagreeners by the Card first-year eleven. Also the Trojan youngsters have to date been unscored upon and they would like to keep the record unsullied in their final two games.

In meeting the Stanford squad the U.S.C. frosh will be running up against a powerful aggregation. The Trojans will be outweighed, but Calland's squad is used to playing against heavier teams. Dick Hyland, Fred Price and Swan, the latter a tackle on the Olympic club eleven last year, are numbered among the Card stars.

Calland has been driving his men hard in practice this week and plans to send his strongest eleven against the Palo Altoans. Every man with the exception of Gordon Brite, regular guard and former Bakersfield prep star, on the Trojan crew is in good condition. Calland is experiencing no little difficulty in attempting to pick the eleven men to start Saturday. Anyway Leo figures it he has to leave several good men on the bench. It is expected that the following men will start, however: Lewis and Badgro, ends; Behrendt and Friend or P. Thompson, tackles; Cox and Winfield, guards; Cravath, center; Wilcox, quarterback; Laraneta and Taylor, halves, and Heiser, full.

VIKING IV NOT TO BE LAID UP

Dr. Albert Soiland, admiral of the Pacific Coast Yachting Club, declares that the flagship Viking IV will not go out of commission this year.

"With the present weather favoring us and with no signs of it letting up, there is no need of a pleasure craft tieing up for the winter," said Dr. Soiland. "The climate we have here in Southern California affords yachting and motorboating the year around. What little poor weather we do have isn't enough to bother about. I intend to keep the Viking in fit shape all winter and will take week-end cruises. I guess the only time the Viking will be tied up will be next spring, when time comes for overhauling, painting and such."

JOE LYNCH TO GET ANOTHER CHANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The New York State Athletic Commission listened to some professional opinion anent Joe Lynch, the bantamweight champion, and his reason for withdrawing from that racket with Joe Burman, the Chicago youngster, at the Garden last Friday night. Dr. Heiman, who examined Joe when the latter dislocated his shoulder, told the boxing bosses about the accident, and they decided to give Joe the benefit of the doubt, the suspension to remain in vogue until Lynch fights Abe Goldstein for the title. Goldstein subbed for Lynch against Burman and came very close to blowing the westerner out of top n.

WHITTIER STATE DOWNS ANAHEIM

Whittier State school, Class B, grid team defeated Anaheim Class B, yesterday afternoon at Whittier 34 to 6. The Whittier lads were on their mettle and showed in fine form. Anaheim scored in the last ten seconds of play on a line buck. The ball was on the 1-yard line. Whittier held for two downs and then bucked it over on the third. Whittier scored on three bucks and two passes. Bryant quarter-back for Whittier starred with his splendid passing. The referee was Smith. Umpire Sanderson and Shepherd was head linesman.

Pavonian, 2:03 1-4, is the leading money winner of the year on the Grand Circuit.

Sports of 1923

BY FEG MURRAY

Sport Alphabet—F is for

"Red" Faber, veteran right-handed pitcher, who has just finished his tenth season with the Chicago White Sox. Red is one of the few to win three world's series games. He worked against the Giants four times in the 1917 series and lost once. Faber, didn't get a home run until he'd been in the big leagues thirteen years. His first was a four-bagger against the Yankees last June. Red was born in Iowa in 1888. This year he won fourteen games and lost eleven.

Emmett French, of Youngstown, O., who is one of the best professional golfers in this country. He was runner up to Sarazen in the professional golfers' championship last year and finished high up in 1922, and 1923 open championships. His greatest record was made in 1922, when in two successive tournaments, the Ohio State open and the Southern open at Nashville, he shot eight rounds at an average of 69½ strokes per round. In other words he played 144 holes in 557 strokes, which is nineteen strokes under even 4's!

Bob Fitzsimmons, probably the hardest hitter to ever hold the heavyweight championship. He actually finished his opponents with one punch, not like Dempsey and Firpo, who rained blows on each other at times in their fight without any visible effect. Ruby Robert had a fine pair of shoulders but very spindly legs, and the drawing shown above is one of the few you'll see of him where he isn't depicted as all covered with huge freckles. Fitz held the heavyweight title from 1897 to 1899 and fought his last fight in 1914, when he was 52 years old.

Sailor Liston Meets Roberts at Hollywood

Sailor Liston, a big favorite with the Hollywood fans after an absence of several months, returns to his old stamping-ground Friday night, meeting K. O. Eddie Roberts in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. Liston comes to this city with a long string of victories under his belt, having gone over big with the northern clubs in the summer just past. He has come out on top in his last six starts, winning four of them by knockouts.

Jimmy Marcus steps into the ring at Hollywood for the first time in several months, tackling Charlie Hendricks in the semiwindup. They weigh in at 145 pounds.

Racehorse Roberts and Midnight Edmundson, middleweights, share in the special event. Sam Eisman and Eddie Byrd, heavyweights, will show their wares in the feature preliminary, while Sailor Foster and George Smith are programed for another preliminary bout. Two fights are yet to be arranged by the Cinema City matchmaker.

COBB IS GREATEST PLAYER OF HISTORY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Ty Cobb, fiery pilot of the Detroit Tigers, has added new glory to his all-time batting record, a mark almost lost sight of in the closing battles of the season and the smoke of the world's series conflict. With the end of the 1923 campaign, Cobb ended his eighteenth consecutive season above the .300 swatting class, and came into possession of the all-time record which he had shared for a season with Hans Wagner, famous old shortstop of the Pittsburg Pirates.

Wagner set the mark at seventeen years.

Another record which the Detroit manager pried loose from the former Pirate shortstop was that of making the largest number of hits. Wagner in his major league career accumulated 3430 safe drives, while Cobb's 188 made in the 1923 season gave him a total of 3454.

MINNESOTA BARS WELTERWEIGHT JONES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

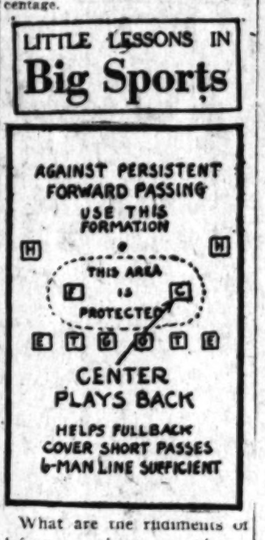
ST. PAUL, Oct. 23. — Jimmy Jones, welterweight of Youngstown, O., today was barred from further matches in this State by the Minnesota Boxing Commission because of rough tactics in two recent bouts here.

In one bout Billy Wells, welterweight champion of England, and Jones fell through the ropes. Wells was injured and unable to continue.

Last Friday Jones forced Tillie Herman of California through the ropes. The referee who counted out Herman was upheld in his decision by the commission today.

The commission decided to hold up Jones's share of the purse for the Herman bout pending the outcome of an argument over percentage.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Big Sports



What are the rudiments of defense against a persistent use of forward passes by the opponent?

Answered by BILL ROPER

Coach of football, Princeton University. In 1922 his undefeated team was victor over Yale, Harvard and Chicago.

If the opponents persist in using a forward-passing attack, the defensive center should play out of the line. A six-man line defense is sufficient against a forward-passing attack, and this will permit the center and defensive fullback to play parallel to each other about four or five yards behind the line of scrimmage. The center rush and fullback are then in a position to cover short, flat passes on either side of the center. This permits the two halfbacks on the wings to give their undivided attention to the opposing ends. The defensive center is the key to every effective forward-pass defense. When he is in line, the fullback has an almost impossible job, in trying to cover flat passes on both sides of the center. It is much safer against a persistent forward-passing attack to spot opponents a couple of yards through the line and stop long gains by dropping the center out of the line.

fact that the same drivers appear year after year, is the continual rise of "boy wonders." A year ago it was Harry Hartz, graduating from the mechanic's seat of Eddie Hearne's car. Now it is Fengler and his sensational victory at Kansas City will bring added interest to the big race at Beverly Hills on Thanksgiving Day.

General Motors Trucks

GMC

Power for Pulling Speed for Travel

GMC Trucks provide the two essentials to successful and profitable trucking—power to pull and speed for travel.

Both these are delivered economically, because GMC construction produces both power and speed with an engine of moderate size.

That, in itself is a definite reason for purchasing a GMC.

Add to that the fact that GMC trucks are built as well as the finest materials, the closest accuracy and the most advanced design can provide.

You have, then, the reason why there is no need to spend more than the low price of GMC trucks for hauling equipment that has no superiors.

MARTIN MUST GIVE UP MITTS

World's Best Fighting Man Broken in Health

Boxing Solons Ask That He be Protected

"Bob" Shows Up Poorly in Bout With Burke

BY WILLIAM H. ROCAP
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyrighted, 1923, Public Ledger.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Proclaimed by Gen. John J. Pershing as "the mightiest fighting man of 40,000,000 fighting men," "Bob" Martin, heavyweight champion of the A. E. F. and inter-Allied games, must lay aside the gloves. The Louisiana State Athletic Commission has asked the organizations of eighteen States not to sanction bouts in which Martin will be a prospective contestant. The request comes through Richard T. Burke of New Orleans, president of the National Boxing Association of the United States. Here is the remarkable story:

On the 8th inst. Martin met Burke in the New Orleans Coliseum arena of the Tulane Athletic Club. The contest came to an end in the seventh round by the tossing of a towel into the ring by Jimmy Bronson, manager of Martin. According to ringside critics, the contest was a wretched one owing to the apparent miserable physical condition of Martin, although he was trying from every possible angle. From the first tap of the bell he was shaky on his feet, they trembled under his weight, and his wind seemed to give from the determination to carry out his purpose.

Here is the other angle. Martin arrived in the Crescent City forty-eight hours before the contest. He was given a rigid and thorough examination by the commission's physician. This report declared his physical condition good. His weight had increased twelve pounds since boxing in New Orleans before, on January 21, 1921, when he stopped the same Burke in five rounds. But when he stepped into the ring on the 8th inst. and started to fight his legs quivered and were unsteady. He seemed to exert his best efforts, but nature failed to respond and it was seen that he was not fit to contest.

President Burke writes: "While the Louisiana commission cannot suspend Martin for unfitness or lack of physical condition, in my personal opinion it would be unfair and unjust to the public for him to be permitted to further contest. I have notified other commissions that they should not sanction bouts wherein Martin is to be a participant. I wish to say, however, with great emphasis, that Martin put forth his best efforts in his contest with Burke, and to use the words of his manager, Jimmy Bronson, that Martin will never again engage in a contest with his sanction. I trust the nation will accept this message in the spirit written. Not a knock against the efforts of an honest boxer, but to save him possible physical harm."

SUDS MAY TRAIN AT POMONA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 23.—That Pomona may become the training camp of the Seattle ball club was made known today when the contents of a letter from Wade Killefer, manager of the club, to B. L. Cooper, president of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, were made public. In the letter Manager Killefer declares that the Seattle club will establish training quarters in Southern California between March 1 and April 1 and that Pomona is preferred for this purpose providing satisfactory arrangements can be made. There will be thirty-five men in the group. The city where they train must fit up a suitable diamond, quarters for the men, etc. Jack Cassan and Bert Harvey of this city are representing the Chamber of Commerce in attempting to make the arrangements to secure the camp for Pomona.

MAY TRY OUT NEW SHELL AT CALIFORNIA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.—Possibility of the entry of a 150-pound shell in the rowing field next spring, has been announced by Coach "Rusty" Callow of the University of Washington.

"The crew turnout has arrived at a stage where it is too large for any reasonable percentage of good men turning out to make a varsity seat and there are numerous good men here who are being kept from their letters merely because of their weight," Callow said.

More than 160 varsity and freshmen oarsmen and about thirty coxswains have already reported for rowing.

Championship Golf Play to be Restricted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The battle for the 1924 open golf championship will be restricted to a picked instead of an unlimited field as a result of the United States Golf Association's decision to sanction sectional qualifying tests next season.

The United States Golf Association has withdrawn its opposition to the sectional qualifying plan as a result of the unwieldiness of the field of approximately 300 players in this year's tournament at Inwood, Long Island. Previously the scheme, advocated by the Professional Golfers' Association, had been vetoed by the national links governing body. The preliminary tournaments, one in the East and the other in the Middle West, will be conducted by the P.G.A. Already several courses have been mentioned as possible sites for the 1924 tests, including Oakland Hills, Detroit and Oakmont, Pittsburg.

Oneonta Grid Squad Trims Kite Flyers

Continuing a splendid record, the Oneonta Military Academy eleven of South Pasadena yesterday afternoon defeated Franklin High School, 1922 champions of the City League, 12 to 7, on their own field. A touchdown by Fusco, scored in the first quarter for Franklin, was the first time the Oneonta team's goal line has been crossed this season. Brilliant work by Chamberlain and Bibert gave the Oneonta Indians a tally in the second quarter, although goal was missed. Evans, quarterback for the victors, pushed the pigskin across for the deciding touchdown in the second half.

Saturday the Indians meet the Caltech frosh at Tournament Park. The lineups:

LARGE LIST OF ENTRIES FOR CLIMB

Nearly 100 entries for the all-star motorcycle hill climb to be staged on San Miguel Hill at Girard, Cal., next Sunday, have been received by the Los Angeles Motorcycle Club, according to A. F. Van Order, president.

The climb, which is being staged under the auspices of the local club, promises to be one of the most thrilling events in motorcycle annals, and the eyes of the entire motorcycle world are focused upon next Sunday's event, says Van Order.

San Miguel Hill, which presents a 74 per cent grade, lies south of Ventura Boulevard and west of Topanga Canyon avenue, at the western extremity of San Miguel street, in Girard. Of over fifty participants in last spring's climb only one rider topped the hill. That was Dud Perkins, intrepid slant king, who will attempt the precipitous grade again this year.

CUBS IN DEBUT SATURDAY

Southern Branchers Will Make Conference Bow Against Whittier Eleven

BY BRAVEN DYER

This is a big week at the University of California, Southern Branch, for Saturday afternoon, Coach Jimmy Cline's football aggregation makes its 1923 conference bow to the public, appearing against the dope-upsetting eleven from the town of Whittier. The game is carded for 3 o'clock and will be played at Moore Field. Vermont avenue, and as it is the main contest of the day for Los Angeles quite a gathering of fans is expected.

The Cubs would like to trim Whittier. About ten days ago the Poets threw a TNT bomb into conference circles by thumping "Fox" Stanton's Caltech team, 8 to 0. The Beavers were considered a pretty good bet for top honors this year and Whittier is therefore very much in the money, although their win over the Pasadena eleven was merely of the fluke variety.

NOT IN LINE-UP

Taking the other side for a moment it must be remembered that neither big Ed Suggett, the human locomotive, or Bill Ferguson, his capable running mate, were in the line-up against Caltech. There is no denying that Suggett's presence would have made a big difference as he is the main Poet ground gainer. Those who are on the inside at Whittier come out with the statement that it is Ferguson who makes Suggett's gains possible. Therefore it would seem that the Poet team would be considerably stronger when they clash with the Little Bears.

Coach Jimmy Cline has obviously been holding back on the fans. His scores to date have been low ones, a 12-to-0 victory over the San Diego State College and a 6-to-0 win from Loyola. In the latter game the Cub coach didn't inject all his best men into the fray, saving them for a more important combat, the Whittier clash.

The Cubs have a raft of veterans on hand, mainly linemen, which should prove that they will be no set-up for any man's team. Wescott, captain and tackle, is a fast charger, who has been through the mill. Bresee played end last year and is showing up exceptionally well this season. Hollingsworth, a tackle, and Thursby, guard, are also old timers, and Earl Gardner, a big tackle, played with last year's California frosh eleven. Collins, at center, is a steady performer. That line will probably stack up very evenly with Whittier's forward wall.

A gentleman with the colorful name of "Tillie" Parisi has been directing the destinies of the Cub backfield. He is playing his first year as a regular. "Cap" Haralson, last year's skipper, has been shifted from end and from all reports has been doing very nicely at his new halfback berth. "Pike's" Peak, regular fullback two years ago, returned this season after a year's layoff and is reported to be as great a line smasher as ever. Jones is at his old position at right half.

With capable Ray Johns engineering the Whittier team and Suggett and Ferguson back in the fold it is hard to see how the Cubs can trim the Quakers. Capt. Johns is as skillful a quarterback as there is in the conference and his cool head will undoubtedly go a long way toward a Poet victory.

HUSKIES ARE OUT IN FRONT, IT SEEMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.—With the first month of the 1923 football season virtually over, the University of Washington football team is tied for first place, with Idaho and California in the Pacific Coast conference and with Idaho, Oregon and Oregon Agricultural College for the Northwest conference lead. The Huskies also lead both conferences in scoring, according to figures published here.

Avoid Motor Oils containing paraffin, asphalt or any other non-lubricating substance. Aristo Oil is refined by the most advanced processes, designed to remove everything in the crude which has no lubricating value.

Some "Carbon" Clings
Some Blows Out with the exhaust

THERE are two kinds of carbonaceous residue—"carbon." All motor oils deposit one kind or the other, as every maker of oil knows.

The harmful "carbon" is hard and flint-like. It acts as an abrasive, wearing cylinders, pistons and rings. It is hard enough to score cylinders.

It has a tendency to cling, and must be burned or chiseled out of motors.

Causes "Knocking"

This hard "carbon" becomes incandescent, pre-igniting your gasoline, which causes "knocking."

It attaches to spark-plugs and causes short circuiting—the motor misses.

Particles clog the valves. The valves leak. Therefore, some of your gasoline is wasted both before it can do any work and while it is working.

And this flinty, clinging "carbon" is deposited in quantities two to three times as large as the other kind.

Fluffy, Soft, Non-Clinging

Aristo Motor Oil deposits a very little of a different kind of residue.

It hasn't the same tendency to cling, hence most of it blows out with the exhaust. That which is left is soft and fluffy—softer than cylinder walls, pistons, rings or bearings—so cannot scratch or wear.

Your car runs thousands of miles farther without needing valves ground or pistons or cylinders cleaned. Spark-plugs practically never "foul."

The motor doesn't "knock," lasts longer, runs more smoothly and gives more power, due to full compression. "Carbon" troubles are eliminated.

Aristo is a finer motor oil, developed by the expert lubrication engineers and chemists of the Union Oil Company, equipped with every accepted facility for the most exhaustive research. Famous drivers have tested Aristo under gruelling conditions—far more severe than any that your motor will ever encounter.

A durable, fine film penetrates to and protects each working part in any weather and at all motor heats.

To get perfect lubrication without "carbon" troubles, always say "Aristo" when you buy. For sale at all first-class garages and service stations.

Elimination Bouts Staged on Dreadnaughts

Festivities to be Started Tomorrow Night

The lusty swat and the hammerlock will be first in the minds of 12,000 gobs of the United States battle fleet tomorrow night. Three official smokers, the first of the divisional elimination bouts and matches, will be staged on three dreadnaughts, the Tennessee, Pennsylvania and New York.

Bleachers have been thrown up on the quarterdecks which will handle 4000 fans on each of the three ships. In each case the fighters and wrestlers of the host ship will clash with athletes from a visiting ship of their particulad division. The line-up will be as follows: California vs. Tennessee; Pennsylvania vs. Arizona; and the Texas vs. Oklahoma. The first two smokers will be staged at Los Angeles Harbor, the third at San Francisco.

NAME CARD

The complete boxing and wrestling schedule of the battle fleet was announced on board the U.S.S. California yesterday by Commander E. D. Washburn, fleet athletic officer. The final bouts, for the all-navy championships, will be held while the fleet is in the Caribbean Sea next winter on winter maneuvers, Mr. Washburn said. The schedule follows:

October 26—U.S.S. Texas vs. U.S.S. Oklahoma, on board Texas; U.S.S. Pennsylvania vs. U.S.S. Arizona, on board Pennsylvania; U.S.S. California vs. U.S.S. Tennessee, on board Tennessee.
November 1—U.S.S. Oklahoma vs. U.S.S. New York, on board Oklahoma; U.S.S. New Mexico vs. U.S.S. Tennessee, on board New Mexico.
November 6—U.S.S. Arizona vs. U.S.S. Pennsylvania, on board Pennsylvania.
November 10—U.S.S. Texas vs. U.S.S. New York, on board Texas; U.S.S. Mississippi vs. U.S.S. Pennsylvania, on board Pennsylvania; U.S.S. Maryland vs. U.S.S. Tennessee, on board Tennessee.
November 23—U.S.S. New York vs. U.S.S. Nevada, on board New York.
November 29—U.S.S. Oklahoma vs. U.S.S. Nevada, on board Oklahoma; U.S.S. California vs. U.S.S. Maryland, on board Maryland.

OILING CARD STEAM ROLLER

season been against an opponent strong enough really to test her strength, and the true facts as to Coach Kerr's newly developed power should be brought clearly to light against the Trojans. The Los Angeles gridders have beaten their Card rivals ever since the red men returned to the American game, and there is great feeling here that revenge is due.

Occidental, according to the Cardinal athletes, fought harder and were more difficult to get through than either the Nevada or Santa Clara teams of the two Saturdays preceding. The passing game of Stanford, according to local critics who saw the affair with Oxy, was a most feeble sort of thing. It wasn't the aerial attack of the Stanford secret practice sessions, and very possibly Coach Kerr was staging a little "Gus Henderson" for the latter's own benefit.

Was it, or was it not, Leo Calland in the press box at the California-O.A.C. fracas last Saturday who, on hearing the results of the U.S.C.-Washington game, remarked in this fashion: "They have found us out at last. We haven't got a d—— thing." In any event Stanford has heard too much of this sort of thing to believe any portion of it as far as the Trojan strength is concerned. With Paul Murray back in the Card line-up at right halfback, Coach Kerr's men will be ready for the Trojans, and this time, the first of its sort in three years, there is an attack prepared for the southerners. As nearly as we can gather from his practice schedules, Kerr will work the Trojan flank men first, with the hope of gains around ends. Failing in this he will mix up an aerial attack with straight football, and play as good a defensive game as possible, working all the time for the breaks, of which his men to date have been able to take to good advantage.

There is much worry here as to the fitness of Charlie Johnston, the best tacke of the Card line, who did not start against Occidental, due to nerve trouble. Johnston begged for a chance and worked a few minutes last Saturday and came out of the game a wreck. More than any other one man, he is needed against the Trojans, but at present he has not an even chance of getting into the battle.

The remainder of the Stanford squad came back from Occidental in good shape, and practices this week should put them at the top of their game. Indications here point to a record crowd at the Stanford stadium for next Saturday's engagement.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Will the California-Washington game duplicate in certain features the scoreless tie to which the Bears and Washington and Jefferson battled at Pasadena?

In that contest the punting of Archie Nesbit alone saved California from defeat. His booting nullified the driving power of the Presidents.

Can Jack Witter punt approximately as well, or at least well enough to counteract the smashing attack of the Huskies?

These are all matters of interesting conjecture in the now almost all-absorbing topic of football. Perhaps Washington may not out-drive California, although the indications are that it may. And again the Bear aerial attack may offset the Washington ground offensive.

But the possibility of a situation developing which will be analogous to the California-W. and J. game is an interesting phase of the pending conflict.

U.S.C. out-punted Washington, but its superiority in that respect did not off-set the Husky attack. California is believed to have a bit better kicking than the Trojans. And it probably will be needed.

It is difficult to estimate Occidental's strength on the basis of its game against Stanford.

Terrifically handicapped in weight, the Tigers had little opportunity to show their real game, while individual effort was largely smothered under the massive Stanford defense. Unquestionably the Occidental line would charge much better against an opponent of equal weight. Spangler and Argue, probably the fastest pair of wing men in the country, had little opportunity to turn their speed to advantage. They were pretty well guarded, and as a result it was Art Garey, breaking through from tackle, who did the more sensational work in getting down under punts. Garey also was good on the tackle around play, and seemed the hardest man on Pipal's team to stop.

Through what few clear spots there were for observing the Tigers, they gave the impression of being better than last season when they battled Pomona almost to a hairline margin in the final game for the championship.

Strange that the aftermath of the big international race has been marked by such extreme silence regarding the mysterious and alleged illness of Zev the day before the race.

Many are wondering if there were any grounds for this story which was broadcast and caused a complete switch in the betting, with the result that Papyrus displaced Zev as the favorite. The committee who immediately investigated following the reports of equine illness reported nothing apparently wrong with the thoroughbred.

Yet an atmosphere of doubt had been created, and how many thousands or millions were lost here and in other countries perhaps will never be known.

Even the veriest racing tyro would not have given odds on any horse after a long sea voyage and racing under wholly different turf conditions if convinced that the American runner was in shape. But with Zev thought to be ailing it was different. The result was immediately apparent in the switching of the odds. Many believe that at no time did any of the really "wise" money get down on Papyrus, except possibly a limited amount which was placed publicly, and perhaps for the purpose of influencing opinion.

There are a raft of people in at least two countries who would like to know more about that illness of Zev, and the basis for the report that found a place in the banner lines on both sides of the Atlantic. It is hardly conceivable that a horse could be even slightly ailing one day and on the next run the race that Zev did.

Have received a letter asking some particulars regarding Fullback Tesreau of the Washington Huskies. Haven't much info along this line, except that he is some relation to "Big Jeff" Tesreau, former spitball pitcher of the Giants, either a nephew or a brother. And he has something of Jeff's size and build, tipping the well-known beam at about 190.

MARK SHAUGHESSY MANAGES McDONELL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.—Mark Shaughnessy, well-known Seattle sportsman, and former manager of "Young" Jack McAuliffe, has taken over Jack McDonell of Seattle, promising young heavyweight, according to an announcement today.

McDonell received high praise from Jack Dempsey when he knocked out Jack Sayles in a preliminary bout at the Dempsey-Gibbons championship fight at Shelby, Mont.

Bud Hamilton, bantamweight champion of the Rocky Mountain region, sporting a record of wins that would satisfy the most exacting fan, is in the city with his manager, Sam Buxbaum, and is ready and willing to get into the ring with any of the local fighters.

Hamilton recently was awarded a newspaper decision over Midget Smith after ten rounds, and has knocked out Joe Kelly, Kid Belt and Kewpie Callender, who is known to local fans. The Denver lad is only 18 years old, but has never been defeated.

NEW YACHT CLUB EMBLEM

California Association to Honor Men Who Serve Unselfishly

Beautiful silk-and-bullion insignia emblematic of conspicuous or self-sacrificing service rendered in behalf of Pacific yachting and for unselfish work performed for the organization, are being mailed by the California Yacht Club to honorees. The design was recently adopted by the board of directors, and its letter of appreciation accompanies every award. The "Insignia for Signal Service" is a rectangle half an inch wide and one and a half inches long with silver-bullion cord border and two chevron-shaped bars on a field of blue, with a gold star in the center. It is adapted to wear on cap, sleeve or lapel. Additional stars are provided for further merit.

Under the plan outlined the dignity of wearing the insignia is by no means restricted to members of the club but may be conferred upon any patron of yachting worthy of the compliment by virtue of distinguished service and devotion to the cause.

C. Y. C.'s matchless growth, from a dream to a golden reality, from a mere name to the leading position on the entire Pacific, is one of the finest achievements in the history of yachting. In no other city on earth could such results have been accomplished in the same length of time. Not only was vision required, but it had to be supplemented with hard work, valuable time had to be sacrifled, and money contributed—by men who entertained no hope of reward and no thought of personal glory.

Among others first to be presented with the insignia are Honorary Commodore E. L. Doheny, Ben P. Weston, Charles E. W. Hubbell, Paul Jeffers and Alvin H. Frank. Commodore Doheny has given the C. Y. C. his unqualified personal and financial support from its inception and was one of the initial life members.

Ben Weston has represented the club with brilliant success in sailing competition on both the Pacific and Atlantic Coasts, and to his unselfish efforts is mainly due the revival in class sailing in Southern California waters.

Paul Jeffers laid out the club's anchorage and located the moorings, and also took an active and indispensable part in the sailing activities from the beginning.

Alvin Frank raised the funds for the club's first R-boat campaign. His splendid efforts were responsible for bringing the northern boats here for the regatta a year ago and for C. Y. C.'s participation this year in the San Francisco regatta.

Building of the Outer Harbor Station, one of the club's finest adjuncts, was made possible by Charles Hubbell.

AL JOLSON BUYS A FEW RACING NAGS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TIJUANA RACE TRACK (Mex.) Oct. 23.—Now, if Al Jolson, famed black-face comedian and singer, can roll out in syncopated time "My Black Beauty" or "She's a Running Hoss," he will be able to hook up his regular vocation with his latest venture as a sportsman.

A telegram which the Tijuana Jockey Club has just received from Jolson states that he is becoming the owner of a racing stable and that a select band of thoroughbreds will carry his colors during the Tijuana season, which will be opened Thanksgiving Day.

MAJOR LEAGUE MEN HERE TOMORROW

There will be a dash of major league flavoring in the Stove League starting Thursday. On that occasion among prominent arrivals will be Sam Dreyfus, son of Barney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburg Pirates, and John O. Seys, former newspaper man, now secretary of the Chicago Cubs. That they are coming west was learned through a letter received yesterday by Oscar Richow, business manager of the Los Angeles club. The Cubs train at Catalina and the Pirates at Paso Robles, and this explains the early appearance on the coast of Seys and Dreyfus.

It is easy to prove the universal taste appeal of La Palina.

It takes a great many men to consume over a hundred and fifty million cigars in a year. Among the thousands of La Palina smokers there is every possible taste in tobacco and every cigar requirement. Yet every La Palina smoker is a satisfied smoker.

There are many brands of cigars that enjoy popularity in certain sections of this country. But I know of only one cigar that sells the country over, in every city, town and hamlet. That sells in the very communities where these other cigars are made. This cigar is La Palina.

No matter where he goes the La Palina smoker has the password to cigar satisfaction. He may be a thousand miles from home, but he steps up to the counter and asks for La Palina with confidence. He is certain that it will be for sale. He is certain that it will please him when he smokes it.

It was to give the American smoker what I know he wants—a rich, full-bodied, mild cigar—that I perfected the combination of fine imported tobaccos found only in La Palina.

Seven Angelenos to Attend Tucson Gathering

Banquet at Nogales Planned for Delegates

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—The twentieth annual convention of the Arizona Bankers' Association is expected to be one of the most notable in its history. Outside of the local delegation, more than fifty members will be present from outside towns of the State, while a large number of banking experts from other States will be guests of the Arizonans. Most of the visitors will be accompanied by their wives. The sessions will be at the Tucson Country Club next Friday and Saturday.

Saturday afternon will be an auto excursion of 70 miles to Nogales, Sonora, where will be the formal banquet, with Mexican dishes and with prewar refreshments. The president of the association is Charles H. Solomon, president of the Arizona National Bank of Tucson. Kirt L. Hart is chairman of the entertainment committee. Outside bankers who have made reservations include:

Los Angeles — W. D. Howard, president, and Roger Andrews, vice-president, Continental National; W. H. Thomson, vice-president, and L. W. Eley, assistant cashier, First National; G. H. Rambo, vice-president Merchants National; W. J. Ellery, manager Huntington Beach branch Security Trust and Savings; J. N. Hubbard.

MARK BILLIONAIRE WARD OF CHARITY

GERMAN CABIN BOY SLEEPS IN HALLWAYS BEFORE GETTING AID

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—From millionaire and billionaire—in marks—reads the career of Walter Schultz, 15 years of age, German cabin boy, who was turned over to the Children's Society yesterday after a series of adventures including a farm hand's job and sleping in city hallways and "L" trains.

The police of the Ralph avenue station are responsible for Walter's rapid rise. Picked up on a train, the lad said he came here from Emden, Germany, five weeks ago, and had sent his mother all his savings, amounting to 270,000,000 marks. Touched by the story, the police raised $5, or 1,800,000,000 marks, for Walter, which he promptly sent to his mother in money order form.

Children's Court Judge Wilkin ordered the boy turned over to the Children's Society pending investigation. When he landed here, Walter told the police in perfect English, he obtained a job on a New Jersey farm but when his wages were withheld, went to Brooklyn where for ten days he had been sleeping in hallways and begging meals.

COMPRESSED AIR TOOL SENDS BOLT INTO SKULL OF ANIMAL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—A compressed air instrument that will drive a bolt an inch and a half into the skull of an animal has been perfected for stunning steers in slaughter-houses so that they are painlessly put to death, it was announced at the second American World Humane Conference, which opened here yesterday.

Dr. F. H. Rowley, president of the Massachusetts S. P. C. A., who made the announcement several months ago that the society would pay $10,000 to any person who would perfect a slaughter-house stunning instrument, told the 300 members of the society that he had seen the compressed air tool employed successfully.

"The action is perfect," continued the doctor, "but the inventor claims that with a short allowance of time, he will so perfect the instrument's working that it will stand any test."

ASKS PRESS OF GOTHAM OUST UNION

Blanton of Texas Tells Strike-Ridden Dailies to Set Up Open Shop

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Oct. 23. The following telegram anent the strike of union newspaper pressmen in New York has been sent to the editors of all New York newspapers by Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas:

"Through the few newspapers daring to publish same the Associated Press reports that striking pressmen, who have refused to work themselves, openly assert that they are not going to allow anyone else to run presses for New York newspaper. Their union president, Berry, denounces them as Reds propagating sovietism. Friday reported 55,000 newspapers burned with gasoline by strikers, and Albert Sheldon dying from attack by twelve strikers. Saturday reported two men beaten by strikers, and George Davis brained by a bludgeon, and five strikers pleading guilty to unlawfully seizing fifty bundles of papers to destroy them released under suspended sentence. And thus the reign of terror and intimidation continues in our nation's metropolis.

"If a lawful court sought to censor one word, you would print columns protesting, yet all New York newspaperdom cringingly submits and permits a handful of unauthorized strikers to hobble, gag, hogtie and throttle a public press out of existence. Oh, for a Cal Coolidge running New York! Have you no courts to enforce the law? Are you newspapers impotent? Are you afraid? Is all New York intimidated? Does your yoke wear lightly? Now is the opportune time for all American newspapers in American New York to unshackle themselves by adopting the American open shop, and be free again, and run American newspapers for Americans."

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DES MOINES, Oct. 23.—The Farmers' State Bank of Storm Lake lost its suit to collect $6875 on a note given by S. C. Cornelussen, near Rembrandt, for the purchase of stock in the defunct Waterloo Creamery of Omaha. The outcome of the case may have important bearing on other court matters in that county, for many such notes were floated for the purchase of stock in the boom days.

A jury at Oskaloosa awarded $20,000 and $4000 in interest to J. C. Lambertson, a farmer near there, as damages against Burns Brothers of Des Moines, who sold the plaintiff stock in a financial corporation in 1919. Lambertson said the value of stock was misrepresented to him and that it was worthless.

In the village of Reinbeck, Jack Brock, once a boxer and blacksmith, has aroused comment by his alleged healing powers. The road leading to his cabin home is often choked with vehicles carrying the lame, the halt, and the infected. Brock has never claimed such powers until recently.

The first fatality of the football season in Cedar Rapids occurred yesterday when Roscoe Faris, 17 years old, quarterback on the Vinton high school team, died as the result of injuries suffered in the Laporte City-Vinton game last Friday. Faris was struck in the abdomen in making a tackle.

OMAHA

OMAHA, Oct. 23.—District Court judges filed an order amending County Jail rules, by providing that inmates shall have three sufficiently large well cooked meals a day. The order follows an inquiry instigated after disorders in the jail, which some prisoners said was because of objection to the meals.

Cornhuskers in Plate county are being paid between $8 and $10 a day with board and room, and are refusing to work for less than 10 per cent of the market price for a bushel of corn, the county agriculture agent was informed.

Word from Neligh says there are signs that conditions in Antelope county are improving. Last year 2345 automobile licenses were issued and so far this year 3758 have been taken out, an increase of 413. The number indicates there are enough automobiles in the county to give every person in the county a ride at the same time.

DENVER

DENVER, Oct. 23.—Favorable consideration will now be given applications which already have been made by settlers in the vicinity of Glenwood Springs, Colo., for 75,000 acres of land in that district, which has just been designated as suitable for entry, in tracts of 640 acres, under the provisions of the Stock-raising Homestead Act of December 29, 1916.

Harry Doke Everett, 63 years old, widely known in Denver construction circles and an active member of Masonic orders, died at St. Luke's Hospital, when an operation for appendicitis proved futile.

A crop of broomcorn valued at $24,000 belonging to Asa Bowen was destroyed by fire on his ranch near Woodrow, 26 miles from Brush.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Flights of wild geese, headed for blamier climes flew across Kansas City last night. Amateur weather seers, who heard their "honks" predicted cold weather soon.

The Board of Public Works will provide for planting 2850 white elm trees on twenty-two streets in various parts of the city.

The second attempt of robbers to obtain the diamonds of Mrs. L. W. Timms, 3903 Benton Boulevard was successful last night. Two men with faces masked in handkerchiefs held up Mrs. Timms at her home and took diamonds valued at $12,000. They escaped and Mrs. Timms's description of them is meager.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—Construction work on the service wing—the third big unit of the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for children, which will cost in excess of $400,000 and which will be the center of the service department of the institution, started Monday.

The Indianapolis alumni of Depauw University, both men and women, will rally to the assistance of the $1,000,000 endowment fund being sought for the institution and plans are under way for boosting the movement in a substantial manner.

Erection of eight school buildings is expected to begin within one month and by beginning of the fall term of 1924 the crowded conditions in the Indianapolis public schools will have been relieved.

Evansville will erect 1500 houses to meet the 10,000 gain in population in three years and stop the loss from inadequate housing and peril to health and morals, if plans of the local housing committee of the Community Welfare Organization are carried out. Two hundred homes already have been erected and a campaign to build more homes will start immediately.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—Papers to conclude the purchase of land and construction of a $1,000,000 assembly plant of the Ford Motor Company have been forwarded to Detroit for approval. Edwin L. McPhee, manager of the Ford branch here, said. The land is owned by the State Board of Agriculture.

Journeymen tailors, who have been on strike at several local firms since September 1, have reached an agreement with all of the employing firms, except two, it was announced. The wage agreement called for 55 cents an hour for tailors and 50 cents for helpers, with a 44-hour week.

Farmers of Boone county are taking advantage of the low stage of water in the Ohio River to lay in their winter's supply of coal. A sand bar extends from the Kentucky shore more than half way across the river to North Bend, and this bar catches the coal that is washed down the river from sunken barges. Part of the coal is buried in the sand, and the Kentuckians have been using plows, wagons and trucks to salvage the fuel.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 23.—Charles Qualman, 54 years old, for twenty years associated with the Beloit Police Department, fifteen years a chief, is dead of heart trouble. He joined the department as patrolman in 1903, being promoted to chief in 1908, and holding the post to within a few months of his death.

T. M. Bowler, of the Sheboygan law firm of Bowler & Bowler, died last night after a week's illness, following an operation for stomach trouble. The operation was performed by the famed Vienna surgeon, Dr. Hans Finsterer, who was brought to Sheboygan from Chicago especially for the purpose.

Vernon county apples are a drug on the Viroqua market this season, the price there being 50 cents a bushel, a rate of about three for a cent. Hundreds of bushels have been given away by growers to those who will pick them, while large quantities are rotting in the orchards.

Contracts for snow fences to be erected in the county this fall by the Association of Commerce at Fond Du Lac have been let. The fences, which will keep the roads open, will be placed in twenty locations throughout the county, the sites to be determined later.

DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 23.—Heavy windstorms yesterday worked havoc among Mason county apple orchards. Reports indicate that 50 per cent of the unpicked crop was blown to the ground. It is estimated the storm caused a loss running into thousands of dollars.

Parts of tusks believed to be the remains of a prehistoric mastodon have been unearthed in a swamp in Ottawa county, near Burnips Corner. One piece weighs twenty-three pounds and is twenty-eight inches long. The discovery was made by a workman who was digging a drain. A search has been started to find other parts of the tusks.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) Oct. 23.—Erection of a $100,000 addition to the Lorain plant of the National Stove Company will be started this fall, Thomas Rath, superintendent, said yesterday. Bids are being received. Construction is to be completed by February 1. The new building will create employment for 100 men.

PICTURE DIRECTOR SHOWS EXTRA "HOW"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—Director A. Willett of the Famous Players-Lasky Company is out of commission for a time, due to a self-inflicted wound in the knee, by the discharge of a blank cartridge. Mr. Willett is reported to have been shooting an extra man just how to "pull" a pistol in the most approved frontier style when he put pressure on the trigger at the wrong time. A physician was sent out from Flagstaff to The Gap, northeast of this city, where Willett's company is taking scenes.

VETERANS WILL ORGANIZE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—A camp of United Spanish War Veterans is to be organized in Tucson by Capt. J. L. B. Alexander, department commander, who lately instituted a new camp at Douglas. About fifty veterans of 1898 are resident in Tucson, with ten more in the Pastime Park military hospital.

A Difference You Cannot See

The super quality rag felt used in "Weaver" Roofing may not be detectable to the eye in the finished roof—but it proves its importance in the years of service.

The fact that "Weaver" Roofing carries a greater saturation of weather-resisting compound may not be apparent to the eye, but it is apparent when the test of service is applied.

"Weaver" Roofing is economical because it wears so long and because it needs no repairs—involves no upkeep expense—and gives no trouble throughout its life.

Architects and contractors are glad to recommend it because they know it will give complete satisfaction.

The girl and her father went back to the island with Robert. After taking thought, the latter decided to ask Mir Jan to remain in possession until he returned. There was not much risk of another Dyak invasion. The fate of Taung S'Ali's expedition would not encourage a fresh set of marauders, and the Mahommedan would be well armed to meet unforeseen contingencies, whilst on his, Anstruther's, representations the Orient would land an abundance of stores. In any event, it was better for the native to live in freedom on Rainbow Island than to be handed over to the authorities as an escaped convict, which must be his immediate fate no matter what magnanimous view the government of India might afterwards take of his services.

Mir Jan's answer was emphatic. He took off his turban and placed it on Anstruther's feet.

"Sahib," he said, "I am your dog. If, some day, I am found worthy to be your faithful servant, then shall I know that Allah has pardoned my transgressions. I only killed a man because—"

"Peace, Mir Jan. Let him rest."

"Why is he worshiping you, Robert?" demanded Iris.

He told her.

"Really," she cried, "I must keep up my studies in Hindustani. It is quite too sweet."

And then for the benefit of her father, she rattled off into a spirited account of her struggle with the algebraic x and the Urdu compound verb.

Sir Arthur Deane managed to repress a sigh. In spite of himself he could not help liking Anstruther. The man was magnetic, a hero, an ideal gentleman. No wonder his daughter was infatuated with him. Yet the future was dark and storm-tossed, full of sinister threats and complications. Iris did not know the wretched circumstances which had come to pass since they parted, and which had changed the whole aspect of his life. How could he tell her? Why should it be his miserable lot to snatch the cup of happiness from her lips? In that moment of silent agony he wished he were dead, for death alone could remove the burden laid on him. Well, surely he might bask in the sunshine of her laughter for another day. No need to embitter her joyous heart until he was driven to it by dire necessity.

So he resolutely brushed aside the woe-begone phantom of care, and entered into the abandon of the hour with a zest that delighted her. The dear girl imagined that Robert, her Robert, had made another speedy conquest, and Anstruther himself was much elated by the sudden change in Sir Arthur Deane's demeanor.

They behaved like school children on a picnic. They roared over Iris's troubles in the matter of divided skirts, too much divided to be at all pleasant. The shipowner tasted some of her sago bread, and vowed it was excellent. They unearthed two bottles of champagne, the last of the case, and promised each other a hearty toast at dinner. Nothing would content Iris but that they should draw a farewell bucketful of water from the well and drench the pitcher-plant with a torrential shower.

Robert carefully secured the pocket-books, money and other effects found on their dead companions. The baronet, of course, knew all the principal officers of the Sirdar. He surveyed these mournful relics with sorrowful interest.

"The Sirdar was the crack ship of my fleet, and Capt. Ross my most trusted commander," he said. "You may well imagine, Mr. Anstruther, what a cruel blow it was to lose such a vessel, with all these people on board, and my only daughter amongst them. I wonder now that it did not kill me."

"She was a splendid sea-boat, sir. Although disabled, she fought gallantly against the typhoon. Nothing short of a reef would break her up."

"Ah, well," sighed the shipowner, "the few timbers you have shown me here are the remaining assets out of 300,000 pounds."

"Was she not insured?" inquired Robert.

"No; that is, I have recently adopted a scheme of mutual self-insurance, and the loss falls pro rata on my other vessels."

The baronet glanced covertly at Iris. The words conveyed little meaning to her. Indeed, she broke in with a laugh—

"I am afraid I have heard you say, father dear, that some ships in the fleet paid you best when they ran ashore."

"Yes, Iris. That often happened in the old days. It is different now. Moreover, I have not told you the extent of my calamities. The Sirdar was lost on March 18, though I did not know it for certain until this morning. But on March 25 the Bahadur was sunk in the Mersey during a fog, and three days thy later the Jemadar turned turtle on the James and Mary shoal in the Hooghly. Happily there were no lives lost in either of these cases.

Even Iris was appalled by this list of casualties.

"My poor, dear dad!" she cried. "To think that all these troubles should occur the very moment I left you!"

Yet she gave no thought to the serious financial effect of such a string of catastrophes. Robert, of course, appreciated this side of the business, especially in view of the shipowner's remark about the insurance. But Sir Arthur Deane's stiff upper lip deceived him. He failed to realize that the father was acting a part for his daughter's sake.

Oddly enough, the baronet did not seek to discuss with them the legal-looking document affixed near the cave. It claimed all rights in the island in their joint names, and this was a topic he wished to avoid. For the time, therefore, the younger man had no opportunity of taking him into his confidence, and Iris held faithfully to her promise of silence.

The girl's ragged raiment, sou'wester, and strong boots were already packed away on board. She now rescued the Bible, the copy of Tennyson's poems, the battered tin cup, her revolver and the Lee-Metford which "scared" the Dyaks when they nearly caught Anstruther and Mir Jan napping. Robert also gathered father an assortment of Dyak hats, belts and arms, including Taung S'Ali's parang and a sumpitan. These were her trophies, the spolia opima of the campaign.

His concluding act was to pack two of the empty oil tins with all the valuable lumps of auriferous quartz he could find where he shot the rubbish from the cave beneath the trees. On top of these he placed some antimony ore, and Mir Jan, wondering why the sahib wanted the stuff, carried the consignment to the waiting boat. Lieut. Playden, in command of the last party of sailors to quit the island, evidently expected Mir Jan to accompany them, but Anstruther explained that the man would await his return, some time in June or July.

Sir Arthur Deane found himself speculating on the cause of this extraordinary resolve, but, steadfast to his policy of avoiding controversial matters, said nothing. A few words to the captain procured enough stores to keep the Mahommedan for six months at least, and whilst these were being landed, the question was raised how best to dispose of the Dyaks.

The commander wishes to consult the convenience of his guests.

"If we go a little out of our way and land them in Borneo," he said, "they will be hanged without troubling you further. If I take them to Singapore they will be tried on your evidence and sent to penal servitude. Which is it to be?"

It was Iris who decided.

"I cannot bear to think of more lives being sacrificed," she protested. "Perhaps if these men are treated mercifully and sent to their homes after some punishment their example may serve as a deterrent to others."

So it was settled that way. The anchor rattled up to its berth and the Orient turned her head toward Singapore. As she steadily passed away into the deepening azure, the girl and her lover watched the familiar outlines of Rainbow Island growing dim in the evening light. For a long while they could see Mir Jan's tall, thin figure motionless on a rock at the extremity of Europa Point. Their hut, the reef, the ledge, came into view as the cruiser swung round to a more northerly course.

Iris had thrown an arm across her father's shoulders. The three were left alone just then, and they were silent for many minutes. At last the flying miles merged the solitary palm beyond the lagoon with the foliage on the cliff. The wide cleft of Prospect Park grew less distinct. Mir Jan's white-clothed figure was lost in the dark background. The island was becoming vague, dream-like, a blurred memory.

"Robert," said the girl devoutly, "God has been very good to us."

"Yes," he replied, "I was thinking, even this instant, of the verse that is carved on the gate of the Memorial Well at Cawnpore: 'These are they which came out of great tribulation.' We, too, have come out of great tribulation, happily with our lives—and more. The decrees of fate are indeed inscrutable."

Iris turned to him a face roseate with loving comprehension.

"Do you remember this hour yesterday?" she murmured—"how we suffered from thirst—how the Dyaks began their second attack from the ridge—how you climbed down the ladder and I followed you? Oh, father, darling" she went on impulsively, tightening her grasp, "you will never know how brave he was, how enduring, how he risked all for me and cheered me to the end, even though the end seemed to be the grave."

"I think I am beginning to understand now," answered the shipowner, averting his eyes lest Iris should see the tears in them. Their Calvary was ended, they thought—was it for him to lead them again through the sorrowful way? It was a heartrending task that lay before him, a task from which his soul revolted. He refused even to attempt it. He sought forgetfulness in a species of mental intoxication, and countenanced his daughter's love idyll with such apparent approval that Lord Ventnor wondered whether Sir Arthur were not suffering from senile decay.

The explanation of the shipowner's position was painfully simple. Being a daring yet shrewd financier, he perceived in the troubled condition of the Far East a magnificent opportunity to consolidate the trading influence of his company. He negotiated two big loans, one of a semiprivate nature, to equip docks and railways in the chief maritime province of China, the other of a more public character, with the government of Japan. All his own resources, together with those of his principal directors and shareholders, were devoted to these objects. Contemporaneously, he determined to stop paying heavy insurance premiums on his fleet and make it self-supporting, on the well-known mutual principal.

His vessels were well equipped, well manned, replete with every modern improvement, and managed with great commercial skill. In three or four years, given ordinary trading luck, he must have doubled his own fortune and earned a world-wide reputation for far-seeing sagacity.

No sooner were all his arrangements completed than three of his best ships went down, saddling his company with an absolute loss of nearly 600,000 pounds, and seriously undermining his financial credit. A fellow-director, wealthy and influential, resigned his seat on the board, and headed a clique of disappointed stockholders. At once the fair sky became overcast. A sound and magnificent speculation threatened to dissolve in the Bankruptcy Court.

Sir Arthur Deane's energy and financial skill might have enabled him to weather this unexpected gale were it not for the apparent loss of his beloved daughter with the crack ship of his line. Half-frenzied with grief, he bade his enemies do their worst, and allowed his affairs to get into hopeless confusion whilst he devoted himself wholly to the search for Iris and her companions. At this critical juncture Lord Ventnor again reached his side. His Lordship possessed a large private fortune and extensive estates. He was prudent withal, and knew how admirably the shipowner's plans would develop if given the necessary time. He offered the use of his name and money. He more than filled the gap created by the hostile ex-director. People argued that such a clever man, just returning from the Far East after accomplishing a public mission of some importance, must be a reliable guide. The mere cabled intelligence of his intention to join the board restored confidence and credit.

But—there was a bargain. If Iris lived, she must become the Countess of Ventnor. His lordship was weary of peripatetic love-making. It was high time he settled down in life, took an interest in the Legislature, and achieved a position in the world of affairs. He had a chance now. The certain success of his friend's project, the fortunate completion of his own diplomatic undertaking, marriage with a beautiful and charming woman—these items would consolidate his career. If Iris were not available, plenty of women, high-placed in society, would accept such an eligible bachelor. But his heart was set on Iris. She was honest, high-principled, and none prizes these essentials in a wife more than a worn-out roue.

He seized the first opportunity that presented itself to make Sir Arthur Deane acquainted with a decision already dreaded by the unfortunate shipowner. Iris must either abandon her infatuation for Anstruther or bring about the ruin of her father. There was no mean.

"If she declines to become Countess of Ventnor, she can marry whom she likes, as you will be all paupers together," was the Earl's caustic summing up.

This brutal argument rather overshot the mark. The shipowner's face flushed with anger, and Lord Ventnor hastened to retrieve a false step.

Frigidaire
Electrical Refrigerator for Modern Homes

Frigidaire also can be installed in your own ice-box

A Practical, Economical, Better Method of Refrigeration for Your Home

Frigidaire is an electrically operated refrigerator, creating its own cooling power. It affords a method of refrigeration for the average home far more convenient, far more healthful, far better in every way. It provides what all scientists agree are the proper essentials for home refrigeration—first, a constant and sufficiently low temperature; second, a dry atmosphere; third, thorough cleanliness—conditions impossible to obtain with melting ice.

This constantly cool, dry air keeps food in perfect condition for a long time, thus saving a great deal of wastage. Frigidaire banishes for all time the muss and nuisance of ice—it freezes an abundance of pure ice cubes for cool drinks and provides a means for making delicious frozen desserts.

You can get a Frigidaire now at moderate cost for a small first payment and on easy terms.

TACOMA PLEADS FOR CAMP COST

Rotary Club Asks Support of Plea for Payment

Purchase of Site With Bonds Narrated in Pamphlet

County Said to be Meeting Heavy Annual Loss

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 23.—Rotary Clubs all over the United States are asked in a campaign of information begun by the local club to lend their support to a campaign requesting the United States government to keep its word with the 150,000 citizens of the county in which this city is located.

Briefly this is the grievance which the Rotary Club of Tacoma wishes to set forth—a pamphlet, "For Value Received I Promise to Pay"—giving the history of the transaction at length.

On January 7, 1917, the voters of Pierce County, of which Tacoma with 100,000 is the county seat and metropolis, voted $2,000,000 in twenty-year bonds with which to purchase and deed outright to the government approximately 70,000 acres of level, prairie land lying south of the city.

LAND USED AS CAMP

Army officers of high rank for years had tried in vain to get Congress to buy the land for a permanent post, holding it to be of high importance strategically and climatically.

Finally the Secretary of War in 1916, before the World War, wrote a memorandum to the effect that, if the county would present the government with the land, the War Department would maintain a minimum number of 15,000 men there.

The bonds carried, the land was used as Camp Lewis even before it was given to the government and today there are 62,000 acres, with the taxpayers paying $137,000 a year interest and redemption on the bonds.

TAX LOSS $100,000

In addition the county loses $100,000 annually in taxes, it is pointed out.

There are less than 1000 men stationed there, the war-time buildings are almost uninhabitable, the greater part of the cantonment is not being used, and no effort is being made to live up to the pledge.

That is why every Rotary Club in the country will be asked to use its influence to have the government of the United States "pay its note," or return the unused acreage to the county.

In Europe a majority of people live near or over their places of business.

POLICE WORK ON MURDER CLEWS

Suspect Foul Play in Case of Man Dead in Shack

Woman is Questioned and Later Released

Authorities Puzzled Over Burning of Cabin

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Oct. 23.—Murder and suicide were the theories on which investigators were working today in an effort to clear up the circumstances of the death of Frank A. Lees, 45 years of age, a Fresno carpenter whose charred body was found Sunday in a blazing cabin on a ranch five miles from the city.

Surgeons today established that the cause of death was a gunshot wound in the head. When the body was found it was lying on the floor of the shack, which was padlocked on the outside. Under the body lay a shotgun, the weapon it is believed was used to kill Lees. It contained one shell that had been discharged. The cap was dented, showing the explosion had not been caused accidentally by the heat of the fire.

Investigators who incline to the suicide theory believe Lees entered the cabin by crawling underneath, and raising loose boards in the floor. They think he set fire to the cabin, by design or otherwise, and then shot himself either because he was despondent, or because he found himself trapped by the flames and preferred to die quickly.

POSSIBLE FOUL PLAY

Other circumstances, however, indicate possible foul play. Persons who saw Lees Friday and Saturday before his death say he displayed much money in presence of drunken associates. When arrested recently for drunkeness he had a watch and Masonic emblem. No money, watch or emblem was found on the body. Search is being made for two men, known only as Red and The Kid, who are reported to have been with Lees the day before his death.

It has been learned that Lees bought the shotgun and some shells on Friday, and on Saturday pawned a kit of tools for $25.

Sheriff William Jones, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Denvers Church and a number of deputy sheriffs have worked on the case almost continuously since the discovery of the body. Yesterday they questioned Mrs. Mae Robinson, who recently acquired ownership of the burned shack from Lees and who had been living there. She was released after some hours of examination. She said she was at Madera Friday night and returned to the shack about noon Saturday. There, she said, she found Lees drunk, and the place in confusion, dishes being broken and furniture scattered around. She also found the shotgun there, half a dozen empty shells and one shell that had not been discharged. Neighbors have told of hearing shots fired in the shack on Friday night. She says she put Lees and the gun and the good shell outside the shack, locked the door with the only key and came to Fresno in a taxicab. She told the officers that she did not see Lees again.

STAYED AT HOTEL

Police have established that she registered under two names when she stayed at a hotel here Saturday and Sunday nights and that she was here at the time of the fire. Mrs. Robinson told of Lees fighting at the cabin Saturday night with the taxicab driver, Charles Townsley, who had driven her to the plats. Officers also questioned Herbert Black, the taxi driver who took Lees to and from the cabin several times; John Seedler, former foreman of a taxicab company, and W. E. Braswell, a distant relative of Mrs. Robinson, who lives near the burned cabin. Black, according to his account, is the last person who saw Lees alive. He told the officer that he drove Lees from Fresno to the shack about 7 o'clock Sunday morning and left him there.

GIRL HELPER OF RECLUSE NEAR DEATH

Apparent Suicide Attempt Thought Prompted by Fear for Accused Father

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 23.—Elizabeth Satterfield, 24 years of age, for the last three weeks the companion of a hermit living in a cave on Tiderock, two miles north of this city on the Coast highway, is in a critical condition at Martin's Sanitorium, from the effects of acid poisoning. The girl apparently drank the acid in a suicide attempt. But little hope is held out for her recovery.

Early this morning she accosted Patrolman Demaris, who was patrolling his beat, and indicated by signs that she wished to be taken to the police station. The girl's appearance indicated that she was ill and the officer summoned an ambulance and had her taken to the station.

There, again using signs, she asked for pencil and paper. These were given her. Then she wrote: "I drank acid a half-hour ago. My throat is sore. Have been camping at Tiderock. Man there doesn't know my real name or who I am. My father was arrested in Los Angeles for a murder in Georgia. I don't know the name of the acid but the man used it to clean and polish shells."

The girl was immediately removed to the sanitorium and police began an investigation to determine where she had obtained the acid.

They found that the man referred to by the girl is A. Allen, a recluse, who for many years has been living on Tiderock.

He told the officers that the girl appeared at his cave home three weeks ago and offered to cook for him if he would provide her with bedding on which to sleep and food. Since then, he stated, she has been making her camp near his cave.

It was also determined by the police that the girl's father, J. B. Satterfield, was arrested in Long Beach last August for the murder of his brother-in-law, R. W. Hart, in December, 1921, in Georgia.

It is believed that worry over her father's fate first caused the girl to flee from human society and later to attempt her life.

PET TURTLE STIRS UP BIT OF EXCITEMENT

OWNER CLAIMS ANIMAL AND CUSTOMARY CALM IS RESTORED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Oct. 23.—Pedestrians on South Glassell street stared wildly, rubbed their eyes, then wondered whether someone had "spiked" their morning "coke" when a large turtle thrust its head from beneath a parked automobile and then slowly ambled onto the sidewalk shortly before noon today.

Women in the vicinity halted dead still, put their hands to their mouth and gave the strange, crawling creature full sway of the sidewalk. Finally, some of the bravest in the crowd plucked the animal in their arms and started off down the street.

The procession came to a sudden halt when a woman residing nearby interrupted, "Hey, there, that's my turtle. I've been looking for it all morning."

The animal, a pet, fled its pen, or whatever it is they keep them in, this morning and started out for town. Although it had been missing all morning, the runaway didn't get far—the owner lived a few doors from the scene of capture.

The structure will cost $800,000. Contract for the building was let several weeks ago and excavation work is now under way. A naval celebration will be held in connection with the corner-stone ceremonies.

PRISONERS DESTROY LIQUOR

Hundreds of Gallons of Illicit Stuff Dumped Into Sewer at Santa Ana

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 23.—Moonshiners and winemakers, serving time in the County Jail here today assisted other county prisoners in dumping the liquor into the sewer, under the direction of Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

Disposal of the liquor was ordered after 600 gallons had accumulated as evidence, and filled all available storage space. Demijohns, casks, bottles, brown jugs, in numberless shapes and sizes and containing alleged drinks of as many varieties, were brought forth and their contents poured into the sewer. Four hundred gallons of wine, taken in a recent raid, and 200 additional gallons ranging from corn whiskey to brandy and gin, were disposed of in this manner.

A heavy green fluid flowed from the spout of a still, which had been used to make alleged corn whiskey. It was called "mean-looking stuff" by one of the prisoners, who had formerly been a moonshiner in Kentucky, and who said he turned out pure "cawn" juice and nothing else. Several demijohns of pure alcohol taken in various raids, were turned over to the county hospital and stone crocks and jugs went to the culinary department of the County Jail.

The remainder of the illicit equipment taken in raids, including stills of assorted kinds will be destroyed. The stills were made from various objects including copper wash boilers, tin boilers and buckets, and one was taken recently which had been made from a garbage pail.

EXPORTS TO MEXICO SHOW JUMP

Million Dollars' Worth of American Goods Go to Lower California

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, Oct. 23.—Almost $1,000,000 worth of American products were exported to Lower California and declared at the Mexican custom house, according to a report prepared by Mexican Consul Roberto E. Quiros. The Mexican custom officers collected $46,328 in duties on the articles taken across the line.

The volume of exports in the six-months' period was nearly three times that of the corresponding period in 1922.

Imports to the American side from Lower California through the local port of entry amounted to $1,862,900 of which cotton and cotton seed formed the leading commodities.

Chinese merchants of Mexicali received 987,741 kilograms of rice, most of which came direct from China, with a value of more than $150,000.

CHILD IS FATALLY INJURED BY AUTO

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23.—Lascar Gentry, 6 years of age, was fatally hurt today in front of his home at 1320 East Hill street by an automobile driven by L. T. LaPointe of 1002 Olive street. The child, a stepson of C. W. Ross, an oil worker, was playing on the sidewalk, according to LaPointe's report to the police, and as the automobile came along dashed suddenly into the street. Before LaPointe could stop his front wheels had knocked the child down and run over him. Another car took the boy to Seaside Hospital but he died before reaching there. The body was taken to Comer & Co.'s undertaking establishment. LaPointe was not held.

SUES EDISON COMPANY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Oct. 23.—George C. Power, owner of the Power Lemon ranch and other valuable property, has brought suit against the Southern California Edison Company to compel it to deliver to him 100 miners' inches of water for irrigation purposes, according to contract. It is charged that this has not been done. The contract does not expire until 1959. This is the latest phase in litigation between the Edison Company and property owners here and promises interesting developments.

CYCLIST PIERCED BY PIPE DIES

Girl's Machine Carries Her Over Bluff to Creek Bottom

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 23.—A piece of pipe protruding from the bed of a dry creek in Montecito brought death to Helen Ireland, 24 years of age, last night when a bicycle she was riding swerved from the road and plunged with her over a bluff into the creek bottom.

The autopsy today disclosed that the piece of pipe upon which she fell had pierced her heart, bringing instant death. Efforts are being made to locate her parents, who are believed to reside in Portland, Or.

Miss Ireland came here from Los Angeles two months ago.

DR. HALE IS HOME FROM WORLD TRIP

Says Work of California Technical Institute is Impressing Europe

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 23.—Dr. George Ellery Hale, one of the world's foremost scientists and director emeritus of the Mount Wilson Observatory, returned to Pasadena today after an extended tour of Europe which lasted for more than a year. Dr. and Mrs. Hale are much improved in health and he is especially anxious to get back to his duties.

The remarkable growth of the California Institute of Technology is regarded by educators abroad as one of the greatest records of achievements in the educational world, Dr. Hale declared today. The scientist was also greatly impressed with the progress of work at the Mount Wilson Observatory during the last year.

"The numerous and important contributions to science made by the Mount Wilson Observatory since I left for Europe impress me greatly," said Dr. Hale today. "The remarkable progress of the California Institute of Technology, which has already become the leading center of physical and chemical research in the United States, is another item that impresses me. This is recognized in Europe no less than in this country, as is sufficiently shown by the rapidly increasing tendency of advanced students to come here from the chief laboratories abroad for study and research.

"If the citizens of Pasadena could hear the comments of the best known scientists in Europe on the work of our own research institutions they certainly would be gratified.

"Another thing is the great opportunity for similar progress in another field afforded by the superb collection of the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery. In discussing the possibilities of this unique library with the director of the British Museum and librarian of the Bodleian Library at Oxford, I learned to appreciate more fully than ever before the wealth of its contents and its great value to Southern California."

SANTA FE PLANS SHOP EXTENSION

Appropriates $2,800,000 for Gate City Work

Many Improvements Are to be Made Soon

Hundreds Will be Employed in Construction

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 23.—Adding nearly $1,000,000 to its tentative San Bernardino shop-extension budget, the Santa Fe Railway has definitely appropriated $2,800,000 for the 1924 building program, it was announced today by Superintendent of Shops A. G. Armstrong.

By the extension of the railway's repairing facilities, the production capacity of the shops will be doubled, and hundreds more of skilled craftsmen will be employed. In importance as a railway terminal, San Bernardino will rank among the foremost of the West, handling all repair work on rolling stock west of Albuquerque on the Santa Fe lines.

REPLACES OLD UNITS

Of the $2,800,000 appropriation, $600,000 is available for 1923 expenditure, it was announced. The entire burget allotment for Southern California mechanical-department expansion will be expended within the Santa Fe yards here, replacing antiquated units.

Briefly, the proposed units of the 1924 program, the largest single chapter in the city's industrial history, are:

A boiler shop with tank shops and stripping pit appurtenances, 600 by 160 feet and costing approximately $900,000 with mechanical equipment.

Extension of the erecting shed of the locomotive department.

Installation of a new transfer table.

Extension of the present machine shop, 200 by 196 feet.

Steel sheds and a flue shop appurtenance serving the principal units of the locomotive department.

TO EMPLOY HUNDREDS

Construction will begin within ninety days, it was announced. Through 1924, the building of the proposed units will employ hundreds of men and when the program is completed, more than 3000 workers will comprise the shop personnel, doubling the forces of the locomotive department.

It had been previously announced that $1,750,000 had been alloted to development projects in the San Bernardino shops, the centralized repairing facilities on the Santa Fe's California lines.

FAITHFUL GIRL WILL BE FREED

Indictment of Secretary of ex-City Manager of Ontario to be Dropped

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 23.—Pretty Erna G. Lampson, former confidential secretary to F. E. Alford, convicted ex-City Manager of Ontario, whose faithfulness to her employer led to an indictment by the grand jury on charges of perjury on the witness stand, will not be tried.

When Miss Lampson's case is called in the Superior Court on the 30th inst., Dep. Dist.-Atty. M. O. Hert will ask that the indictment be dismissed, he announced today. Mr. Hert directed the prosecution of Alford, now serving from two to twenty years in San Quentin for the theft of $60,000 from the Ontario city treasury.

New Oil Well at Richfield Blows Up; Catches Fire

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Oct. 23.—With a roar and an explosion that rocked the town of Richfield, near here, Morse well No. 5, being drilled by the Union Oil Company on its Richfield lease, blew off the casing head this morning and burst into flames. The well had been put on production last night with an estimated flow of 3000 barrels daily, and it is thought that sand carried in the first oil had choked the outlet pipe, throwing thousands of pounds of gas pressure against the casing head. A. H. Brown, superintendent of the lease, and his assistants, H. W. Landreth, W. C. Perry and F. F. Richardson, narrowly escaped injury when the blazing derrick crashed to the ground.

For more than two hours the well burned with a clear gas flame reaching hundreds of feet into the air, then as the head of gas apparently spent its force, the blaze subsided to the height of neighboring derricks.

Steam pipes were connected with six large boilers, and early tonight it was reported here that the fire was under control.

The Morse well, which had been drilled to a depth of 4700 feet, is located in the center of the Richfield district, and may be saved, oil men say, if the intense heat has not melted the drill pipe.

MAN WITH ODD GUN HELD

Santa Ana Man, Believed Demented, Terrorized Neighborhood With Home-Made Weapon

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 23.—A home-made shotgun, probably the oddest looking weapon ever to come to the attention of local officers, brought the arrest today of Jay L. Melton, 1103 East Washington avenue, said to be under parole from the State Hospital for the Insane.

Melton was arrested in a walnut grove near his home after neighbors had notified officers that a supposedly insane man was terrorizing the neighborhood with a gun. He resisted arrest and officers strapped his hands to his sides and removed him to the County Hospital, for observation.

The weapon, which Melton had made himself, was bound together with baling wire. The stock was from a roughly hewn piece of pine, and the barrel was made from a piece of lead pipe large enough to hold a 12-gauge shotgun shell. Tht firing part was manufactured from a piece of wooden curtain pole with a spike for a firing pin. A plunger from an old army rifle took the place of a trigger, which was fastened with a spring. When pulled back and released it would strike the firing pin.

Melton did not have an opportunity to fire the weapon, and officers are wondering what would have happened to the gun and him, had he done so.

UPHOLDS MUZZEY'S HISTORY

Fresno Teacher Says It is Good Textbook and is Not Un-American

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Oct. 23.—Critics of Muzzey's History of the United States, challenged in Sacramento and condemned by the American Legion Post and the Elks' Lodge there, are "barking up the wrong tree," according to a statement today by Delbert A. Brunton, principal of Fresno High School.

"I have used the Muzzey History as a text book and have taught from it," said Brunton. "I regard it a very good text book and I don't think that Muzzey is un-American. It is my opinion that the principles of patriotism are well taken care of in our public schools."

The disputed book is used as a text book by 378 pupils of the Fresno school.

Brunton left his position, a wife and five children to serve two years in the Army during the World War.

ONTARIO COUNCIL ORDERS STREET CUT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, Oct. 23.—City Attorney Jolliffe was instructed today to commence proceedings looking to the opening of Allyn street between Nocta and A streets. At present there is no street running north from A street between Campus avenue and the east city limits and the demand for such an artery has become so urgent that the City Council decided that the matter of condemning a street through at this point could no longer be delayed. The improvement will be paid for by an assessment district.

Glendale Picks Engineers for Sewer Survey

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Oct. 23.—The City Council yesterday afternoon appointed the Burns and McDonnell Engineering Company of Kansas City and Los Angeles to prepare plans and estimates for the construction of a sewer system. The statistics will be not only for the system within the city of Glendale, but are for plans and specifications for the entire outfall main specified by the city of Los Angeles which will serve the San Fernando Valley towns as well as Glendale.

This estimate is required before the bond election will be set. Every effort will be made to complete the survey and estimate within thirty days.

BEACH MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF ASSAULT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 23.—Eli Rias, 1814 Seventh street, is in the City Jail and Harry Krystal, a vegetable peddler, is at his home, 2219 Fourth street, badly bruised as a result of a quarrel which police assert occurred when Krystal is said to have endeavored to collect a small account from Rias. Krystal had Rias arrested and he is held in lieu of $100 bail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. Rias will appear before Police Judge M. R. King, Friday afternoon.

RANCH BUYER HELD BY POLICE

Accused of Giving Check for Auto

Authorities Question Deals of Stranger

Operations Here, Coachella and Glendale

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Oct. 23.—Investigation of activities of R. A. Watson, who is said to have been looking for good farm property in the Redlands, came to a sudden end today when a complaint was sworn out by Artie Osburn, charging him with giving him a worthless check for auto hire. Arthur Police Walter Thomas of Glendale where Watson was arrested, and brought him here.

Watson came here ten days ago and made a deal for the Osburn property. He gave the Tipton as reference but when Tipton returned Watson down and out. The real estate man stopped the deal. Watson engaged with concern to buy a date in Coachella. He gave a check for $1000, it is said, to bind the deal and then deposited a check on a Billings (Mont.) bank, telling the Coachella bank, police say, not to cash checks against the account until word was received from Montana, as the check was worthless.

Watson then returned to Redlands and gave checks for an auto hire and for other purchases. He next hired Osburn to drive him for a trip to Coachella, then on to Imperial and Los Angeles. There he made several payments, it is asserted, on an automobile, giving as security the machine. He also gave Osburn a check and sent him home to meet him in Los Angeles yesterday. Watson did not show up. Later in the afternoon Osburn here got a query from the bank about Watson's standing. Osburn planned to buy a home in Redlands, he said. The police were asked to hold him. A complaint was sworn out by Osborn and Watson was brought to Redlands today. The check deposited with the Coachella bank was reported to be worthless.

VENICE WOMAN DEAD BY [illegible]

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Oct. 23.—[illegible] was found dead in her bedroom at her home today, a victim of heart disease according to Dr. I. L. Hoffman. Mrs. Arthur had been dead for hours when found by her husband. Following the death of Mrs. Arthur's mother, two years ago, from the same cause, Mrs. Arthur is said to have lived in fear that she would die in like manner. She is said to have told neighbors that she did not suppose she would live but wished them to make an investigation.

Sick house organs
take a long time to die

The first six issues of a house organ or company magazine are usually good ones.

Then the interest in the magazine begins to taper off. Not so many people come forward with things to be printed.

The editor gets "ideas" and "suggestions" for articles instead of carefully written contributions.

Issuing the magazine becomes an irksome job instead of interesting work.

Somebody suggests that it is costing too much.

Nobody wants to stop it and nobody has time to improve it, and so it goes on from month to month, lacking vitality but still struggling.

House organs are good advertising, and, properly managed, are good investments; but there are ways to make them valuable that must be followed.

better paper for better printing

S. D. Warren Company has prepared a book on house organs. This book was written after a study of the methods and objectives of firms issuing successful magazines of this type. Copies of this book may be obtained without charge from paper merchants who sell Warren's Standard Printing Papers.

TANGIER STATUS QUESTION RISES

United States to Insist on Open-Door Policy

Algeciras Conference Act is Used as Basis

Parties to Treaty Reminded of Old Agreement

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—The State Department at Washington has made known to the powers represented in the conference over Tangier—Great Britain, France and Spain—that it takes for granted that any regime adopted for Tangier will be in accordance with the decisions of the Algeciras conference as respects the open door. The department's view was communicated in a sort of informal memorandum.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The State Department made public today the communication sent the 20th inst., through the embassies in London, Paris and Madrid to the British, French and Spanish foreign offices which presents informally the position of the Washington government with relation to the coming conference in Paris as to the future status of Tangier. The text of the communication follows:

"This government has noted with interest that the experts now conferring in London with regard to the question of Tangier have decided that a plenary conference for the determination of the future status of Tangier should be called. While this government has no political interest in Morocco, it is a party to the act of Algeciras under which act nationals of the United States enjoy certain rights and privileges in Tangier.

"This government takes this occasion to remind the governments participating in the conference regarding Tangier that its fundamental interest in Tangier is to maintain the principle of the open door, that is, the equality of commercial opportunity and to secure adequate protection for the life, liberty and property of its citizens as stated in its ratification of the act of Algeciras. It presumes that at the forthcoming conference nothing will be done to interfere with the maintenance of the principles above mentioned or the rights or interests of the United States."

WIFE OF EX-GOVERNOR OF ARIZONA IS DEAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—Mrs. Nora B. Kibbey, wife of former Gov. Joseph H. Kibbey, died here last night after a long illness. She had been a resident in Arizona since 1889 coming from Richmond, Ind. She was distinguished for mental and social gifts, and was a leader of club and church work. Her husband and two children survive. A son, Walter, is an attorney in Los Angeles and a daughter is the wife of Judge J. S. Jenckes of this city.

Vigorous Old Age

WHY separate youth and old age with a deep and ever-widening abyss?

The bloom of youth and the hardy, ruddy glow of Old Age—sixteen and sixty—should be separated only by the span of years and not by varying differences of physical wholesomeness.

Vigorous old age is within the grasp of all. S. S. S. brings that hale and hearty feeling back with a rush. Rich red blood is the greatest enemy of weakening, health undermining Old Age. S. S. S. builds Red Blood Cells. Rich, red blood coursing through your veins sweeps away impurities that retard the proper functioning of your system. Old Age—once a dreaded agony becomes a vigorous, enjoyable, care free time of life.

S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks—scientifically prepared and proportioned. Welcome Old Age when it comes. Be ready to withstand the attacks of diseases that follow in its wake. Meet Old Age with a hearty handshake. A handshake that speaks of well being—of a vigorous, clear thinking, red blooded constitution. S. S. S. is your best friend when Old Age is seen rounding the corner. Get a bottle and drive care and worry away. All leading drug stores carry it. The large size is the more economical.

THE GUL-BRAN-SEN REGISTERING PIANO

HOLDING A NOTE

SINGERS like to put individuality into a song.

They like to hold a note and know the accompaniment will hold with them.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano has a sensitive Tempo lever. The slightest touch of a finger will retard or hold any note, following the soloist perfectly.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano plays any song in seven different keys.

It also plays the same song as a piano solo or as an accompaniment, only, registering the exact touch of the performer. THINK OF IT!

These are outstanding features of the Gul-BRAN-sen "Registering" Piano. Nothing else like it.

Made in "Registering" as Well as a Combination of Both Registering and Reproducing Models.

"The City Beautiful"

Burbank Next! Hollywood, Long Beach, Glendale—NOW BURBANK!

Leaping from a population of 2900 to more than 10,000 in less than three years, Burbank is launched upon a development that will duplicate the most sensational community growth in the history of California!

And there lies Benmar Hills, right in the geographical center of Burbank — in that part of the city which must and will be the heart of the GREATER BURBANK. A marvelous opportunity! Benmar Hills is so laid out that, as Burbank rises to her full growth she will stand out as the most perfectly balanced, most carefully and completely planned city in America.

Benmar Hills is a 30-minute drive from Los Angeles —via Glendale and San Fernando Boulevards, or 20 minutes from Hollywood, via Los Feliz and San Fernando Boulevards, or Cahuenga and Dark Canyon Boulevards.

Last Sunday nearly $50,000 worth of lots were sold at Benmar Hills. Undoubtedly next Sunday will see this record even surpassed. For any early choice let us take you out at once.

GOLD STRIKE REPORTED IN LIMA, PERU

Liner Here Brings 1000 Tons of Valuable Ore from South America

First news of a rich gold strike in the Andes Mountains directly back of Lima, Peru, was brought here yesterday by the W. R. Grace liner Santa Cruz, arriving from Callao and Valparaiso with 6000 tons of nitrate, gold and silver ore, and twenty cabin passengers.

L. J. Rosenshine, local mining engineer who discovered the gold vein in the heart of the ancient Inca empire, was one of the passengers. Mr. Rosenshine's company already has three mines in operation in the Lima district, the Santa Cruz on this voyage having more than 1000 tons of the ore in her holds. Another prominent passenger disembarking at Los Angeles Harbor was Rex Smith, American Vice-Consul at Callao. Mr. Smith, accompanied, by his family, comes to Los Angeles for an extended leave.

The Santa Cruz, on her southbound voyage, towed the Peruvian bark Belfast, fully laden with lumber, 6000 miles to Valparaiso, without accident. Homeward bound, she struck a hurricane off the Chilean coast, which forced her to heave to for two days.

CHANGE FOR SHIP LINES' OPERATION

McPherson to be Put in Charge Here of Hawaiian Company

Important changes in the operation and management of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and McCormick, McPherson & Lapham, two of the Pacific's largest shipping organizations, will be effected on January 1, it was learned at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday.

Walter S. McPherson on that date will assume full charge at Los Angeles of the management and operation of the local activities of the American-Hawaiian lines, maintaining a fleet of more than thirty fast freighters in intercoastal trade. The American-Hawaiian interests will thus automatically sever their connection with McCormick, McPherson & Lapham, which firm is now Coast agent for the steamship line.

E. L. McCormick and R. D. Lapham, remaining members of the firm, will continue as agents on the Pacific Coast for the around-the-world and trans-Pacific services of the Osaka Shoshen Kaisha, the Hawaiian lines of the Matson Navigation Company and the intercoastal tanker fleet of the Mallory lines.

Until the recent severance of interests, McCormick, McPherson & Lapham also were representatives here of the United American lines, maintaining a European-Pacific service. The United American fleet will hereafter be handled at Los Angeles Harbor by the Los Angeles Steamship Company, in line with a triangular agreement, which includes also the cargo fleets of Crowell & Thurlow, Inc., and Houlder, Weir & Boyd.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Panama Pacific Line is to specialize in the carrying and advertising of California fruits and vegetables, with the sailing of the first ship eastbound, inaugurating again the Panama Canal route, it was announced here today. The Keondyck will be on the way to this port and the first ship will leave for the East November 10. A special study of conditions affecting the transportation of California fruits, both fresh and canned, is being made by the company, particularly in regard to the effect of climatic conditions upon the commodity in transit.

A strong north wind and tide delayed for nearly an hour the docking of the Matson Line steamer Matsonia which arrived here today. The vessel's cargo consisted of 64,320 cases of pineapples, 51,741 bags of raw sugar, 4146 bunches of Hawaiian bananas, 314 tons of pfunder, and mail.

COOS BAY (Or.) Oct. 23.—Laden with a cargo of lumber, the steamer Martha Buckner sailed this morning for Los Angeles.

The steam schooner Chosa, laden with logs, arrived this morning from Los Angeles.

The schooner Osprey from Gold Beach arrived today with general freight.

Bringing miscellaneous freight for the Coos Bay district, the steam schooner Daisy arrived today from San Francisco. She will return south with lumber.

TACOMA, Oct. 23.—Wheat and flour in the foreign and coast trade will be moving from here tomorrow and during the remainder of the week, local ship movements indicate. In the coasting trade, the Roth Alexander of the Admiral Line will be loading wheat tomorrow.

The Tokohama Maru which already has loaded 1000 tons of wheat will be taking flour and wheat until Saturday morning.

Today, the Silverado loaded 2500 tons of wheat for California, while Thursday the big motorship Africa is due to load flour for the Orient. The President, McKinley after loading flour and wheat sailed for Manila this evening.

The Yogin Maru is listed for arrival tomorrow to load 1200 tons of wheat in addition to a quantity of other cargo.

To load 750,000 feet of lumber for California, the motorship Calliopea operated by the Admiral Line arrived this morning. This company also had the Cottage in from California with cargo for Tacoma. The vessel also had considerable outward cargo.

The barge Baden is expected tonight to load for California.

With a cargo of nearly 2,000,000 feet of lumber, from local and Everett mills, the William R. Chamberlin, Jr., sailed late this afternoon for Los Angeles Harbor.

With a fair amount of general freight, the Arizona Maru arrived today and sailed late in the evening for Vancouver, B.C., to discharge freight. She will return here next week to load for the Orient.

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—The steamer Lillian Lockenbach docked last night with 1060 tons of miscellaneous freight from Atlantic ports. The big carrier is scheduled to get away by Wednesday night with about 720 tons of freight loaded here.

The tiller boat Columbian, formerly the King and Wing rescued operations at the mouth of the river today, relieving the Onondia of the part of Portland. The latter craft is expected to leave Fort Canby Thursday with a cargo load of equipment for use in jetty work on Clam Bay.

ARTORIA (Or.) Oct. 23.—The steam schooner Carson arrived last night from Los Angeles and went to Westport to load lumber.

After loading 750 long tons of wheat at the terminals here, the steamer Rossmoor City sailed this morning for the United Kingdom.

The steamer Pawlet is loading 2,000,000 feet of lumber at Westport and will sail tomorrow for the Orient.

SEATTLE, Oct. 23.—Three vessels, the British steamships Nitheroy and Albion Star and the Dutch motorship Drenthdyk, were today loading 180,000 boxes of apples for shipment to London, Liverpool, Southampton, Stockholm, Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

Capt. John A. Johnson, master of the wrecked motorship Kennecott of the Alaska Steamship Company, who disappeared from the tug Venture Sunday, was a veteran mariner, being in the service of the Alaska Steamship Company for twenty-five years. Capt. Johnson was commended by the New Foundland government for the heroism of the crew of the New Foundland schooner Mabel Dorie in distress in the North Atlantic, April 29, 1919. Immediately after the death of Capt. Tennant, acting of the United American Lines, the steamship Kermoor, a former German vessel, now flying the American flag, arrived here bringing several hundred tons of cargo.

The United American Line steamship Sudbury of the International fleet arrived here today with 900 tons of general merchandise from New York.

The Cary-Davis tug Elnatan which was reportedly a total loss on Guillayute River bar two weeks ago, may be salvaged, according to word received here today from Mora, Wash. The tug went ashore in a fog and was abandoned to the underwriters, supposedly in a position impossible of salvage.

After inspecting and overhauling, the steamship Griffin, operating in the coastwise service of the McCormick Line, got away last night for Portland.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 23.—G. Turnbull, a fireman of the steamer Prince John, was lost Sunday near Prince Rupert, Capt. Needler was unable to say whether the man tripped and fell overboard, or was knocked off the deck by heavy seas.

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 23.—The American four-master schooner Annie M. Campbell, after being towed to sea, sailed tonight for Hobart, Tasmania, with 600,000 feet of lumber.

ANACORTES, Oct. 23.—The motorship Apex after discharging 22,000 cases of salmon, sailed for Kodiak this morning for orders.

BELLINGHAM, Oct. 23.—The steamer Willapa was loading canned goods, shingles and lumber for the Atlantic Coast today.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Flames yesterday interrupted the work of the Union Oil Company's crew drilling Morse No. 4 well, as they were completing a well that gave every evidence of being the biggest producer in the entire Richfield district.

The hole was down 4310 feet and baling was started late Monday night. Early Tuesday morning a connection sanded up, causing terrific pressure on the control gauge. A few minutes later the control valve blew off and a volley of rocks and sand burst from the casing head, mingled with a large quantity of oil. It is supposed that the rocks, striking the steel casing, caused a spark which ignited the gas, converting what promised to be an excellent flow of oil into a column of fire.

No attempt was made to fight the fire at first, as it was believed the well would sand up, and automatically kill the blaze. But when the hours passed, and the fire showed no signs of diminution, live steam was brought into play, and the fire quickly extinguished.

The flow from the well was estimated by drillers to be approximately 3000 barrels per day, which is one of the biggest producers yet brought in at Richfield.

Water is Troublesome

Although the production average was maintained last week at Santa Fe Springs, the gas pressure has fallen off considerably throughout the field, according to reports. The production was bolstered up by incoming wells. It is the contention of prominent oil men that the next few weeks will see a decided drop in Santa Fe Springs production. Besides the decrease in gas pressure, many wells are experiencing water troubles. In the southern part of the field eleven wells are reported to be showing from 2 to 7 per cent water and five wells have quit entirely. In the north and west section five wells are showing approximately 2 per cent water.

In the eastern part of the field there are at least seven wells showing from 2 to 5 per cent water. In the area which has undergone particularly close drilling there are thirty-one wells running water as high as 10 per cent.

Whiston Plugs Back

The H. L. Whiston well, Bicknell No. 1, located just west of Montebello, is said to be having considerable water trouble. The bottom of the hole is 4444 feet. The well has been plugged back to 4405 feet and they are cleaning out now at around 4400 feet. It is reported that the drillers intend to continue plugging off until a successful water shut-off is obtained.

"Laddie Boy" Report

In answer to inquiries from unitholders residing at some distance from this city, State Corporation Commissioner Daugherty has given out information to the effect that the organization which set out to drill the Laddie Boy Wells No. 1 and No. 2 struck one dry hole and decided that it would be unwise to drill another in that locality.

"The company represented to this department that in order to prevent a certain loss from drilling the second well beside the dry well they acquired a new lease at Signal Hill and obtained a new permit from this department. It was necessary for this company to obtain additional funds. The investors that now come into the company will have a prior right to any production obtained at Signal Hill.

"After they have recived 100 per cent from their investment the investors in the Laddie Boy Wells No. 1 and 2 will participate until they have received 100 per cent of their investment. Thereafter, the trustees are entitled to 15 per cent under the terms of the new permit."

Fishing Job

Great trouble is being experienced by the Prudential Petroleum Company in completing Baehr No. 1A well in the Signal Hill field. The well is located at Luella and Signal Hill Boulevard. The crew lost some tools in the hole September 1, and they have not yet been recovered. The hole is down 4502 feet, and ready to complete as soon as the tools are taken out.

The first well drilled by the Prudential people in this location encountered considerable trouble, failing to effect a water shutoff, and being forced to skid the rig and start a new hole. The new hole is now down 3511 feet and progressing nicely. It should be completed in two or three weeks, according to H. F. Armstrong secretary of the company.

Down 4160 Feet

Herwick No. 1 in Signal Hill field, at Frankfort and Linden, is down 4160 feet, according to drillers. The company plans to take it to 4800 feet. Armstrong and Guthrie are drilling the well.

Start Wildcat

The Kramer Consolidated Oil Company expects to start drilling a wildcat well twenty miles west of Barstow, according to D. F. Wilson secretary of the company. Mr. Wilson asserts that good showings were encountered in the first well drilled in that district, which was not completed because of water trouble. A 100-foot sand showing 45 gravity oil was found, he asserts.

The Western Pacific Oil Company, which is also drilling a wildcat near Barstow, is reported to be down 1900 feet with good show-

Keystone Hopeful

The Keystone well, located on Harbor Boulevard, is showing up exceptionally well. According to Mr. F. Black, geologist for the property, it is possible to correlate the formations perfectly with those in the Torrance-Lomita district.

The lithology of the formations is the same but they are encountered about 250 feet higher up, showing that the apex of the structure would be in this district or that a separate structure exists here, it is believed.

There is said to have been an oil showing at 426 feet. There have been several gas showings between 1944 and 2600 feet. At 2640 feet, a core was taken, it is reported, to have shown oil sand. They are now drilling at 2936 feet and expect to continue to perhaps 3200 feet, and attempt to bring the well in if the showings are as satisfactory as at present. Only two minor fishing jobs have delayed the work. The well is located on a thirty-seven and one-half acre lease.

Standing Idle

The U. S. Royalties well at Compton, located north of Cardena No. 1 on 161st Street, is standing idle. It is believed to be waiting the findings of the drill in Gardena No. 1.

Choice Business Locations Protect the Security

REAL estate mortgage bonds on well-located business property, when secured and issued in accordance with the rigid requirements of conservative underwriters, represent a very sound and desirable form of investment. Following are three offerings which have been favorably received by discriminating investors:

(a) First Mortgage 6½% Serial Gold Bonds of Taft Building, Inc. Secured by choicely located real estate having a sound value, exclusive of improvements, in excess of the total bond issue. Value of improvements is also in excess of issue. Earning capacity appraised at nearly four times interest requirements. Yield 6½%.

(b) First Mortgage 6½% Serial Gold Bonds of Fifth and Broadway Building Company. Secured by leasehold and improvements in heart of business district, having an aggregate value (based on appraisal of leasehold and replacement cost of building) of more than double the total bond issue. Net income more than 2½ times maximum interest requirements and subject to increase as present leases expire. Yield approximately 6.60%.

(c) First Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds of Fifth Street Building (Paris-Walker Fifth Street Store). Secured by valuable leasehold and improvements in one of the finest retail locations in Los Angeles, and backed by an ample income. Yield 6.40%.

NEW NATIONAL BANK'S DEBUT

Latest Financial Institution Makes Its Bow Today

Pacific Opens in Los Angeles Athletic Club Building

List of Officers and Directors Announced

The Pacific National Bank of Los Angeles will formally open for business today in temporary quarters at 650-652 South Olive street on the ground floor of the Los Angeles Athletic Club Building. The new institution has a paid-up capital of $1,000,000 and surplus of $200,000.

E. M. Smith, president of the new bank, is president and owner of the E. M. Smith Company, Los Angeles Pump and Supply Company, The Emsco Steel Products Company, The Emsco Tool Company, Peerless Pump Company, Western Drop Forge Company, The West Coast Asbestos Company and The Titan Refinery. He is also interested in numerous other manufacturing concerns throughout California.

Fred Swensen, vice president of the new bank, was formerly associated with the California Bank for twelve years.

J. E. O'Rourke, vice president, was formerly Comptroller of the California Bank and previous to that time served with the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Italy.

B. P. Glenn, vice-president, was formerly an officer and director of the California Bank and is at the present time a member of the firm of Brewster-Glenn Company, local insurance brokers.

Ed B. Murray, cashier, was formerly manager of the Westlake Branch of the California Bank.

K. D. Powelson, assistant cashier, was formerly assistant examiner in the National Banking department.

Fred M. Hughes, assistant cashier, was previously manager of the Moose Jaw Branch of The Royal Bank of Canada.

The note department of the new bank will be in charge of R. G. Johnston, formerly assistant manager of the Westlake branch of the California Bank.

E. M. Smith, president, yesterday, commenting upon the opening of the new bank, stated that the organization consisted of men who were interested in manufacturing and industrial development of Los Angeles and Southern California.

"The swift progress of Los Angeles is continually creating new wants, leaving broad gaps that must be filled, and this new national bank will help keep pace with this city's commercial development," he said.

The directorate comprises the following business men representing a diversity of interests:

E. M. Smith, president Pacific National Bank; Edgar F. Hughes, of the legal firm of Goudge, Robinson & Hughes; B. P. Glenn, vice-president Pacific National Bank; Charles Murray, contractor; Harold G. Ferguson of the Evans-Ferguson Corporation and formerly trust officer of the California Trust Company; James F. Holleran, physician; F. E. Woodley, Los Angeles County Supervisor, Third District; James E. Long, president and owner Western Malleable Castings Company; Fred Swensen, vice-president Pacific National Bank; T. J. Crumpton, general field manager, California Petroleum Corporation; A. H. Huston, vice-president Pacific National Bank; H. G. Everett, State manager and director, Lincoln National Life Insurance Company; Walter G. L. Smith, manager E. M. Smith Company; A. M. Culver, general agent Oceanic Steamship Company; J. E. O'Rourke, vice-president Pacific National Bank; Adolph Ott, rancher; Robert E. Millsap, construction engineer; H. W. Reynolds, loan and investments; C. Edgerton Carter, physician; Melvin A. Bresee of Bresee Brothers; F. F. Stetson, president Los Angeles Can Company and Pacific Closing Machine Company; Miles S. Gregory, Los Angeles City Council; A. A. Frambach, capitalist.

It is the intention of the new bank to remain in its temporary quarters for a period of one and a half years, during which time a completely equipped and modern banking room will be prepared for its use.

The Pacific National Bank is the second national bank to recently enter the downtown business district.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Investment Bankers Assemble for Annual Conclave; Growing Trade With Mexico; Credit Situation

BY CHAPIN HALL

A convention of unusual interest and importance to investment bankers generally throughout the United States, and especially to members of the craft in Los Angeles where it is so well represented, will convene in Washington on Monday next when the Investment Bankers' Association of America will be called to order by President John A. Prescott of Kansas City.

This well grounded and efficient organization was entertained last year in California, the actual convention dates at Del Monte being preceded and followed by visits to Los Angeles, the Yosemite and other points of interest in the State. So charmed were the delegates with what they saw and so thoroughly "sold" upon the merits of California underwriting that a return engagement was tentatively agreed upon, and Los Angeles will be a contender for the honor of entertaining the 1925 meeting.

The Washington convention will contain a liberal representation of California members, several Los Angeles leaders being now on their way to the convention city where more than a thousand bankers from all parts of the United States and Canada will participate in a program which includes subjects of interest to the banking and commercial interests of the country in the development of which investment bankers play an important part through the underwriting of securities, the proceeds from the sale of which are used to expand business activity.

In calling the convention the president said:

"The association has co-operated with the various departments of the government, among them the Treasury Department, in matters of income-tax regulations and the short-term financing of the government requirements; the Post-office Department, in the suppression of fraudulent use of mails; the Interstate Commerce Commission, in railroad legislation, and with many other branches of the government. It now seems fitting that we should convene in Washington and meet the heads of the governmental departments, learn of their problems and continue our co-operation."

The governors of the association will meet in Baltimore on Saturday.

The annual election is expected to result in the following officers and governors being chosen to serve: President, John W. Prentiss, Hornblower & Weeks, New York; vice-presidents, Walter S. Brewster, Russell, Brewster & Co., Chicago; Philip S. Dalton, Coffin & Burr, Inc., Boston; J. A. Fraser, Dominion Securities Corporation, Ltd., Ontario; Arthur Sinclair, Jr., Estabrook & Co., New York; Eugene E. Thompson, Crane, Parris & Co., Washington; Secretary, Frederick R. Fenton, Fenton, Davis & Boyle, Chicago; treasurer, John G. Brogden, Strother, Brogden & Co., Baltimore.

CROSS BORDER BUSINESS

The Chamber of Commerce invasion of Mexico plus a rapidly growing individual and trade travel to points of business origination on the other side of the international boundary is having a marked effect upon the volume of commercial exchange between the two countries and especially between Mexico and Southern California, which is the natural market for a great part of the southern Republic.

Exporting manufacturers and jobbers are receiving new encouragement almost daily to send their representatives and their products into Mexico and a conservative extension of these amicable and conservative extensions is a source of a growing assurance in the establishment of an important trade relationship between the two sections.

Along this line Prof. Harry T. Collings of the University of Pennsylvania, who has just returned from a trip to countries contiguous to the Caribbean Sea, is quoted as saying that mining and oil development would undoubtedly be active in Mexico, but gave warning that during the boom period merchants might be inclined to overstock and later suffer from a surplus of high-priced merchandise. He declared that politics and social conditions have much more to do with business in that country than in the United States. Interest rates are very high, while foreign exchange and the discount on silver also work to the disadvantage of the Mexican business man trading abroad.

In Panama business is good and the people are not troubled with politics. The financial condition is good, turnover is rapid, credit is safer than in other countries in that region and they are now interested in agricultural development.

The Central American markets are for the United States. The turnover is slow and collections are the same. Exchange is somewhat unfavorable. Germans are strong in Central American countries, but have not been able to live up to their contracts, have sent inferior goods and are not formidable competitors.

In Colombia an economic depression prevails. Reduction in prices and small crops of coffee have reduced purchasing power. Colombia's banking system takes care of the export business. It was established by experts from this country.

Venezuela is much disturbed by political conditions, but the section around Maracaibo is thriving because of oil development. The Standard Oil Company and other large interests are increasing their staffs and business. In this section business is active, anything can be sold, and there is a quick turnover.

CREDIT SITUATION

The Credit Clearinghouse weekly report shows a slight decrease in purchasing throughout the country, which is in line with the moderate decline in productive activity noted in another column. The decrease is equal to about 1 per cent and is said to be most marked in the Pacific Coast and mountain sections, although the local evidence, so far as the Los Angeles metropolitan district is concerned, is to the contrary. In the middle agricultural and eastern sections there is a somewhat larger decrease as compared with last week. The South is the exception, showing increased purchasing as a whole, an increase contributed by seven States and coinciding with the high price of spot cotton, just as the drop in the mountain section follows the fall in the price of copper.

IMPERIAL "SUNKIST"

The Imperial Grapefruit Growers' Association has signed the exchange contract for the shipment of its 1923-24 crop, estimated at around thirty cars, according to recent announcement. This association packs the "Barbara Worth" brand, which will hereafter carry the Sunkist label and wrappers.

Canada's Bond Market Tight; Rush to Cover

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Oct. 23.—When Canadian banks found themselves short of bonds to meet the requirements of their clients this week there was a wild rush to secure sufficient debentures to cover requirements and prices advanced.

Both the five-year and the twenty-year issues made by the Dominion government this month have been taken up and there are very few good securities available for investment.

A few Ontario bonds and a small quantity of British Columbia's are in the market, but it is almost impossible to get Dominion refunding bonds.

Bond dealers here expect the recent loan to run to par inside the next two weeks.

American insurance companies and other large concerns looking for a safe place for their sinking funds sent them over to Canada when the loan came on the market first, and these large blocks were cut off before the Canadian investor got a chance to put in his money.

The bond market has not been so tight for years and dealers are expecting a breakaway soon whereby funds will go into industrial development.

Debt Agreement With Mexico to be Carried Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23. — Finance Minister Pani announced today that the Lomant-De La Huerta debt agreement will stand and all of its terms be complied with, payments covering the public debt having been arranged for in December. The Ministry states that 25,000,000 pesos are now on hand and that taxes at the end of November will net another 8,000,000 pesos, totaling 30,000,000, which is Mexico's obligation for this year.

Autonomy of the Mexican Congress has again been restored by the approval of reforms which were presented to Congress by President Obregon three years ago, by which a permanent Congressional commission will be empowered to call extraordinary sessions.

Laborites at Vera Cruz and Manzanillo called off the long strike last night.

RAZORS AND WHISKERS

American safety razors are holding their own in the favor of the men of Denmark in spite of keen competition from lower-price German and domestic products. It is estimated that about 90 per cent of the safety razor blades sold in Denmark are of American origin, while German blades have declined rapidly in popularity.

Similar results are being obtained in Mexico, where the American safety razors and blades are easily outselling the German products.

200% INCREASE IN FIVE YEARS

NO CITY in the United States has equalled Los Angeles in the remarkable increase in earnings from income properties.

A recent survey completed by the LOS ANGELES INCOME PROPERTIES, INC., owners, builders and operators of fine income properties, revealed facts substantiating the above statement.

Selecting ten income properties in various sections of the city, all of different types of construction, the survey showed that over a period of five years these income properties had increased their earnings over TWO HUNDRED PERCENT.

With the increasing necessity for income properties, through the remarkable growth of Los Angeles, there is no security today that offers the investor such complete safety and high yield as full participation in large-scale income property operations.

A limited number of shares of the first issue remain unsold. The present offering, which includes one share of common stock, par value $100, given as a bonus with each share of 7% Cumulative, Participating, Preferred stock, $100 par gives the buyer double purchasing power.

Some Preferred Stocks Are Better Than Many Bonds

For example, Standard Oil of New Jersey, United States Steel and the 7 1-2 per cent cumulative first preferred stock class "A" of The Celite Company. Judged by all tests, these three stocks belong in the front rank of prime investments.

But, deduction of the personal property tax reduces income from the first two to little better than savings bank interest, while The Celite Company first preferred stock, exempt from such taxation in California, returns the full

7½%

With assets equal to more than $1,000 a share and earnings before depreciation of more than 16 times dividends, this stock at $100 a share and accrued dividend, is one that excels many bonds.

If You Wanted to Profit—from the details of others you could buy street improvement bonds and then wish that the property owner was unable to meet his payments, for this would give you possession of assets worth in excess of your investment in the securities.

It's True—

that every investor should see to it that the security on which he is loaning his money is of sufficient value to pay him a profit of at least 100 per cent should he be required to take over the security in lieu of his invested capital.

Our street improvement bonds we offer give the investors this margin of security as a very minimum. In ninety-nine per cent of our offerings the ratio is far greater than 100 per cent. It will be found to show absolute tangible security five hundred to a thousand per cent greater than the loan.

These bonds pay seven per cent interest, free from taxation. The Public Records of 25 years are proof of their safety.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Mexican Bonds Drop

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Today's bond market displayed a somewhat heavier tone with the volume of trading falling off slightly. Traders attributed the general decline to sensational selling under the leadership, largely of foreign government issues.

Renewal of the operations of the United States government sinking fund and some buying attributed to British sources gave the Liberty bond a better tone, all of the active issues recovering small gains.

While most of the French government and municipal bonds receded on selling influenced by overseas news reports, the feature of trading in the foreign group again today centered in the Mexican bonds. The 4's fell off 2 1-4 and 5's 2 3-8, both touching new lows for the year. All of the papers gave considerable space to yesterday's late afternoon statement by Thomas W. Lamont of the international committee of bankers, on Mexico, that he believed Mexico would carry out her agreement to resume interest payments but the response was further selling.

A few secondary railroad mortgages moved forward but a greater number moved lower. Traders reported that the volume of inquiries for the public utility liens continued large but sales were made. Rubber, sugar and copper company linens were offered freely and several issues moved downward.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Following are the closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, 636 South Spring street.

NEW YORK CURB

Ford Lowers Rate

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Heavy trading in Fark & Tilford, which was pushed up to the record 1923 high of 34½, featured today's curb market. Fluctuations in other active shares were narrow and irregular with gains and losses about evenly divided.

Declaration of a dividend of 10 per cent on the stock of Ford Motor of Canada as compared with a dividend of 15 per cent in October, 1922, failed to bring out any large volume of stock, only two sales of 10 shares each being recorded, one at 4.19 and the other at 4.17 as compared with 4.17½ the previous closing price. Cleveland Motors dropped 1 point to 21½, a new low.

Standard Oil of Indiana closed unchanged at 53¾, while fractional improvement was noted in Standard Oils of New York and Kentucky. Humble, Vacuum and Gulf of Pennsylvania. Cards Syndicate and Pennsylvania Mexico Fuel each dropped a point.

Mexican Eagles were heavy, the 5s of 1918 dropping 1 point to 31½.

Get This Clearly in Your Mind

We are NOT promoters, and are NOT interested in making money selling stocks to the public!

WE ARE BUILDERS, every man of us, and have netted over 60% yearly the past two years, building and selling income and residential property in the Hollywood and Wilshire districts.

Through our plan of operation we turn over every dollar of our capital—three to four times yearly at a 20% profit each turnover. We get back every dollar of our money at each turnover.

We offer you an opportunity to invest with us—for the simple reason that additional capital means more construction, a greater number of turnovers and larger profits. Our stock is all Common and carries full voting privileges. 12,000 shares are for public subscription. It is selling at par, $10.00 per share. Twelve months from today you will be glad to pay $20.00 per share for this same stock.

Folks, if you are really interested in a safe investment that will earn dividends you can't get elsewhere with similar safety you had better make your application now—or if you think you need further facts, use the coupon below.

Check These Five Points

1.—Plant operating at capacity and able to handle only a portion of the business available.

2.—Average earnings the past four years more than 40% on the invested capital.

3.—Plans for largely increasing company's production facilities, now under way, should result in even greater earnings.

4.—A definite and liberal dividend policy insures excellent returns to the shareholders.

5.—Capable management and a sound financial structure (as evidenced by the ratio of current assets to current liabilities of approximately four to one) insure stability and safety.

Organizing a Company?

The success of your financing and the progress of your business depend largely upon the form of your organization. Whether your Company should be a corporation or a "common law" company; its capitalization; kind of shares, negotiations for permit to sell securities, etc., are matters concerning which an organization specialist may render valuable aid. Your organization matters can be promptly and efficiently handled through this office, all legal work being supervised by an organization attorney of many years' experience.

Capital for Financing

Have you an organized Company in which shares or stock may be sold to investors, or have you a contemplated company that you desire to quickly finance? My financing service includes details of presenting company stock or shares to Los Angeles investors. Every new project cannot succeed by this or any other plan, but if your proposition is legitimate and meritorious you can expect quickest and surest returns only when your investment offer is presented to selected known investors and "followed up" by personal salesmen. There is ample capital in the Los Angeles field for any new project of merit.

Before organizing your company or deciding your financial plans, you are invited to consult with me personally. Many years in Los Angeles and many pleased clients attest to the complete satisfaction of my service. Call, phone or write.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Selling pressure was applied again to United States Royalties yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, which carried the stock from an opening sale of 25 to a final price of 23. Other petroleum shares were quiet and unchanged. United Oil selling at 20½. Union Oil Associates at 45 and Associated Oil at 28 1-4. Standard Oil of California advanced 1-8 of a point to 51 5-8.

Black Range and Oatman United was susceptible to weakness, the former dropping 1½ cents to 5½, and the latter losing ½ cent at 5⅝, after selling as high as 6½ cents. United Eastern advanced 3 cents to 1.52, and Simon Silver sold at 4½ cents.

Activity in Miller & Lux 7s of 1930 occurred at 102 5-8, a gain of 1-8. Southern California Telephone 6s of 1947 sold at 91 1-4, off 1-4, and Union of California 6s of 1926 were taken at 98 5-8, a loss of 1-4 of a point. San Joaquin Light and Power series B 6s of 1952 declined 1-8 to, 97 1-4.

METAL MARKETS

Daily Review
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 23.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Chicago steel makers are confident of more buying for car building purposes. Eastern pig iron quotations are farther to around $23 which is stimulating purchases. Pittsburg sheet mills are fairly busy but Youngstown mill actively subsides except for Japanese tonnage. October offers middle western steel fabricators a unique opportunity for figuring as did September and awards are well distributed. Copper is lower at New York at 13¾ to 13¾c. Lead is firm at 6.53 to 6.57½, with zinc steady at 6.80c St. Louis. Tin is quiet at 40¾c."

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—California oranges at today's auction advanced 10 to 15 cents per box. Sales totaled 21 cars; the market quoted at a range of $2.35@3.10 per box. California lemons met with a fair call, five cars selling at $1.35@5.25. Florida grapefruit met with a good demand 12 cars being sold at $1.38@7.13 per box.

Florida oranges ranged $1.38@3.50 per box, two cars selling.

Peaches showed poor quality and the market was weak and lower. Muskmelons were nominally held in the absence of any sizable offerings.

CANNED FOODS

The market for canned foods on spot held its firm tone with the statistical position a very strong one. Tomatoes show strength on all sizes in Eastern markets and the pack has been rather closely sold up. The situation in California, according to reports is strong with leading packers withdrawn in the absence of heavy supplies. Canned corn continues in a firm position.

DRIED FRUIT

The local office of the Sunmaid Raisin Growers today announced that the organization had withdrawn sulphur bleach Thompsons at 11 cents for fancy and 13 cents for extra fancy f.o.b. California. The prices quoted were named on Friday last in this market and the association announces that it has no more to offer at these prices at this time. It was said at the local office tonight that the withdrawal may be a permanent one.

New crop California dried apricots continue to show a steady tone in coast markets, dispatches state. Prices on the general line have stiffened and little is offered for shipment. The independents have only limited quantities still to offer, it is reported here.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—So far as the day's news acted as an influence on the markets, the news again came from the Rhineland, affecting foreign exchange; which acted as though at first increasingly alarmed and then much reassured by what was happening in the Separatist movement. The stock market gave no evidence of being influenced one way or the other by the cabled news; but this surprised no one, when the stock exchange has not only paid a minimum of attention all along to Europe's vicissitudes, but has had great difficulty in making up its mind how even domestic news should be "reflected."

Today's was another of those new familiar markets in which active stocks moved in one direction for part of the day and in the other for the rest, in which there was no general tendency, even during these fluctuations and in which the net result was pretty evenly divided between advances and

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, Octubre 23.—Los Estados Unidos no van a intervenir para nada en los negocios interiores de Alemania, ni intentarán ejercer influencia alguna, ni en pro ni en contra del actual gobierno.

La comisión investigadora del Senado ha descubierto que ha habido fraudes y derroches en el asunto de establecer al local y los planos para el hospital del departamento de veteranos en California, así como falta de honradez en el tratamiento médico que se ha dado a los hombres.

La conferencia de los gobernadores ha sido calificada por Wayne Wheeler, consejero de la Liga contra Cantinas, como un paso acertado, y este mismo señor ha tildado de necias las opiniones del Senador Moses sobre la prohibición. Un brillante informe sobre la actitud del Alcalde Dever, de Chicago, ha recibido el Comisionado Haynes del Director Moss.

Se Suspenden las Garantías en Mérida

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Octubre 23.—Fueron suspendidas hoy en Mérida, Estado de Yucatan, todas las garantías individuales, según mensajes recibidos aquí. La orden de suspensión emanó de W. Carrillo, Inspector de Policía de aquella ciudad. Por ella ha quedado prohibido, que vehículo alguno transite pasada la media noche, así como que los peatones anden por las calles después de las diez de la noche.

El señor Carrillo es hermano del gobernador del Estado, y la orden de referencia fue dada por él con el fin de impedir la reorganización del partido liberal de Yucatan, que le adversario del partido oficial que apoya a Felipe Carrillo para la gubernatura. El partido liberal se compone de elementos antibolcheviques. Ya se ha dirigido un memorial a Obregón, quejándose de estas órdenes violatorias de los derechos constitucionales.

NOTAS LOCALES

El Teniente Fiscal Joos Pide una Limpia en la Cárcel del Condado

La audiencia preliminar de ayer en la sala del Juez Hahn, de la Corte Superior, en el asunto de cinco de los siete gendarmes de patrulla de Long Beach acusados de corrupción de menores, se señaló por una enérgica protesta contra los tribunales de "kanguros" organizados por los presos de la cárcel del condado para juzgar a sus compañeros de prisión, y una petición de que se haga por el gran jurado una investigación de las condiciones de dicha cárcel.

El Teniente Fiscal Joos, que representa a la sociedad contra los policías acusados, abrió la ofensiva contra la cárcel del condado, revelando que Frank G. Henderson y George M. Sheffield, dos de los gendarmes acusados, habían sido brutalmente golpeados por sus compañeros de prisión, después de haber sido juzgados por un tribunal de "kanguros". Fueron por fin trasladados del departamento 1 al departamento 4, a petición de ojro preso a quien Henderson había aprehendido. Tal declaró el citado procurador.

De Coo Discute sobre si Renunciará su Cargo

Mañana se espera regrese el Alcalde Cryer al Ayuntamiento, después de sus vacaciones, y va a ocuparse en crear la armonia entre el Jefe de Policia Vollmer y la Junta de Comisionados de Policía. El Alcalde ha recibido peticiones de varias iglesias, en las que se le insta a destituir a De Coo por no haber cooperado con el Jefe Vollmer. De Coo, en el mitin celebrado ayer por la Junta de Comisionados de Policía, ofreció renunciar siempre que también renunciara De la Monte, pero este comisionado se rehusó a hacerlo.

DEPORTES

Futbol

El equipo de balompié de la Universidad de Sudcalifornia regresó ayer de Seattle; donde los protegidos de Elmer Henderson perdieron un juego de 22 a 0 contra los poderosos once de Washington. El próximo sábado contenderán los Troyanos con Stanford en Palo Alto.

Boxeo

Ayer se rehusó la comisión del boxeo de Nueva York a levantar la suspensión de Joe Lynch, campeón mundial de pesos bantam, a pesar del testimonia del médico del tenedor del título, de que, debido a una lastimadura, hubo de cancelarse su pelea con Joe Burman, en la que iba a disputarse dicho título el viernes en la noche.

Baseball

Long Beach no ha abandonado sus ninas de entrar a la postre en la Liga de la Costa del Pacífico, como una de las ciudades de dicha liga. Los hombres de negocios de esa ciudad playera convinieron e proporcionar lo necesario para conseguirlo, trayendo a uno de los equipos de ligas mayores a entrenarse en Long Beach durante la primavera.

NUMERO 82

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

Los lectores de estas Pláticas que, en su mayoría, han leido la Historia de los Estados Unidos, saben cuán intensa fue la oposición que se le hizo a Lincoln para ser designado por segunda vez candidato a la presidencia de la República. Entre la gente de su mismo partido se formó un grupo de reformadores radicales, del que el público consideraba jefe a Chase, ministro de Lincoln, y llegaron hasta celebrar la convención de Mayo 31 de 1864 en Cleveland, de la que resultaron designados los Generales John C. Fremont y John Cochrane para presidente y vicepresidente, respectivamente; pero estos candidatos se retiraron después.

La Convención Nacional de la Unión, que se reunió el 7 de Junio siguiente en Baltimore, y a la que todos los estados, salvo los confederados, enviaron delegados, aprobó los actos de la administración y nombró candidatos a la presidencia y vicepresidencia, respectivamente, a Abraham Lincoln y a Andrew Johnson. A pesar de la acerba hostilidad y de la vigorosa campaña de los demócratas, que habían designado candidato presidencial al General McClellan, y que sostenían que la guerra había sido un fracaso, fue elevado de nuevo Lincoln a la primera magistratura por una mayoría sin precedente en el colegio electoral. La votación fué en éste de 212 por 21. El 4 de Marzo de 1865 tomó otra vez posesión de su cargo el gran Emancipador, y pronunció el siguiente discurso inaugural:

Conciudadanos: Al presentarme por segunda vez a prestar juramento del cargo de Presidente, hay menos motivo que en la primera para pronunciar un discurso extenso. Parecía lo adecuado y pertinente en aquella ocasión exponer con algún detalle el programa por desarrollar. Ahora, transcurridos ya cuatro años, durante los cuales se han exigido constantemente declaraciones públicas sobre cada punto y cada fase de la gran contienda que aún absorbe la atención y ocupa las energías de la nación, pocas cosas nuevas podrían exponerse.

El avance de nuestras armas, del que principalmente pende todo lo demás, lo conoce el público tan bien como yo: y es, así confío, razonablemente satisfactorio y alentador para todos. Con grandes esperanzas en lo porvenir, no aventuro ninguna predicción respecto a él.

Hace cuatro años, en ocasion análoga a ésta, todos los pensamientos convergian ansiosamente hacia la guerra civil amenazante. Todos la temían y todos procuraban evitarla. Mientras se pronunciaba desde este lugar la oración inaugural, enderezada toda ella a salvar la Unión sin necesidad de guerra, andaban por la ciudad agentes sediciosos que se esforzaban en destruirla por medio de la guerra—que trataban de disolver la Unión y dividirse sus frutos mediante ajuste. Ambas partes condenaban la guerra; pero una de ellas quería ir a la guerra antes que permitir que la nación sobreviviera, y la otra aceptaba la guerra antes que dejarla perecer; y la guerra estalló.

VANDERBILT TO BUILD LIBRARY FOR SCHOOL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—W. K. Vanderbilt, a former pupil of the Evans School, now located near Tucson, will build a library for the institution as a remembrance of the days of his attendance. The school, one in which outdoor sports and riding are specialized, is after English models. The head master, H. David Evans, is of Cambridge, and his assistants mainly are from English colleges. Among the students have been sons of Theodore Roosevelt and Gen. Leonard Wood.

POLICEMAN IS LOSER IN DAMAGE ACTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 23.—A Superior Court jury verdict has given $2500 damages to L. M. Colvin in his suit against George W. Harding, a former Phoenix policeman, who killed the plaintiff's son, Wylie Colvin, about a year ago. The officer stated that he had fired at the tires of a car young Colvin was driving when the latter refused to stop, and that the bullet had ricocheted from the pavement. A Superior Court jury found him guilty of manslaughter, but later he was released from the penitentiary on bond after appeal to the Supreme Court, which still has the case.

KICKAPOO INDIANS WILL BE PAID

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HIAWATHA (Kas.) Oct. 23.—Uncle Sam soon will make settlement with the Kickapoo Indians. There are 224 members of the tribe near here, and final shares will range from $200 to $500. Every child in the tribe will receive payment. All expect the final settlement will have been made to Washington. It was three years ago when the government planned building an irrigation sawmill near here for the Indians' use. This was abandoned and money appropriated for the purpose has been drawn out in dividends.

COUNTY JAIL CONDITIONS SCORED AT POLICE TRIAL

Grand Jury Investigation is Urged by Prosecutor and Judge; "Kangaroo" Court Hit

A strong protest against "kangaroo" courts conducted by officers in the County Jail for the purpose of trying fellow-officers and a demand for a grand jury investigation into jail conditions marked the preliminary hearing yesterday in Judge Fricke's department of the Superior Court of five of the seven Long Beach patrolmen charged with contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joe Ford, prosecuting the case, opened his attack on the defense with the statement that Frank Anderson and George M. Sheffield, two of the accused policemen, had been transferred from Cell 5 to Tank 1 of the jail at the instigation of a prisoner arrested by Anderson, had been given a trial in a "kangaroo" court, found guilty and then unmercifully beaten by their fellow-prisoners.

PRISONERS MARKED

Anderson and Sheffield, both of whom were in court, exhibited black eyes, bruises and lacerations about the head and scalp as evidence of the "sort of justice" meted out to them by the "kangaroo" jury.

The treatment of the accused officers was declared an outrage by Ford. He asserted that the policemen should never have been placed in the same tank with ordinary felons and that the District Attorney had especially requested that the accused officers be kept apart from other prisoners.

"There should be a thorough investigation at the County Jail," Ford concluded.

COURT CONCURS

"I shall direct the minutes of the court to show this matter has been brought before me," Judge Fricke answered. "A thorough investigation is necessary at the County Jail. It is a credit to your office, Mr. Ford, that you have brought this matter before me. It is my suggestion that you take the case before the grand jury and make an investigation of conditions at the jail."

Mr. Ford indicated that he would follow the court's suggestion.

Jack Chambers, 14 years of age, who with Clara Shipp, 14, is said to have participated in the drinking parties with the seven officers, was on the stand the first day. He testified that the drinking parties which he attended were held in the officers' homes with the consent of the officers' wives. He told of the occasion when he stopped at a Long Beach intersection to ask directions.

GIRL TELLS OF TRIPS

Chambers stated further that she and Clara Shipp had been taken to the homes usually in front of the Long Beach police station when they were off duty and that they usually went for long rides in automobiles leading out of the city.

Names of officers who are having been mentioned frequently during the preliminary hearing are Sheffield, Otto Frank, Harold Cone and Chauncey Linton. The hearing of Officers Brown and Charles Ehlers, the remaining two officers, has been postponed until November 1 at the request of their attorneys.

It was brought out that the automobiles were taken in an instance purchased by the girl's grandmother for $75.

COURT OF MEETING

It was testified that she first met Officer Brown at the intersection of Seventh and Locust streets in Long Beach and that introduced the other officers in the party.

Chambers and Sheffield accompanied Chambers girl, her 16-year-old friend, Clara Shipp on the night of the ordinary occurrence of the ride. On two occasions, it was asserted, she returned from two of the officers' homes, she said, once with a drink and kissed her. Officer Brown bestowed his affections upon her during the course of the night rides.

Two Chambers admitted under

NEW ISSUE SUGGESTED FOR HIRAM

Relativity of Man Rated Excellent Material for Campaign Thunder

California's "enfant terrible," Senator Hiram, will have enough campaign material to keep him spouting for some time to come if he adopts the suggestions incorporated in a letter received yesterday by L. M. A. Phaque from San Diego. The writer is doubly generous. He not only makes a number of suggestions but also requests that the 10 cents offered by Mr. Phaque be turned over to the Senator for car fare. Apparently he has been present when Hiram indulged in his favorite sport — railroad baiting — and wishes to salve the Senator's feelings to the extent of a few free rides.

Mr. Phaque is not certain whether he will follow out the suggestion contained in the letter in regard to the 10-cent prize. He is waiting for more suggestions.

Mr. Phaque's San Diego correspondent writes:

My Dear Mr. Phaque:

The Golden Rule was discovered some 2000 years ago and has been thought of ever since but has never been given a practical test. The best stomachs in the world have and are ruining their digestion eating overtime and formulating laws to get around it. The Ministers preached, Alimony has preached, sobbed and prayed for it and then stolen softly away to the booth and voted against it.

Now, if instead of agitating lamp posts for traffic officers or the evolution of pollution, your charming personality could induce Mr. Johnson to take up the relativity of man I am sure it will take up and absorb the eloquence of the noble Senator from California, and while he may not be the most ideal representative to introduce the measure, I guarantee that it will keep him busy while you pull your stuff.

Since the Senator cannot ride on a stretcher like the noble Romans and as the bankers will refuse to carry him until they see the price of the ride, may I be permitted to request you to remit the 10 cents to Mr. Johnson for car fare and overhead.

WATER SURVEY ORDERED

Engineer Authorized to Study Colorado Plan to Tap New Supply for City's Future Needs

Following the recent inspection trip of Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply to the Colorado River, the Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday authorized the chief engineer to make preliminary surveys to determine the feasibility of bringing a portion of the waters of the river to Los Angeles.

The adoption of the resolution is considered the most important step taken to insure the city of the future and the adjacent metropolitan area an adequate water supply since the beginning of the Owens River Aqueduct project.

Chief Engineer Mulholland said that he will at once place in the field several crews of engineers to make the surveys along the Colorado River, and the results of their investigations will be laid before the Public Service Commission at the earliest possible date.

The resolution of the board adopted yesterday was as follows:

"Resolved, that the Board of Public Service Commissioners authorize and instruct Chief Engineer Mulholland to make preliminary surveys to determine the feasibility of bringing a portion of the waters of the Colorado River to the city of Los Angeles for domestic, industrial and other useful purposes; and

"Resolved, that such surveys have in mind an adequate water supply for this city as well as other municipalities which might be furnished with water by the same project."

The present Aqueduct will supply a Los Angeles population of over 2,000,000, but Chief Engineer Mulholland is now seeking water sources for Los Angeles of tomorrow with a population far in excess of 2,000,000.

CITY PARK DEVELOPMENT

Association Organized to Promote Centers of Beauty in Los Angeles District

Organization and co-operation of civic, commercial and official interests in development of parks and playgrounds in the Los Angeles district will be the object of the Los Angeles Park and Playground Development Association, which was ushered into being last night following a gathering at the City Club.

Membership in the association, according to the plan adopted by the temporary organization, will consist of three classes: One representative from each organization interested in parks and playgrounds; one representative of corporations; one representatives of departments of city government. A board of directors consisting of seven members and an executive committee of seven will conduct the affairs of the association. Officers of the executive committee were elected last night and will serve until January 1. They are Frank Wiggins, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce; W. H. Pierce, chairman of the park committee of the City Planning Commission; Dr. A. A. Hummell, chairman of the park committee of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce; F. A. High, secretary of the Boyle Heights Improvement Association, and Dr. F. C. Langdon.

It is planned that members of the executive committee shall draw up a list of organizations that are interested in the plans of the association, work out details of the preliminary organization and have a definite plan of procedure to submit at the next meeting of the association, which is expected to be within three weeks.

Talks emphasizing the necessity for a centralized body to carry on the work of obtaining parks and playgrounds for Los Angeles were made by William Mead, president of the Los Angeles Planning Commission and chairman of the Board of Freeholders; Mr. Pierce, Van M. Griffith, Commissioner of the Park Department; G. Gordon Whitnall, secretary of the City Planning Commission; George Damon, secretary of the

Fast Liner Arrives on Maiden Voyage as Freighter

Mount Carroll
Entering Los Angeles Harbor. United American steamer and her commander, Capt. Carroll E. Higgins.

CARGO SHIP MAKES SPEED

Converted Liner Docks at Local Port Eighteen Days After Sailing from New York

Proof that fast freight commerce rules even trans-Atlantic passenger trade was brought to Los Angeles Harbor yesterday in the arrival from New York of the new liner Mount Carroll, on her first visit to Pacific waters and on her first voyage as a cargo carrier.

The speedy turbiner, launched only two years ago as a trans-Atlantic passenger carrier on the New York-Hamburg run, came out from New York under the colors of the United American Lines in eighteen days elapsed time.

COMMERCE JUMPS

Commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts has grown at such an unexpected pace during the past year, however, that the Harriman interests last summer converted the Mount Carroll and her sister ship, the Mount Clinton, into express freight carriers. The costly cabins and saloons were torn out to make room for the flood of intercoastal commerce, thus making the twin ships two of the fastest cargo carriers afloat.

On her initial visit the Mount Carroll brings 3000 tons of east coast general freight for Los Angeles alone. She will be followed, it was announced yesterday, by the Mount Clinton and a great fleet of similar fast steamers.

Capt. Carroll E. Higgins, commanding the Mount Carroll, was one of the outstanding heroes of the naval transport service during the World War. As commander of the transport U.S.S. Kentuckian Capt. Higgins successfully brought his ship, loaded with troops, five times through fights in the Atlantic with German submarines. The Kentuckian also brought home the first load of California veterans of the A.E.F. to reach America.

His present trim command was built in 1921 at Chester, Pa., for the United American Lines and plied in passenger trade for a year before her conversion. She is a twin-screw turbiner of 440 feet length, with a beam of fifty-seven feet, thirty-six-foot depth and a registry of 11,240 deadweight tons.

The trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused of murdering her wealthy husband, Fred Oesterreich, was continued until December 5 yesterday, according to the announcement of Dep. Dist.-Atty. W. J. Clark. It had previously been planned to go to trial tomorrow. Mrs. Oesterreich is now free on $50,000 bonds, obtained by her attorneys, Frank Domingues and H. L. Giesler.

Mr. Clark said that the homicide squad had assembled a more complete chain of circumstances against the widow than was introduced in her preliminary hearing before Justice Baird last July when she was held to answer to the Superior Court.

Oesterreich was shot to death on the night of August 22, 1922, in his home on South St. Andrews Boulevard, and his wife was found locked in a closet on the second floor. At the end of ten months' investigation by Assistant Captain of Detectives Cline, Mrs. Oesterreich was arrested and charged with the crime.

Laborer Killed When Struck by Electric Train

Joe Patterson, a laborer employed by the Hammond Lumber Company, was killed almost instantly late yesterday afternoon when struck by an inbound Los Angeles Harbor Pacific Electric train at the intersection of Twentieth street and Long Beach avenue.

The victim had just stepped from an outbound train to Los Angeles Harbor and passed around it. He did not see the inbound train, stepping directly in its path. Hammond resided at 602 West Fortieth street.

COUNCIL ORDERS CROSSING LINES

"Stop-School" Marks Are Recommended for All City Schools

The City Council yesterday ordered the police department to paint broad white lines on the pavements at crossings used by school children so that the ordinance establishing these paths can be enforced. The paths are to be twenty-five feet in width and will be marked—"Stop-School." The ordinance requires all vehicles to come to a complete stop before crossing these paths.

The Council's public safety committee yesterday recommended that these paths be placed at crossings used by children attending private and parochial schools as well as those used by public school children.

GROWTH OF TRAFFIC AT PORT LARGE

Report Shows Increased Number of Vessels and Almost Double Revenue

The continued increase of commerce at Los Angeles Harbor was shown in a report submitted yesterday to the Board of Harbor Commissioners by Traffic Manager Sandberg which showed that during the month of September, with a total of 425 vessels, 145 more vessels were handled at the municipal docks than during the same month one year ago.

The increase in cargo handled over the city docks was 1,495,155 tons, while the city's revenues from handling of the freight was $94,902.56, or $54,877.61 more than was received during the same month one year ago.

The city's total revenues during September of this year from its port properties, including the municipal belt line and from pilotage fees, was $126,784.84.

COUNCIL VOTS FUND FOR ARMISTICE DAY

The appropriation of $1000 was authorized yesterday by the City Council toward the expenses of the Armistice Day celebration at the Coliseum on November 11. An equal appropriation has been made by the county.

BROTHERS' SHOW TONIGHT

Society and Film Folk Buy Boxes for Entertainment of Knights of Columbus Boy Uplifters

Final rehearsals of the twenty vaudeville and musical numbers that comprise the program of the Big Brothers' benefit tonight at Philharmonic Auditorium will be conducted this morning at 11 o'clock, under the leadership of Harry Girard, musical comedy star, who is acting as volunteer manager of the show.

The program is declared to be one of the largest and most varied ever arranged in Los Angeles. Girard's task today is to get the twenty acts properly arranged and instill enough snap into the show so that it will be possible to complete the program in a three-hour limit. In addition to those acts which already have been announced, several exceptional new features have been arranged for, contributed by the vaudeville theaters of the city.

THEATER PEOPLE HELP

The theatrical people have entered whole-heartedly into the work of promoting the benefit and have made possible a remarkable program of talent.

The only "act" which will not be rehearsed this morning is that starring Judge Edwin F. Hahn, Superior Court, Department Eight, who, in presiding over all juvenile cases in this district, is brought into direct touch with the work of the Big Brothers of the Knights of Columbus. Judge Hahn will be introduced tonight by Judge Paul J. McCormick and will relate briefly the history of the Big Brother movement and estimate its benefit to erring boys and girls.

According to the sponsors of the show there has been a heavy demand for tickets.

MANY PURCHASE BOXES

A number of motion-picture magnates and stars, as well as men and women active in society in Los Angeles, have bought boxes and will entertain friends for the evening. In addition, three boxes will be filled with youngsters from the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum and of the Junipero Serra Home, conducted by the Big Brothers, their attendance having been arranged for through the generosity of one of the society patronesses of the benefit.

All of the funds raised by the show are to be devoted to carrying forward the work of aiding young men and women, providing a home for the homeless and a helping hand to the friendless.

LARGE BUSINESS PROPERTY SOLD

Downtown Lot Consideration is $250,000

Many Deals Consummated; Total $2,700,000

Sun Drug Company Acquires Six More Stores

New real estate and building transactions consummated yesterday by local firms include the purchase of valuable downtown property, two ninety-nine-year leases, leases and purchases of branch stores by the Sun Drug Company, erection of four apartment-houses and other smaller buildings. An aggregate consideration in excess of $2,700,000 is represented in these deals.

One of the largest property transfers in the business district closed this week was reported yesterday by the J. W. Lewis Company, local realtors, after closing negotiations whereby Jacob Steinberg becomes the owner of holdings adjoining the southwest corner of Seventh and Los Angeles streets. Property involved adjoins the site of the Transportation Club Building now under construction on the corner.

According to E. A. Brashem, member of the Lewis organization, the lot has a frontage of 161 feet on Los Angeles street and is 122 feet in depth and was purchased for a reported consideration of $250,000, a high figure for property in that vicinity. History of the holding shows that the lot was acquired in 1892 for a sum less than $6000.

PROPERTY LEASED

Property near the northeast corner of Orange and Alvarado streets was leased for ninety-nine years to P. W. Cook and Warren H. Cook by J. B. Millard for a reported consideration of $867,000. H. M. Sheehan, local real estate man, states that the lessees will make a high-class improvement on the site as soon as adjoining property is acquired. The lot, located 100 feet north of Orange street, is sixty feet wide and 170 feet deep.

The southwest corner of Sixth and Meca streets, Los Angeles Harbor, was leased to Dr. Harry Spitzer by Mark Finley for an aggregate rental of $634,000. It is proposed by Dr. Spitzer to build a three-story business building on the property to cost at least $100,000. The proposed structure will have a frontage of 100 feet on Sixth street and 185 feet on Meca street.

A. J. Neve, vice-president and general manager of the Sun Drug Company, announced yesterday the leasing and purchase of six additional branch drug stores in various parts of Southern California as new stores in the Sun chain. The stores acquired include the South Hollywood Pharmacy on the southwest corner of Santa Monica Boulevard and Western avenue, a new store on the northwest corner of Sixth street and Western avenue, the Dutton Drug Company on the southwest corner of Ninth and Alvarado streets, the Green Cross Drug Company at 145 Ocean avenue, Long Beach, the Jensen Drug Store in the Jensen Arcade Building, 133 North Brand Boulevard, Glendale, and a store located on the northwest corner of Main street and Garfield avenue, Glendale.

BOUGHT AND LEASED

These six stores were either purchased outright or leased for a period from ten to fifteen years, and, according to Mr. Neve, an approximate figure in excess of $250,000 is represented in these transactions. When the store on the northwest corner of Sixth street and Western avenue has been opened it will be the thirty-eighth store in the Sun Drug Company chain.

Plans are being prepared by Thomas B. Morrison for the erection of a two-story apartment at 1421 Acacia street for A. L. French at a cost of $50,000. A one-story commercial building will be built near the northeast corner of Eighth street and Union avenue for Curt Rosenthal under the supervision of S. Tilden Norton and Frederick H. Wallis, architects. Cost is estimated at $50,000.

Public Library
1881 and 1923

Citizens of Los Angeles were proud of their library in the days when the city numbered 11,000 inhabitants. On December 11, 1881, the Los Angeles Times declared:

"The public library is one of the most popular institutions of Los Angeles. During last month 990 books were given out for home reading."

How amazed would be these citizens, if, looking ahead, they could see that during the month of September, 1923, their library would give out 290,760 books! How equally amazed they would be to know that the want ad department of the Los Angeles Times, which in 1881 consisted of an average of four advertisements per day, would grow to be the largest in the whole world!

The Los Angeles public library is growing daily in size and service, and so too are Times want ads, which, on Monday last, printed the enormous total of 4,441 separate advertisements.

MARY GARDEN TO SING FOR KHJ

Beautiful Opera Star Will Broadcast Her Voice from Radio Studio

Mary Garden will sing tonight for her largest audience. The voice of the beautiful opera star will be broadcast from KHJ, The Times radio station, at 9 p.m.

Only once before has Miss Garden sung for the radio and that was two years ago before receiving sets were in every home.

"I shall sing for the shut-ins and those thousands who could not otherwise hear me," said Miss Garden. "I will sing Tosti's 'Serenade' and 'The Sweetest Flower that Blows,' by Rogers."

Miss Garden will also speak informally. Georges Lauerwyns, nationally known pianist, will be her accompanist.

Her previous broadcasting experience was at the Auditorium Theater in Chicago.

Nurse of Aged Woman Accused of Robbing Her

A nurse brought from Michigan to care for Mrs. A. J. Willard, 90 years of age, last night overpowered the elderly lady in her home at 2115 Ocean Park avenue, Ocean Park, and took $100 from her, disappearing with the money, according to a complaint made to police by C. D. Willard, a son.

Mr. Willard said his mother recently came from Clarksville, Mich., to live with him in Ocean Park. As she was unable to travel alone, he said she employed a nurse in Clarksville to make the journey with her. Last night he said he and his wife went out for the evening, leaving his mother in care of the nurse.

When they returned, Mr. Willard said his mother was in an almost hysterical condition and said that after they had left, the nurse had taken her money from her and gone away.

Downtown Drug Store Robbed by Unmasked Yegg

A youthful bandit walked into the Court Drug Company's store at Eleventh street and Broadway about 9 p.m. yesterday, leveled a gun at H. B. Stewart, manager, and three employees, lined them up along the wall and rifled the cash register, escaping with $200 in cash.

Few customers were in the store at the time and the robber ordered them to stand quietly while he examined the money box. He was unmasked and worked with an assured manner.

An excellent description of the bandit was given police.

PHONE RATE CUT IS TURNED DOWN

State Commission, However, Raps Service Here

Company's Income Held to Bar Lower Charge

Program for Meeting City's Demands Ordered

Reduction of telephone rates in Los Angeles, excepting for joint-user service, was denied by the State Railroad Commission in a decision handed down yesterday. The decision was signed by Commissioners Seavey, Brundige and Martin. A dissenting opinion was filed by Commissioner Shore.

The case has been before the commission for nearly a year and was brought against the Southern California Telephone Company by City Attorney Stephens and other officials on complaints from Dr. H. G. Brainerd and others, principally members of the medical profession.

In an order that became effective January 1, 1922, the commission granted an increase of 50 per cent in rates with the understanding that the company would meet certain conditions in the way of adequate and satisfactory service by the end of July, 1922. The appeal to reduce rates or enforce compliance with these conditions was brought last fall.

UNFORESEEN EXPENSES

The commission now holds that when its former order was given it was impossible to foresee the tremendous demands that were subsequently to be made for increased service involving expenditures far beyond what had been anticipated; that these expenditures have brought the total expenses of the company to a point beyond its revenue and that reduction at this time would be inequitable if not impracticable.

The present decision requires the company to submit a definite program for meeting increased demands for service and assurance that such a program will be carried out. In denying that part of the appeal that concerns general rate reduction, the decision said:

OTHER FACTORS ENTER

"Rates cannot be determined on a consideration of relative service conditions alone, but the quality of service rendered must have a bearing upon the compensation to be paid therefor. Other factors, such as operating revenues from present rates, operating expenses, resulting return on a reasonable investment or rate base and the practical conditions under which the utility is operating, must be considered.

"In Decision No. 9584 the commission fixed rates estimated to give the company a return of approximately 5.1 per cent for the year 1922, which it was estimated would enable the company to render adequate and satisfactory service. The actual results for the year 1922 and for the year 1923 to date show that neither of these conditions has occurred. Service has not been made adequate or satisfactory and the return to the company has not amounted to that anticipated. The company's statement for the year 1922 shows a loss below operating expenses of approximately 2 per cent, and the commission finds, after making adjustments in accordance with the basis heretofore followed, that the return for 1922 was approximately 2.4 per cent and that a lesser return is expected for 1923.

CITES LARGE OUTLAYS

"The company, in face of this low return, has expended in new equipment to serve the public over $14,000,000 in 1922, and will invest over $15,000,000 in 1923, and from present indication an even greater annual capital expenditure must be made to meet the growing needs of Los Angeles and improve service.

"Under existing conditions, subscribers are given an inadequate service and the company earns an inadequate return. The company

CALLS D'ALERIA FAKE COUNT

Wife No. 2 Seeks Annulment on Grounds He Is Not and Never Was of the Nobility

"Count" Armand d'Aleria, man of many marital troubles, divorced husband of the widow of the late Senator George Nixon of Nevada, defendant in at least one breach-of-promise suit and altogether something of a star performer in the courts, was made defendant in marriage annulment proceedings filed in the Superior Court yesterday.

This time it is his second wife, Ruth Dennis d'Aleria, who is trying to pinch the "Count's" noble fingers in the matrimonial wringer. The second wife, it is said, is in theatrical work. And according to the charges in her complaint, the "Count" certainly made her work during the three months and six days she lived with him.

WEDS WEALTHY WIDOW

"Count" d'Aleria first popped into the national limelight as the young husband of Mrs. Katherine Imogene Nixon, wealthy widow of the late Senator Nixon. She was reported to be a little more than 50 years of age at the time of the marriage about six years ago. He told his present wife, she says, that he was only 19 years of age and that his mother forced him to marry Mrs. Nixon. Mrs. Nixon finally was divorced from him on grounds of cruelty.

As an aftermath to the d'Aleria-Nixon marriage and divorce there have been several court suits, two of them against Mrs. Nixon brought by detective agencies asserted to have been employed by her to shadow the Count. They declared she owed them money for the work.

It was during the hearing of insanity charges brought against the "count" by his mother, "Countess" Marguerite d'Aleria, in the local courts in 1921, that a letter said to have been written by the son was produced containing the passage:

"I'd give ten years of my life

DE COO DEBATES RESIGNING POST

Offers to Quit Provided De La Monte Gets Out

Will Confer With Mayor Before Taking Action

Decision Hinges on Result of Conference

Mayor Cryer is expected to return to his duties at the City Hall tomorrow following his vacation and will then take up the problem of bringing Chief Vollmer and the Board of Police Commissioners into complete harmony. The Mayor has before him requests from the Westlake Presbyterian Church and others, asking that the Mayor remove Commissioner De Coo, who was charged with not having cooperated with Chief Vollmer.

Commissioner De Coo, at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners offered to resign if Commissioner De La Monte would do likewise. Commissioner De La Monte declined.

OFFER TO QUIT DECLINED

"If we are embarrasing or hampering the Mayor," said Commissioner De Coo, turning to Commissioner De La Monte, "I am willing to resign if you are." Commissioner De La Monte replied: "I can see no necessity for my taking the action you suggest. We are going through a change of police administration, and it is the time for all of us to keep cool. Chief Vollmer is making a great success of his hard task, and many of the valuable improvements he is making have not yet been realized by the public."

To this Commissioner De Coo agreed, saying: "The Chief has a hard job."

Chief Vollmer, who was present during the discussion between the commissioners, said, "If my working eighteen hours a day with enthusiasm for my job spells success, then I'll put it over. Just give me time."

TO CONFER WITH MAYOR

Following the meeting Commissioner De Coo said that he had not decided whether or not he would resign alone, in view of Commissioner De la Monte's declining to resign. It is expected that Commissioner De Coo will confer with Mayor Cryer and that his action in quitting or remaining on the police board will depend largely upon the result of this conference.

VETERAN STATES WIFE GOT DEED BY COERCION

While he was suffering from shell shock, his wife Alice deceived him into signing an agreement in which he gave her a quitclaim deed to property valued at $5200, Kenneth Richards, a veteran of the World War, stated in a suit filed yesterday asking the courts to declare the contract invalid. Mrs. Richards induced him to sign the contract by threatening to bring the scandal of a divorce suit against him, Richards asserted. The purported contract, which was incorporated by Richards in his complaint, also declared that he had agreed to pay his wife alimony of $15 a week for a period of seventy-eight weeks.

CALLS D'ALERIA FAKE NOBLEMAN

for one look of tenderness from a young girl—though she be a woman of the streets—a terrible thought."

The young man was acquitted of the insanity charge.

Then Ruth Dennis entered his life. The "count" was at that time playing an organ in a St. Louis motion-picture house, she says. They were married there June 4, 1923. They separated September 10, the complaint asserts, just three months and six days after they were married. Mrs. d'Aleria II asks for an annulment of the marriage on the ground that she was induced through fraud to marry him.

She charges that he represented to her before their marriage that he was a member of European nobility and was a count with an income of $300 per week; that in discussing marriage with him she pointed out that her parents had to be supported and that she had to work to give this support; that in explaining his marriage to Mrs. Nixon he said he was only 19 years of age at the time and his mother drove him to it and that he informed her he had never lived with Mrs. Nixon as her husband.

The complaint then goes on to charge that all these statements are false and were made for the purpose of inducing the plaintiff to marry him. The plaintiff asserts that d'Aleria is not and never was a count, nor of nobility; denies that at the time of the marriage he was making $300 a week or was financially responsible or had a bank account. To the contrary, it asserts, he was heavily in debt and was unable to meet the most common expenses necessary to life.

It is further asserted that the Melbourne Hotel at St. Louis was holding his baggage for an unpaid bill. Also, that he never intended to, nor did he, support her parents and that from the time of the marriage until the separation she had to work "to support the defendant as well as her mother and father."

The complaint denies that d'Aleria was only 19 years of age at the time of his marriage to Mrs. Nixon but was 23 years old and that his mother did not force him to marry the wealthy widow.

Mrs. d'Aleria asserts that when she discovered what she says was the true character of the "count" she left him. She asks for an annulment of the marriage and the restoration of her married name, Ruth Dennis. The complaint was filed by Attorney Walter A. Little.

This will be the "count's" third whirl in divorce matters. He was first sued for divorce by Mrs. Nixon six years ago. But while the matter was pending in the courts, it appears they met in Reno, Nev., where they had first met when he was a musician in a theater there. A reconciliation was effected and the legal proceedings dropped. But she brought action a second time not long after and secured her divorce.

It also appears that d'Aleria was sued for breach of promise by a Miss Shirley Holmes following the divorce action. In June, 1920, he was fined $200 in San Diego for violation of the city's morals code.

Second Jolley Case Will Go to Jury Today

The case of Frank Sanseri, one of four men accused of an attack on 14-year-old Astrea Jolley, is expected to go to the jury in Judge Shenk's department of the Superior Court today.

George L. Sanders, defense counsel, will complete his argument to the jury this morning and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke will close for the State this afternoon.

Sanseri is the second of the quartet involved in the case to stand trial. William Joseph, 18 years of age, was found guilty the 18th inst., of attacking the girl, and sentenced to one year in the County Jail. The other two defendants in the case are Lee Finnell and Milton Handley.

ORGANIZE TO FORM PARKS

City Planning Association; John R. Freee, engineer of the street Opening and City Planning Commission; Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Mr. Mead stated the Board of Freeholders is in sympathy with the movement for better parks and playgrounds and has recommended that the new charter set aside 7 cents per $100 of city tax valuation for parks and playgrounds, of which 3 cents is to be for new projects.

"We should try to catch up for the neglect of twenty-five years in park and playground activities," said Mr. Mead. "The issuance of $2,500,000 in park and playground bonds with the levy in the taxes would enable Los Angeles to make up for the shameful neglect of former years."

Mr. Mead declared in favor of a metropolitan district for Los Angeles for park and playground activities. He cited results obtained around Boston as an example of what co-operation between Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach and other cities in this section would do. He suggested that this system be used not only for parks, but for boulevards, sewer systems, and possibly other utilities.

Mr. Whitnall reported the extraordinary growth of Los Angeles during the past year had further increased demands for parks and playgrounds.

"We must provide for the present and for the future," said Mr. Whitnall. "Now is the right time to start this work because prices will be higher. The growth of Los Angeles is shown in the fact that 1927 new subdivisions were laid out in 1922 while in the first nine months of 1923 there were 1057 new subdivisions."

The executive committee also was authorized to confer with the Board of Freeholders relative to the provisions for additional parks and playgrounds in the new charter.

HEAVY DAMAGES FOR MAN HIT BY AUTO

W. Bohle was awarded $20,000 damages by a jury in Judge J. Kuhn's machine was declared to have been hurled to the sidewalk by the force of the collision, knocking Bohle down. The iron works and Kuhn were joint defendant in the case.

Architect Roy Jones, designer of the studio building, has also prepared plans for a two-story frame apartment-house to be built by A. Larsen on Franklin avenue near Wilton Place to cost $50,000.

The northeast corner of Sixth street and Hartford avenue was sold yesterday to Dr. Peter N. Fisher by Frank Ryan, of the Metcalf & Ryan realty firm, for a reported consideration of $60,000. The property involved has a frontage of fifty feet on Sixth street and 150 feet on Hartford avenue. It is understood that a high-class improvement will be made on the corner within a short period. Negotiations were handled by the Hill-Freidman Company, real estate firm.

ANGEL CITY PUBLICITY PAYS WELL

All-Year Club Secretary Gives Tourist Figures to Realty Men

The continued influx of population and visitors, and the means of providing housing and living accommodations for the thousands of newcomers were the chief subjects of discussion at the regular bi-monthly luncheon of the Los Angeles Realty Board at the Elite yesterday noon. C. G. Milham, executive secretary of the All Year Club, and A. William Olmstead, director of the Extension Division of the University of Southern California, were the speakers, Godfrey Edwards of the Realty Board, presided as chairman.

Interesting figures were given by Mr. Milham relative to the work accomplished by the All Year Club, through its advertising campaign, in bringing visitors to Southern California, particularly during the summer months. In 1923, according to railroad and hotel reports, the advertising campaign increased the number of visitors by 100,000. During that year the All Year Club spent $200,000 for advertising in magazines and newspapers.

This year the All Year Club has used fifty metropolitan newspapers and national magazines, and Mr. Milham estimated that more than 68,000,000 of these advertisements were distributed. One railroad reported that between January and September 29,000 more persons came to Southern California than during the same period of the preceding year, and that 32,000 of these visitors came during the summer months. In May, June, July and August 700,000 persons came to Southern California by train, automobile and steamship, Mr. Milham declared, and that they brought with them $70,000,000 to spend. During these months $20,000,000 was put into circulation than was the case two years ago.

The All Year Club plans to increase the effort in 1924, and to spend $350,000 for advertising, Mr. Milham said. "It is sound business policy to attract more of these people while we have the good will of the world," he declared. "It means dividends in greater wealth, in greater community spirit, and in greater development in every direction."

Mr. Olmstead said that it falls upon the realtor to provide these newcomers with dwellings and with places in which to do business, and that the realtor must co-operate with the All Year Club in every respect. He spoke briefly of the work which the University of Southern California is undertaking in educating the realty men so that they will be better fitted to solve the problems attendant upon the growth of population. There are 700 men and women engaged in the real estate business in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Diego and other communities who are now enrolled in the real estate courses given by the University, Mr. Olmstead said.

Wife Poses as Other Woman; Traps Husband

"There were a lot of girl friends that Rex went out with," testified Clemmie Smith in Judge Summerfield's court, where she asked for a divorce from Rex Smith, "but Edna was the particular one which caused our separation.

"I had suspected him and Edna for some time," she continued, "and finally I called him up at his office and imitated Edna's voice as well as I could, though I scarcely knew her. But Rex fell for it, and I arranged to meet him at a downtown corner at 6 o'clock. I went down there and hid, and he came and waited for Edna for more than an hour. That was enough for me."

The court granted her a decree.

now is being penalized for present inadequate service by rates which permit it to earn a sum which is far below what is generally held to be a fair return upon the value of the property used in rendering the service. In view of these facts, a reduction in rates cannot be justified either in law or in equity. Even if the commission had the power under the law to reduce the present rates, such reduction could only tend to make it impossible to borrow further money for improvements, without which there is no hope that satisfactory telephone service can be rendered.

GROWTH TOO RAPID

"On the other hand, the company has assumed an obligation to render adequate and efficient service in the Los Angeles territory.

"If, for any reason, it has failed to keep pace with the phenomenal growth and development of that territory and now finds itself in a position where it must practically rebuild its entire facilities under conditions which necessarily interrupt and reduce the efficiency of the service, it must not expect the rate-payers to assume all the burdens and save the company from the result of its own lack of foresight or enterprise. Until the company is in a position to render a normally efficient service, it should not expect to receive a full or even an approximately adequate return."

Commissioner Shore in his dissenting opinion declares that "the Southern California Telephone Company, by its persistent and conspicuous failure to render an adequate service, has made itself liable to forfeiture of its franchise and had no just claim for any profitable return on its investment under present conditions of service. No measure within the authority of the Railroad Commission for the penalization of a utility that has for many years so conspicuously failed to meet its service obligations can justly be deemed too severe."

MINORITY FINDING

Accordingly Commissioner Shore gives it as his opinion that the commission should find and order as follows:

"That the facilities, equipment and service of the Southern California Telephone Company are utterly inadequate and inefficient.

"That the Southern California Telephone Company and its parent organizations, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, are not justified in receiving any profitable return upon their investment in the property of the Southern California Telephone Company in Los Angeles under present conditions of inadequate services.

"That the Southern California Telephone Company be ordered not to distribute any of its gross income except upon order by the Railroad Commission to its stockholders, or to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, or to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and that any rates ordered or sustained by the commission at this or any future time until the service has been adequately improved be allowed only upon this condition.

FOR SPECIAL RESERVE

"That any net earning of the Southern California Telephone Company over and above such operating expenses as may be approved by the Railroad Commission, together with interest on the company's funded debt, be set aside as a special reserve fund to be distributed under Supplemental order of the commission when, in its judgment, the telephone service has been brought up to a normal and adequate standard.

"That standards of telephone service, particularly as to hold orders for installation, completed telephone calls and reported trouble be established by the Railroad Commission and applied to this company not later than January 1924."

CONTENTION UPHELD

Commenting upon the decision, City Attorney Stephens made the following statement:

"I have examined the order of the State Railroad Commission in the telephone case and while the order denies our request for a reduction of rates to a point commensurate with the service rendered, it nevertheless finds squarely with the city upon our contention that the service is inadequate and unsatisfactory.

"I am pleased that the order requires a submission by the company of a definite program to meet more satisfactorily the growing telephone demands of the city and to give assurance of its ability to carry out such a program.

"I am also pleased with that part of the order directing further reports by the engineering department looking toward the granting of our request for the establishment of a standard of service.

"The order of the commission and the plain statement by Commissioner Shore ought to put a quietus to the very persistent rumors that the company contemplates making application for another increase in rates."

JOINT-USE RATE CUT

Concerning joint-use service, the company is ordered to place in effect November 1, a rate of $5.50 a month for private branch exchanges or intercommunicating service in place of the present rate of $9 a month. The decision said:

"It is apparent that the company can render to two or more subscribers joint-use service at a lower cost to itself than for separate individual line service."

The decision also establishes new rules and regulations for credit allowances in all cases where telephones are out of service for periods of one day or more from the time the fact is reported to or detected by the company. For each day out of service the company is required to allow 20 per cent of the monthly exchange service bill, so that five days out of service will cancel the bill for that month, but in no case shall the total allowance exceed the monthly exchange service bill.

How a Single Industry Spreads Prosperity

A most significant fact about an industry is the large number of people who benefit from it.

Take the cement industry, as an example;

The mills used 9,000,000 tons of coal last year. This meant 9,000 coal miners steadily employed—their families, numbering not less than 25,000, maintained—and along with them tradesmen and other people enough to supply the needs of a town of over 50,000.

That is, of course, saying nothing of the business created for coal operators and transportation lines.

Sacks are not so large an item in the cement industry as coal, yet 50,000,000 new sacks, representing 50,000 bales of cotton, had to be bought last year for replacements alone. Back of this were cotton planters, plantation workers, mill owners, mill operatives and so on—thousands altogether.

And consider these other requirements of the industry last year:

3,700,000 barrels of fuel oil
3,400,000,000 cubic feet of gas
15,000,000 pounds of explosives
32,000,000 pounds of grease and oil
1,700,000 linear feet of belting
4,500,000 firebrick for refining kilns
7,000,000 pounds of paper for bags
600,000 tons of gypsum

In addition the industry bought quantities of heavy grinding and burning machinery, locomotives, cars, rails, electrical and other necessary equipment.

In this way a single industry spreads prosperity to many others.

And so do the children

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation. Young children cry because of it; school children are hampered in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church st., Lynchburg, Va., Mr. Louis C. Grahl of 1569 Winton ave., Lakewood, Ohio, and innumerable others, give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of constipation, and have no sickness among their children.

Largest Selling Laxative

Every up-to-date family medicine chest should contain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and palatable aromatics, a prescription written 30 years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practised medicine 47 years. You can buy a bottle in any store where medicines are sold, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. We guarantee that if you will give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a child or for a few nights to an adult it will relieve any case of constipation no matter how chronic, or your money will be refunded.

10 Million Bottles a Year

Use it once and you will never again take coal-tar drugs in candyform, calomel or salts. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable laxative free from opiates and narcotics. It can be safely given to infants, yet it effectively moves the bowels of adults. It acts gently; does not cramp or gripe. Keep it in the house and use it for any indication of bowel obstruction such as constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, pimples and like skin eruptions. Give it early and it will break up a fever or a cold overnight. A spoonful proves it.

LOS ANGELES SUNDAY TIMES

TWENTY ASSIST ON RADIO BILL

Hours' Entertainment Given by KHJ

Theaters Lend Aid to "Times" Broadcast

Lexington Park Club on Program

BY K. G. ORMISTON.

The recipe for one full measure of sensational entertainment, comprising seven hours of radio broadcast, delivered to Radioland by KHJ yesterday, follows:

Twenty smiling and kindly persons of generous disposition, including instrumental musicians of unusual ability, tenor, soprano, coloratura and alto singers, speakers, humorists, explorers, authors, a symphony orchestra and orchestras that are not Hawaiian, fairy tales and canary birds. Mix well, season and serve.

A more explicit description will be given for the benefit of those who enjoyed and appreciated the delightful product, and to tell those who were only sufficiently curious to secure one or two bites of the goodness of that which they missed.

The noon broadcast period featuring Salvatore Santaella, pianist, and Lois Miccoll, flutist, appearing through the courtesy of the California and Miller theaters. Mr. Santaella, who conducts the Miller orchestra, required no introduction to Radioland, having appeared at KHJ often in the past. Lois Miccoll, whose musical education was obtained at the Conservatoire of Milan, was formerly flutist with the Portland Symphony Orchestra, directed by Mr. Santaella.

TWO FLUTE SOLOS

Two flute solos were executed with splendid technique, "Concertino," by Chaminade, and "Allegretto," from a suite by Godard. Salvatore Santaella accompanied the flutist, and also entertained with a piano solo, "Etude," by Macdowell. These artists of unusual ability and standing gave a fifteen-minute recital marked with consummate excellence.

The remainder of the noon broadcast was presented by members of the Huntington Park Lions' club. The club, in luncheon session in their den in Huntington Park, listened-in to the program, and its members stood up, contributed a dollar to the official kitty-waiter and sat down again, as directed by the master of ceremonies at KHJ.

Bishop William MacCormack of St. Paul's Cathedral addressed the Lions and Radioland generally concerning the present unrest of the world's peoples, and America's reason for the responsibilities which have been thrust upon her in establishing world peace.

Earl Newmire, president of the club, also spoke over the microphone concerning Lionism, and reported the activities of the club during several miles distant, much to the amusement of Radioland.

G. Ernest Hill, tenor, favored the noon audience with two solos. He was accompanied by Elbert Cramer and sang in fine voice.

The program last evening featured Burkman Brothers Hawaiian quartet, Ray, Ralph, Earl and Douglas, all good-looking and three of them single, entertained with that type of music which is ever popular and never fails to "bring down the house."

William F. Alder, explorer and author, gave the concluding talk of his intensely interesting series describing the life and customs of the Kia Kia cannibals. Last night's chapter related the last great feast of these gentle folk, who inhabit the "Isle of Vanishing Men."

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, spoke to Radioland in regard to the traffic problem. He compared the local conditions with those of Eastern cities which he has lately visited. Los Angeles needs the most efficient traffic system in America, because it has the greatest problem. The work of the commission was described in detail.

During the studio program, somebody turned the current on in that little brown door-knob suspended above Art Hickman's Orchestra over in Los Angeles Biltmore, and Radioland danced from Calgary to Savannah.

VICKERS'S GIRL TRIO SINGS

During the well-earned intermissions in the dance program, Vickers's Girl Trio sang for the listeners. Vickers's Girl Trio Nell Mitchell, Bettie Martyn and Alma Urquhart sang for the listeners. Their numbers were of a soft, appealing nature, "When Twilight Weaves," by Beethoven, and "Love's Old Sweet Song," being examples of a charming rendered recital.

Albert Bryant, tenor, possesses that type of voice which broadcasts well. He sang two appealing numbers, "Rose Marie of Normandy," by Del Riego, and "Angels, We Call Them Mothers Down Here," by Kalmer. Myra Belle Vickers played his accompaniments on the Knabe.

Mackie's Queen's Hawaiians presided over the matinee session. George W. Mackie played the ukelele, Sol Hoopii, steel guitar, and Lani McIntyre, guitar. This popular trio appeared through the courtesy of the Dragon Cafe, and put over an entertainment that flavored strongly of hula maidens dancing in the moonlight, clad in shredded wheat.

The Sandman, that kindly fairy who has endeared himself to the children of Radioland, again appeared in person and told a fairy story about the "Thistledown Express." Queen Titania, who rules the court of Fairyland, also came to the studio in person and spoke over the microphone. Her sweet, fairy voice has been heard before by remote control, but last night she came down to earth with the Sandman, and those fortunate ones who were in the studio actually saw her.

Overcoat Riddle is Hard One for Police to Solve

The riddle of "the many overcoats," which Frederick Janell, 23 years of age, involuntarily presented to police for solution yesterday, grew considerably more complicated today.

Janell, a laborer, was driving a car at the intersection of Franklin and Winona avenues yesterday morning when he encountered Detective Lieutenant Curtis. The detective saw that Janell's car was piled high with overcoats. He became suspicious and asked Janell to explain.

Janell attempted to do so but the officer was not satisfied. So he took Janell to the Hollywood police station. There the man of "the many overcoats" was lodged in a cell and charged with suspicion of robbery.

Later officials of the Schwab Clothing Company at 6358 Hollywood Boulevard identified the overcoats as theirs. They placed the value of the coats at $1400 but declared that their place had not been broken into. It is possible, they said, that the overcoats may have been taken by shoplifters.

Now police are wondering how shoplifters could have taken so many overcoats without them being missed. An investigation is underway.

Although frightened away by a policeman, thieves who broke into the shop of I. Magnin at 6340 Hollywood Boulevard, Hollywood, early yesterday succeeded in carrying off between $15,000 and $20,000 worth of women's dresses, underclothing, jewelry and perfumes, it was reported by employees of the store to Hollywood police.

At the Magnin store, two iron bars had been cut and the glass broken out of a rear door. Blood stains on the carpet inside showed that at least one of the thieves had been cut either by the hacksaw used or by broken glass.

When the first investigation was started by Sergt. C. G. Gilpin, who saw an automobile standing in front of the store, large piles of clothing were found in the middle of the place, apparently ready for removal.

JEWELRY STORE OPENS

George M. Roessell and Mark B. Clark opened their exclusive jewelry shop on the ninth floor of the Brack Shops this week. Their friends who knew them as heads of the diamond department of Feagans & Co., were delighted with this shop which forms a suitable background for the stock of diamonds, select jewelry and silverware. One of the chief features will be creating of designs and making of rings, brooches and novel pieces of jewelry.

GOING UP

A new Methodist church in Chicago is forty stories high. Folks who take the elevator feel that they are well on their way to heaven.

THE LOWBROWS

London will not turn out for productions of Shakespeare. The Londoners are growing like the blase New Yorkers. They like an omelet by George M. Cohan better than a Hamlet by the Bard of Avon.

IN MINIATURE

A Hungarian has made a phonograph the size of a watch that will play ten dance tunes. Maybe a man could put this under his pillow and dance in his sleep. One of the tunes is "Three O'clock in the Morning."

THE SCORCHED

A woman who had her hair burned and her scalp scorched in a beauty shop is suing the proprietor for $50,000 damages. It seems that a lady's dome is no place to start a bonfire, although this is a pretty stiff price to exact. A singed woman is a luxury that few men could afford. However, there must be some penalty for scorching.

LOST MANHOOD

Local strikers have once more given an illustration of their prowess in beating up the worker who comes to his job. The usual plan is to lie in wait in the darkness and sandbag the victim without warning. He knows his assailants in a general way, but may not be able to recognize the individual. There is something about the average trade union that obscures or obliterates the spirit of manhood and fair play which belongs to the normal human being. At the behest of his business agent or walking delegate he can become a thug or assassin.

THE BIG END

Gate receipts for the six games of the world's series exceeded $1,000,000. The rake-off was much more than for the eight games in the pool two years ago. Members of the championship club each receive over $6000 as their share of the pot. This is quite a snack of pin money and ought to buy enough white chips to keep the kitty all winter. With his salary, home-run bonuses and championship share Babe Ruth will have money enough to pay off the mortgage. He will pull down a little more than Cal Coolidge gets for running the United States.

LOVE IN BLUE

Courses in etiquette and courtship are included in the social-service programs of the Young Women's Christian Association in some eastern cities. In connection therewith the research departments supply information that may be of value to lovers. There seems to be a color influence in affairs of the heart, for instance. Young women are advised not to wear red during their courting days. It keeps abreast of its reputation and is provocative of strife. It is said to be "dreadful" easy for a young man to get into a quarrel with a girl in a red dress. Green is not so bad, but it appears to invite jealousy and suggest extravagance. Blue is said to be the best color of all for affairs of the heart. A girl in blue seems to invite companionship and confidence. The two little girls in blue were on the job. Love isn't color blind.

MAKING MEN OVER

At the recent International Congress of Pathology, the distinguished head of one of the great American hospitals recited some of the wonders of modern surgery—including the progress made in eye-transplantation, in which sight has been restored to the blind. He said that he was hopefully expectant of the early arrival of the day when the development of surgical science would make it possible to correct or abate all human maladies by the use of spare parts, just as one does with his motor car at the garage of the skilled mechanic.

Then, if a man suddenly found that his liver was clogged with carbon or his cardiac engine knocking, he could stop in at the general hospital on his way to lunch and have new organs installed. If a man's lung showed signs of being worn, he wouldn't bother with having it vulcanized. He would call in some sawbones or ring up the human garage and have a fresh set put in. On his way out to the golf links, the tired business man might stop at the nearest morgue and have his gall ducts replenished. In time the human frame would become an illustrious example of open plumbing with the modern surgeon on duty as the plumber.

The disagreeable feature to the dissertation of this scientist is his positive insistence that rejuvenation is impossible. One may put in a 1924 rib, but it will be but a part of the old body. According to this authority, there has been nothing found in surgery whereby the passions, fires and dreams of youth can be restored. All results alleged to have been achieved in this line have been temporary and noneficient. One cannot make a new car by taking on new parts for a bent fender or a busted radiator. It will still be the old 1914 model.

SMOKE SCREENS

No just cause has ever yet been furthered by false testimony. Men do not perjure themselves in the interest of truth and justice. When a group of politicians conceal the truth, resort to personal abuse and repeat tales whose falsity has been proved they forfeit their right to public sympathy and public support.

The attention of The Times has been called to a circular issued at public expense by the management of the Municipal Light and Power Bureau. It was mailed to all the users of municipal light and power under the caption "The Answer You Are Asking For."

The reason set forth for issuing the circular is that "The Department of Public Service has been flooded with requests in the last few weeks for an explanation. In response to these thousands of questions it seems advisable to issue a departmental bulletin."

Here is an open confession that thousands of citizens of Los Angeles are dissatisfied with the policy of secrecy maintained by this branch of the public service. They are bombarding the department with demands for an explanation of its stewardship.

But, in place of the explanation demanded, in reply to charges made in the courts and in the public press, the bureau has issued a circular which confines itself to personal abuse of those who have dared to expose the extravagance, incompetency and waste in the management of the municipal light and power plant.

If Mr. Scattergood and others of the Power Bureau would answer truthfully and fairly the legitimate questions asked them in place of throwing dust in the air by repeating old, worn-out tales, having no basis of truth in them, about the interests that some of the owners of The Times have in Mexico and elsewhere, they would be contributing more to give the public a fair idea of the situation.

Answer fairly and honestly was the demand of these thousands of communications. They have not done so. The questions they purport to answer are self-proposed. The greater portion of the circular refers to conditions in Mexico. Mr. Scattergood and his confederates were not asked about what some one else was doing in Mexico. They were asked some pertinent questions about what they are doing with other people's money in Los Angeles.

One only throws up a smoke screen when one has something to conceal.

Their assumption of martyred virtue is not likely to seriously impress a public which recalls that this circular is issued by the clique in the Power Bureau that sought to put over, under the cover of secrecy and darkness, the Hellman bond deal. It was The Times that then exposed their sharp practice, with the resultant annulment by the courts of a bond sale that would have cost the taxpayers $1,954,000.

This is the clique which had so scant faith in the credit of Los Angeles that they sought to sell its securities below par. They then issued a statement, somewhat similar to the one now in question, bitterly assailing the owners of The Times. But they were forced to disgorge.

The circular alleges that "The Times has a peculiar and selfish interest . . . in its attacks on your municipal electric system." But how can The Times have a "peculiar and selfish interest" in an attack that it has never made?

At no time since the idea of the Los Angeles Aqueduct was first conceived has The Times attacked the municipal electric system. The Times fought for the aqueduct when some of the other supporters of the present management of the Power Bureau tried to defeat it.

The Times espoused the municipal development of the hydroelectric power as an incidental product of the aqueduct. It supported editorially bond issues that made this development possible.

Mr. Scattergood and his associates are not the municipal electric system. The Times has charged them with incompetence and reckless extravagance. The Times made a similar charge against the Democratic administration of the Federal government in 1920. Was that an attack on the government and the Constitution? Certainly not. It was an attack on misgovernment under the Constitution.

Far from opposing the municipal development of hydroelectric power along the aqueduct, it was the support of The Times when the project was in its infancy which made that development possible. The policy of The Times in regard to municipal electric power has not changed. It is the management of the Power Bureau that has changed.

The charge that The Times is opposed to cheap hydroelectric power for Los Angeles is as ridiculous as it is false. Cheap hydroelectric power is essential to the development of our industrial district. When has The Times ever opposed anything that would further the development and progress of Los Angeles and Southern California?

The Times has noted with approval that the Railroad Commission has ordered a reduction in the rates charged by the Edison Company for electrical energy supplied to Southern California communities. The Times is gratified by the decision, which results from the lowered production costs of the Edison Company itself, due to that company's huge development program.

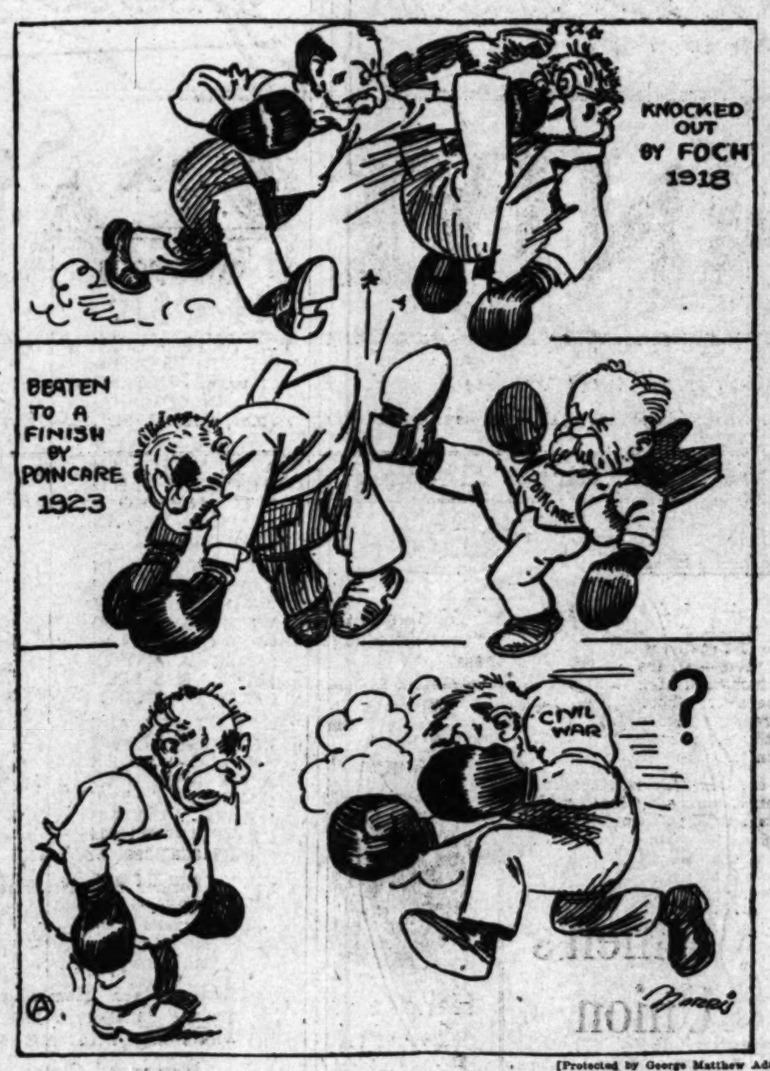
Like the Public Service Department, The Times had received scores of letters asking an explanation of the astounding administration of the Power Bureau. It sought honestly and sincerely to lay the facts before the public. It had no personal ax to grind. Where it sought co-operation from the bureau it received only a refusal to answer legitimate questions, together with abuse.

The Times sought only the truth. It acted in the open. Truth warns of apprehended danger. Only malice, awakened by an exposure of guilt, fights behind a smoke screen like that which the Power Bureau attempts to throw up in its circular which purports to be "The answer your are asking for;" but which, in reality, is a weak and malicious evasion of an answer.

CALL FOR CHARLIE

An eminent Russian artist is here. He says he wants to paint a portrait of Charlie Chaplin as representing the true spirit of the American people. Inasmuch as Charlie is an Englishman who was born in Paris and who persists in wearing a derby hat, it takes a Russian imagination to conceive him as the embodiment of the American spirit. Charlie is a wonderful pantomimist. His "Spirit of America" should be one of his cutest numbers.

Germany's Record



[Protected by George Matthew Adams]

PLANTING DRAGON'S TEETH

The break-up of the German Empire, which now seems to be inevitable, and the formation of a new republic along the Rhine, hold dangerous possibilities for Europe and for the world.

This is the time for the League of Nations or for some other powerful organization of international scope to step in and begin really to function, and for all the great powers, including the United States, to stand behind it.

The immediate result of the secession of the Rhine Germans will be to gain for France a temporary military safety; to enable France to get to sleep o' nights without being haunted by the nightmare of a vengeful Germany. On the other hand, her prospects of ever collecting reparations money has grown fainter and more slim.

France's financial hopes have sunk with her fears.

The creation of a new nation, possibly to be followed by the creation of other new nations in Central Europe, creates a situation which has in it the possibilities of havoc.

However swaggering and offensive, the German Empire at least provided Central Europe with a strong and stable government and held in check the myriad religious and political rivalries which now will be let loose if the disintegration of Germany continues.

We sometimes forget that Germany is not one country, but consists of something like twenty-six countries and free cities, and that the people of these countries are not brotherly in disposition, in spite of their racial ties. They have, in fact, strong temperamental differences that tend to create disruption rather than cohesion. In times past they have been more often enemies than friends.

As a strong Catholic power Bavaria is separated from Prussia by the strongest of religious enmities.

Saxony, from the earliest dawn of history, has been a trader nation. Her tendencies are markedly Socialistic. Even during the heat of war patriotism, the feeling between Saxony and Prussia was, at times, far from cordial.

The great danger to be feared from the break-up of Germany—assuming that the disintegration is to continue—is that a seething caldron of diplomatic intrigue will be moved westward from the squabbling Balkans into the heart of Europe.

It is quite possible, of course, that if Germany breaks apart into separate nations they might be sufficiently sensible to enter into an amiable and sane diplomatic relationship. It is hardly to be supposed, however, that this will happen if France can keep them apart. Her military safety will impel her to pry them as far apart as possible.

It requires a singular optimism to see the future of Germany other than as a vast and dangerous disturbance of the carefully adjusted balance of power. If the break-up continues it will almost inevitably be followed by a scramble to intice the new nations into one diplomatic gang or another.

Unless the great powers, with the backing of the United States, take a firm hand in this muddle we will stand to one side and see a new garden of wars planted in the heart of Europe.

The teeth of the dragon have been sowed; the harvest will be bloody if allowed to ripen.

ON THE TRACK

Papyrus appears to be a better horse on paper than he is on a pulpy track.

THE SECOND GENERATION

One phase of the immigration difficulty has been little touched on either by those who wish to see the quota of aliens increased or those who would cut it still shorter. Most people have assumed that the problem begins and ends with the newly admitted alien. If he is dangerous that is the time to catch him. Therefore, a complete barrier against all immigration would be the quickest way to stamp out the preaching of the Red gospel of revolution in America.

But many who have given the subject much attention—including Secretary of Labor Davis—declare that the newly landed immigrant is seldom a revolutionary—that he too often imbibes the doctrine of revolt and discontent from American radicals who find in him pliable material for their designs against society—and that the second generation born of alien parents contains more explosive material than the first.

Figures on illiteracy in the United States point out how sadly we neglect to look after the families of the aliens whom we admit to the privilege of American citizenship—and then permit to congregate in foreign colonies and rookeries where they come only slightly in contact with American influences. Of the 5,000,000 illiterates in round numbers at present to be found in the United States 3,000,000 belong to the second generation of naturalized or unnaturalized aliens.

But, while this startling number of illiterates in the native-born bears out the contention that educationally we are neglecting an important duty, this second generation furnishes many of the agitators and fomenters of sedition. Nor can we altogether blame this result on the slums of Europe. We let the raw material get into the wrong hands while we were busy about restricting and grading them at the source of supply.

After the immigrant comes the more important problem—the second generation.

THE UNDERSTUDY

Now it appears that Mayor Hylan of New York has an official understudy. How will this work with William Randolph Hearst? Can the lines and business intrusted to the principal be confided to an underling? If the idea works all right more political executives will be providing themselves with doubles.

RIPPLING RHYMES

PENALTY OF RICHES

My Aunt Matilda lately died and went to regions sunny, and in her will she specified that I should have her money. It was a humble little roll of bills and precious metal, some kopecks hidden in a bowl, some rubles in a kettle. The agents gathered at my door before my aunt was planted and of the goods they had in store they yammered and they ranted. Oh, there were men with patent bunks and men with nutmeg graters, and eloquence in solid chunks came booming from their craters. And there were salesmen boosting land from which the oil was gushing, and gents with subdivisions grand across my lawn came rushing. Solicitors with eager paws for every graft invented, and every high and noble cause was ably represented. Would I not back the hustling group of eager village boosters? Would I not help to build a coop for homeless hens and roosters? Would I be deaf to human woes and grip my skin with tweezers? Would I not send the Eskimos some modern ice-cream freezers? "Alas," I sighed, "'twas sorrow's cup I got from Aunt Matilder! I wish she'd burned her savings up and not left me a guilder!"

THIS IS THE DAY

The first German immigrants to America began to lay out Germantown, Pa., in the year 1683.

A riotous Democratic convention was held in Tammany Hall, New York, in the year 1835. A reform faction took control of the convention whereupon the Tammany faction turned out the gas. The reform faction continued the convention with candles which they lighted with sulphur—known as "loco foco"—matches. The next day the newspapers ridiculed the affair and dubbed the reformers the "Loco-Focos." For a time the name was used by the Whigs to stigmatize the Democratic party.

"Epizootic," a strange disease which affected horses throughout the country, broke out in New York in the year 1872.

THE WEAKNESS OF GERMANY

BY HARRY BOWLING

The German Empire was composed of twenty-six states and divisions. Four of these were kingdoms—Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony and Wurttemberg. In addition to these main divisions there were six grand duchies, five duchies, seven principalities and three free towns. At the time the war broke out the empire also included the imperial territory of Alsace-Lorraine.

Germany, or the German Empire, as it existed in the year 1914, was formed in 1871 by virtue of treaties between the North German Confederation and the South German States. The solidifying of these free peoples into a one-for-all combination was the work of the genius of the great Chancellor, Bismarck.

PRESIDENT OF KINGS

No one who does not grasp the exact nature of the German Empire and understand the origin of its formation can follow intelligently the momentous events that are making new history today in Central Europe. A general review of the constitution of the German Empire will throw a useful light on the apparent break-up that is taking place between its component parts.

The constitution of the German Empire is in all essentials that of the North German Confederation which came into force in the year 1867. Under this the Presidency of the confederation was vested in the King of Prussia. As a result of the Franco-Prussian War of 1870 the South German States joined the confederation and the King of Prussia, under the title of "German Emperor," became a "President of Kings." His authority as territorial sovereign extended over Prussia, not over Germany.

THE KAISER'S POWER

The executive power was in the Emperor's hands. He could enter into treaties with other nations and appoint and receive ambassadors. He could only declare offensive war with the consent of the Federal Council. The separate states had the privilege of sending ambassadors to the other courts, but all consuls abroad and officials of the empire were named by the Emperor.

The Federal Council consisted of the Bundesrat and the Reichstag. All laws for the regulation of the empire had to receive a majority of the Federal Council.

PRUSSIA—ALL-POWERFUL

In this combination of kingdoms and states Prussia was, of course, all-powerful.

Out of fifty-eight members in the Bundesrat Prussia elected seventeen, Bavaria six, Saxony four, Wurttemberg four and the other twenty-seven members were elected by the other twenty-one divisions. In the Reichstag Prussia had 236 representatives, Bavaria forty-eight, Saxony twenty-three and Wurttemberg fourteen. The remainder were scattered among the duchies and principalities.

All the German states had separate representative assemblies. The six larger adopted the two-chamber system. Throughout the whole Teutonic federation the principle prevailed that the individual existed for the state, not the state for the individual. That was the foundation stone of Bismarck's solid structure.

SEPARATE KINGS

It was not till the year 1871 that the German Empire was welded together by the Iron Chancellor out of a number of conflicting dynasties. Those dynasties did not abandon the home rule to which they had long been accustomed. The princes retained their ancient authority. The King of Prussia, though he now took the title of German Emperor, was only president of the federation. He had no suzerainty over the other princes.

These facts have a strong bearing on the present course of events in Central Europe and account to a large extent for the present policy of France. That policy appears to be the undoing of the work of Bismarck counting on the financial and political demoralization in the German states following the collapse of the Prussian monarchy.

United Germany was only forty-three years old when it entered the lists against the democracies of the world. We talk of the United States as a young country, yet, compared with our age, the German Empire was a mere infant.

CAN GERMANY RECOVER?

Yet in forty years it had made a record of strength that astonished and alarmed the old European powers. Naturally every fresh success cemented more strongly the material gathered together by the Teutonic master builder. In its time of success France was powerless against it. Could Germany stand the more strenuous test of failure? On the theory that it could not, France has based its actions since the armistice was signed in 1918. Now, if ever, so argued French statesmen, was the psychological moment to remove the threat of a united Germany capable of staging a come-back.

What was the chief tie that bound together the elements composing the German federation? Primarily, loyalty to the state as represented by the German Emperor, a principle inculcated by Bismarck; made a cardinal text in the education of the German children and strengthened by forty years of unprecedented glory. Back of this were commercial and financial interests that made each state a well-oiled part in the efficient German machine.

NEVER AN EMPIRE

The war broke the bond of loyalty to the superstate and left only the tie of industrial community of interests. And the rich Ruhr Valley was the chief driving force in the commercial supremacy of the Teuton. With this last tie destroyed, what was there left to maintain the integrity of Germany? What was there to prevent the twenty-six original states from again going each on its independent way?

The German Empire was never an empire in the sense that Rome was or Britain is. The [illegible] was never an emperor in the [illegible] that the late Czar of Russia was [illegible] the present Mikado of Japan still is. Can the wobbling federation of Germany hold against the forces delivered in the Ruhr Valley? The cards of fate are stacked against the strong young constitution that ten years ago held in its grip the destinies of a continent.

[From the Martian "Observer."]

Not only are Earthites different creatures, incapable of further development, but they actually persist in making burst sacrifices, and even now the smoke of their sacrificial fires may be seen. Furthermore, if the deductions of Dr. [illegible] Un of the University of [illegible] are correct, these sacrifices are [illegible] made to us Martians, whom the Earthites instinctively recognize as superior beings.

"Any Martian, gazing through his radioscope, may observe that in many parts of the United States the forests, which are among the most invaluable natural resources of that country, are being sacrificed to us," he says in a statement prepared for the Observer. "Those fires not only reduce to ashes a natural resource of irreplaceable value, but devastate farmers' fields, wipe out the habitations of men and frequently take human lives also.

"The explanation of Prof. Marwin that those conflagrations are merely what are known on Earth as forest fires and that they are accidental rather than of religious origin is 'too ridiculous to merit comment.' Therefore (like American politicians, who are fond of quoting long statements with which like the foregoing,) I will proceed to tear it to pieces.

"In the first place, it must be evident to the most stupid Earthite to the followers of Prof. Marwin in fact—that such fires are not accidental starters. They must be started.

"Prof. Marwin asserts that Earthites are human beings, capable of reason. Would any creature, for any reason, I ask him, needlessly start such a fire? Could any human being, originally careless of the possible results as to take any risk of starting such a fire accidentally? And could any being with a soul be so utterly unintelligent creature as to delight in making burnt sacrifices to no purpose or utterly inhuman creatures, incapable of mental processes higher than very much dulled human beings? For, otherwise, it is plain that forest fires would cease to exist on Earth. Such utter thoughtlessness of consequences as would cause a hunter or camper to take the risk of starting such a fire, for instance, must in itself prove him a creature lower in intelligence, humanity and morals than the instincts of even the out-stinctive [illegible]

If the Democratic National Convention in 1924 is held in New York it will be the second time it has been so honored. The first convention was held there in 1868. Seymour and Blair were nominated. Since 1856 the Republicans have held their convention once in Chicago but seven times. It was in Philadelphia in 1856, Baltimore in 1860, Philadelphia in 1872 and 1900, Cincinnati in 1876, Minneapolis in 1892 and St. Louis in 1896. The Democrats met in Cincinnati in 1856, in 1880, Charleston, S. THE FLIRT

Mister Mocker is such a talker!
For weeks I've studied him;
I've wondered why, on pole or spire,
He talks with so much vim.

But foolish me—the truth I know—
The poles are wired each;
Just stations high toward the sky
From which he telephones.

No central sloth to make him wait
Delays his message sweet;
His note he fires along the wires

Of love notes rich and rare;
He favors all within his call—

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

CALUMET
The Economy BAKING POWDER

Notice the uniform distribution of the gas bubbles—how high and evenly they rise. The same thing occurs in your bakings when you use Calumet. That's why everything made with it always raises perfectly. Its great leavening strength does it.

This test is made frequently by Calumet representatives—right in the dealer's store. It enables the manufacturers to keep strictly fresh goods on the merchant's shelves at all times. It is your protection against using a leavener that has lost its original strength. It is a safeguard against failure on bake day.

When you buy Calumet you know it contains its original leavening strength—that it is fresh.

Why Let Film Hide Pearly Teeth?

Learn how folks combat it

Millions still let pretty teeth be clouded by a film. Yet glistening teeth wherever you look show that film can be combated.

The way is easy and delightful. A test is free.

Film is unclean

Film is that viscous coat you feel. When teeth are brushed in old ways, much of it clings and stays. Soon it discolors and forms dingy coats, to make teeth unsightly.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Under old methods, these film-caused troubles became alarming in extent.

Then dental science found two ways to effectively fight film. One disintegrates the film, the other removes it without harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent. Then came a world-wide war on film. Leading dentists everywhere advised this new way of teeth cleaning. Careful people of some 50 nations are employing it today.

Starch and acids

Starch is another foe of teeth. It often ferments and forms acids.

To fight these foes, Nature puts a starch digestant in the saliva, and makes the saliva alkaline. Soapy tooth pastes reduce these great protections.

Pepsodent multiplies that starch digestant, multiplies that alkalinity. Thus every use gives manifold power to these natural protective agents. In all these ways a new dental era has come through these new methods.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Millions of men now use it

Men who smoke find that film on teeth becomes particularly discolored. So millions of them now use Pepsodent. So men and women everywhere now enjoy these prettier teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

SOCIETY

BY CORA YOUNG

The last prenuptial events for Mrs. Nell Worthington Snow and Norwood Howard, whose marriage takes place this afternoon, were given last night by Mr. and Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy.

Mrs. McCarthy gave a most charming ladies' dinner and mah jongg at her home, complimenting Mrs. Snow and her sister, Mrs. Lytleton Purnell of Baltimore. The guests were members of the bridal party and relatives, including, besides the guests of honor, Mrs. Gilbert Hoxley of Santa Barbara, Mrs. W. W. Mines, Mrs. William May Garland, Mrs. Samuel Browne Thomas, Mrs. Dorothy E. Hill, Miss Katherine Mellus, Miss Eleanor Cole and Miss Cornelia McLaughlin of New York.

Mr. McCarthy, with Messrs. Arthur and Herbert Howard, brothers of the groom-to-be, entertained with a merry stag party at the Athletic Club in honor of Mr. Norwood Howard and Mr. Charles Ingram, brother of the bride-to-be. Later, Mr. McCarthy and the Messrs. Howard took their guests to the McCarthy home, where they joined the ladies in a spirited game of mah jongg.

Miss Cryan to Wed

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Helen Cryan, daughter of the late Robert W. W. Cryan of London, to Viscomte Robert De Tremeureuc of Paris. The wedding will take place on November 8 in London. Mrs. Cryan and her daughter are now in Paris selecting the trousseau. Mrs. Cryan is a daughter of the late Henry Matthes, pioneer of California. The Viscomte and his bride will make their home in Paris.

Garden Fete

The spacious gardens of Mrs. William Henry Brophy, 100 South Rossmore avenue, will be the scene of a benefit garden fete for the Santa Marta Relief Society Saturday afternoon. Spanish music and dances are to be features of the entertainment. Tea will be served in the house, Halloween colors prevailing in the decorations. Attractive beach parasols will shade the booths, which are to be presided over by Mr. Charles Chapman, Mrs. John Mott, Misses Mary and Dorothy Gray, Cecilia Botiller, Peggy McCann, Adelaide Duque, Cecile McLaughlin, Mary Belle Chapman and the Misses Collins and Eisner. Others who will assist are Mmes. Thomas L. Duque, Daniel Murphy, William Gray, Secondo Guasti and the Misses Isadore Cunningham, Jennie and Consuela Freese, Rosario Dockweiler and Marion Mullen.

Dancing Party

A delightfully arranged dancing party will take place next Saturday evening, given by the Jolly Bachelors' Club in the ballroom of the Alexandria. Members of the club are making elaborate preparations, with special decorating and many novelties contributing to festivities.

Series of Dances

The beautiful music room of the Biltmore was the setting for the second "rush" dancing party given by the Alpha Kappa Sorority last Thursday evening. The guests of honor were Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Kleinberg and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McComb. The patronesses were Mmes. Helen Mathewson Laughlin, R. C. Swarts, C. Tam, and a group of sorority members were the gracious hostesses.

House-Warming Planned

Mr. David Edstrom already is planning the large and glorious house warming with which he will celebrate the completion of his attractive new home, Villa Anatolia. Friends from London and Paris will be his house guests at the time of the party. Mr. Edstrom has had recently as his guests the celebrated Swedish explorer, Sven Hedin, and the Archbishop of Sweden, Nathan Soderblom. When Archbishop Soderblom left for the East Mr. Edstrom accompanied him as far as Chicago.

Betrothal Announcement

Mrs. Ethel Rubin announces the betrothal of her daughter, Lillian, to Mr. Nathan Nagel of this city. Miss Rubin is a well-known violin artist, and always gracious with her music for the pleasure of her friends. Mr. Nathan was a member of the State Legislature in Michigan in 1919-20, becoming a citizen of our country after seven years' residence here from Russia. He is now studying law at the University of Southern California. The wedding will take place on December 20, and after a honeymoon trip the bride and groom will make their home here.

At the Ambassador

Guests at the Ambassador were entertained by a putting contest in the Ambassador lobby on Monday evening. Twenty-five guests took part in the contest which was played with golf putters, golf balls and a mechanical golf green. The prize was a handsome silver cup, which was won by Mrs. Charles Thompson.

This evening Ambassador guests will be entertained by a series of folk stories and songs of the Mississippi cotton fields in the East Indian Room of the hotel at 7 o'clock. These will be given by the celebrated impersonator of southern plantation characters, Miss Clara Alexander.

Bridge is taking fast hold of Ambassador guests. More than seventy-five tables will be necessary for the next bridge party, which will be held in the Ambassador lobby on Thursday evening. Many prizes are being offered for the best scores.

The old-fashioned game of keno has come into its own again, and is being played every Friday night by guests in the Ambassador lobby. Sixty guests took part in last week's game. The next game is scheduled for Friday evening, when Mrs. Charles Jeffras will act as announcer of numbers. Novel prizes are offered for those who fill their keno cards.

A charming dance has been planned by members of the Delta Phi Sorority to take place in the Orange Tree Room of the Ambassador next Saturday. Floral decorations will add to the attractiveness of the room and refreshments will be served.

Smart Luncheons

One of the largest and most beautifully appointed luncheons of the week was that given by Mrs. R. W. Monkmas in the Rose Room of the Mary Louise. The guests, numbering forty, were seated about several large tables, which were strikingly beautiful with their decorations of dainty pink rosebuds, crystal candlesticks with their varicolored tulle shades and wide ribbon runners. Unique place cards also carried out the color motif. Bridge followed the luncheon.

Mrs. Eugene Woody and Mrs. Minnie Leonard were hostesses at a luncheon in the ballroom of the Mary Louise Friday. The guests, numbering fifty, were seated at one long table, which was resplendent with its huge baskets of chrysanthemums and sparkling crystal candelabra. The afternoon was spent in playing bridge.

Mrs. J. R. Johnston entertained a delightful luncheon at the Mary Louise recently, complimenting her sister, Mrs. W. G. Chanslor of San Francisco, who is her house guest. The luncheon table was lovely with its decorations of yellow chrysanthemums, ribbon and tulle, with dainty place cards. Chinese motifs also carried out the color scheme. The afternoon was spent playing bridge.

Baby's Covers

About the most sensible suggestion concerning the method of keeping baby covered at night, and at the same time avoiding the use of pins, is to sew a double piece of tape on each corner of the sheets and blankets, long enough to tie to the rungs of the crib.

Cranberries
The Many-Purpose Fruit

You Can Almost Work Magic with Cranberries!

There are so many surprising and delightful dishes you can quickly and easily prepare with ten-minute cranberry sauce. Try this recipe—

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce

One quart cranberries, two cups boiling water, 1½ to 2 cups sugar. Boil sugar and water together for five minutes; skim; add the cranberries and boil without stirring (five minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins are broken. Remove from the fire when the popping stops.

With this sauce you can make most delicious pies, short cake, puddings, tarts, compote, and many other dishes.

Cranberry sauce is the finest condiment with all roast meats.

And cranberries are healthful in every form, and most economical. They go further because there is no waste, no peeling, no coring.

To be sure of getting the choicest varieties, ask for Eatmor Cranberries. The red and blue trade-mark label is on all barrels and boxes.

HER STORY OF RAZOR THREAT WINS DECREE

Testifying that her husband desired to handle her property, and that he threatened her with a razor, Anna Gardner White, 54 years of age, obtained a divorce from Thomas E. White yesterday in Judge Hartley Shaw's Court. "He came into my room one morning and asked me to sign a check for $5000," she told the Court. "When I told him I didn't have that much money in the bank he menaced me with a razor. 'I could cut anybody's heart out with this,' he said. He wanted me to open up my trunk to see whether or not I had made out a will, but fortunately I had it moved." White also refused to work, according to his wife's testimony.

CIENEGA DISTRICT TO VOTE ON ANNEXATION

City Clerk Domingues yesterday reported to the City Council that the petition from residents of Cienega Addition, which is located at the end of the West Adams street-car line, was sufficient to authorize the Council calling an election there to vote upon the question of annexing this district to Los Angeles. The election date will be set when the special election ordinance is presented by the City Attorney.

BACON OMELET

Place the yolks of four eggs in a bowl and beat until thick; continue beating and beat in one tablespoon of hot water. Beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth with a pinch of salt and when they are firm and dry pour into them the beaten yolks and mix lightly. Heat a clean, bright omelet pan, add two tablespoons of butter and when it is hot, not brown, add the egg mixture and spread evenly over the pan. Cook over a slow fire until the bottom is a light brown; now place on the top shelf in a moderate oven and cook until the omelet is set or firm when pressed with the finger. Cut the omelet through the center, slide half out on a hot platter, cover with finely chopped cooked bacon, fold over the other half and garnish with strips of broiled bacon. This will make a light omelet that will serve four.

CORNMEAL MUFFINS

Sift two cups of sifted white flour with two cups of yellow corn meal, two tablespoons of sugar, six level teaspoons of baking powder, and one teaspoon of salt. Add

CRUDE OIL CUTS DECLARED WISE

Fuqua Predicts Future Will Offer Justification

Gasoline Price Reductions Would Harm, He Says

Heavy Producers May Lose During Stabilization

Reduction of the price of crude petroleum is the only remedy for the ills of the petroleum industry, and the Standard Oil Company, and other large corporations, were right in their recent action which cut the price of highest gravity crude to 79 cents, asserts I. W. Fuqua, president and general manager of the California Petroleum Corporation and its subsidiaries, one of the largest independent producers and sellers of crude petroleum on the Pacific Coast.

"The cut was a bitter pill to swallow," says Mr. Fuqua, "and I regret deeply that the industry has been forced to resort to it, but it was the only cure. It was imperative that production of petroleum be kept within the limits set by storage facilities, and there was no other way to control it. Judged from the standpoint of the good of the industry and the ultimate good of the public, I believe that the reduction in the price of crude oil was eptirely justified."

On the contrary, according to Mr. Fuqua, there is no need for any cut in the present price of gasoline, and as a matter of fact such a cut would be detrimental and would to a certain extent offset the good which the reduction of crude prices will bring about. Mr. Fuqua explains this point by pointing out that the price of gasoline is already too low for the large corporations on whom the future of the industry depends to make a profit, and any further cut in gasoline would result in an invasion of the American market by foreign buyers, and an invasion of the California markets by Atlantic seaboard buyers, with the result that the available supply of cheap gasoline would be exhausted within a short period, with a consequent increase in price to the consumer, and an increase in new production, which he says, is undesirable.

CONDITIONS DIFFERENT

"Until a few years ago it was comparatively easy to arrive at the logical price of crude oil," says Mr. Fuqua. "Up to that time, we could estimate with a fair degree of accuracy just what production and consumption were going to be. We could take a chart showing the curve of production and the curve of consumption, and from it deduce what the future curve was likely to be, with the result that we could adjust the price curve so that the supply would fully meet the demand without any of the ruinous overproduction and consequent demoralization of markets which we have experienced recently.

"But within the last two or three years, conditions have changed entirely. We have been confronted with new conditions in production, such as the phenomenal output of the Santa Fe Springs field, and it has been impossible to compute from one day to the next anything like what the production was going to be. The result was that it was impossible to estimate that the price should be.

"In the first days of this tremendous overproduction, the remedy of price cutting should have been applied, but it was not, for the good reason that no one knew whether or not the condition was going to last. It might have been a temporary condition, the peak might have been reached, and it was felt that if it was a temporary condition, a price cut was not warranted. It was realized that while it is easy to cut prices, it is extremely difficult to raise them to their proper scale when the emergency is passed.

FURIOUS PRODUCTION

"Consequently we had an era of furious production. There was a group of rich fields in which tremendously economical production could be obtained—in which the man with a fifty-foot lot, backed with a hundred thousand dollars, could get a well that would throw as much oil as though it were on a big company's 100 acres backed by millions, and in the face of this, we had a price for crude petroleum that far exceeded the cost of production.

"The result was a scramble to drill wells, and people who had not the slightest knowledge of the business got into it. They put their wells down with feverish haste, got their oil out, and threw it on the market with the resulting demoralization, that is now common knowledge.

"There has been a very great change in the oil industry since 1918, the year after the war opened. In that year the differential between the highest and lowest grades of oil was 18 cents, and today it is only 16 cents. But in 1920 we had the tremendous differential of $1.35, which was due of course to the unprecedented demand for oil which arose at that time.

"Today we have to face a set of unusual conditions. During the present year there will be produced a total of 7,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline. To consume this we have a total of 14,000,000 automotive vehicles, which will use an average of 450 gallons each.

SOUTHLAND USES MUCH

"But in California this average of consumption per automobile will be 750 gallons per year. In Northern California it is 550 gallons, in Southern California 1100 gallons, and in Los Angeles it reaches the extreme figure of 1300 gallons. This shows the unusual proportion of gasoline consumption in Southern California and in Los Angeles.

"Now there is in storage at the present date only about 1,100,000,000 gallons of gasoline, which is less than sixty days' supply. In other words we have no more gasoline on hand than we need for our own use.

"It is not difficult, therefore, to visualize the effect that would follow any reduction in the price of gasoline. It would mean the immediate invasion of the American petroleum market by foreign buyers, and the invasion of the California market by Atlantic Coast buyers as well.

"In no time at all every drop of that cheap gasoline would be licked up, and we would face a gasoline shortage, which would automatically result in the public having to pay a higher price for its gasoline, and would certainly not restrain that new production which at the present time it is so necessary to curb.

"This is why I believe that a reduction in the price of gasoline will not solve the gasoline problem, but instead probably would aggravate it. The cut in the price of crude oil will, however, have a tendency to stabilize the gasoline industry, without any necessity for juggling with gasoline prices.

"This stabilization will come through the natural diminution of the aggregate gasoline content of the petroleum produced, through the decrease in the production of crude oil.

"For instance we have a steady reduction in the quantity of crude produced at Santa Fe Springs, and Huntington Beach. This drop is not far from 100,000 barrels. This means that while production of crude oil is thus reduced, the production of gasoline is reduced in exact proportion to the gasoline content of the decreased production.

CURTAILMENT URGED

"We have at the present time in this country sufficient reservoir and tank capacity to store all the crude petroleum that is needed to meet legitimate consumption. It is also true that our normal production will utilize virtually all of this storage.

"Therefore new production must be curtailed unless we are to exceed our available storage capacity. This would mean the unnecessary increase of investment in storage facilities, would add to the cost of the oil, the interest on this investment, losses by evaporation, by leakage, by fire, and other costs incidental to storage, which are not justified by the natural market.

"To put the matter, as I see it, in a nutshell, curtailment of new production is absolutely necessary to prevent economic waste, and that curtailment can be attained only through the cut in the price of crude oil.

"The conditions that have prevailed in the recent past, which still prevail to a certain extent, must end if the petroleum industry is to prosper. It has been possible for a few individuals with small capital to squat in the middle of a pool, get big production, possibly run it through a plant, and sell the product at a good profit. A few have "cleaned up" at this game, even at the suicidal prices that have existed.

"But in the future when the public wants its gasoline, this individual will have passed on, for the era of cheap production is almost over, and he cannot survive. It is the big corporations who are at the present time operating at a loss, due to demoralization of the market by a horde of 'little fellows,' on whom the future of the industry depends, and present conditions must change, if they are to survive.

"And I repeat that the only solution is the cut in price of crude petroleum.

"I deeply regretted to see it for it means that a majority of the big producers must operate for a time at a loss, but it will help to prevent the new production which menaces the industry at present, and will tend to stabilize the gasoline industry without the necessity for resorting to a cut in the price of gasoline, which might well prove to be disastrous."

SOLD FOR LESS TO MAKE MORE

But Owner's Plan Didn't Work and Realtor Took Neat Profit on Deal

An unusual case, in which an owner's theory that his property was worth less when sold on terms than when sold for cash enabled a realtor to clear $1500 profit at one turnover, was heard in Judge Elliott Craig's court yesterday, where James Robertson asked for a rescission of the contract with Arthur S. Fairbanks, of the firm of Fairbanks & Meyer.

Robertson had asked $5500 cash for his property, located at 1216 Seventy-eighth street, or $4000 on terms, figuring that the interest derived would make the latter a more profitable deal.

According to the testimony taken in court, Fairbanks purchased the property for $4000 on terms, and shortly afterward sold it to Lillian Hartwell for $5500. Judge Craig decided that the deal was legal and that Robertson had no claims on the property.

"PUT AND TAKE" VALUE SEEN

Advertisers Told They Will Get Out of Their Club Only What They Put Into It

"Those who grumble most at the evils of an organization or institution to which they belong are invariably the ones who contribute least toward the support and advancement of social bodies of which they are members," declared Woodworth Clum in an address yesterday before the Advertising Club at the Biltmore Hotel.

Speaking on the subject "Put and Take," Mr. Clum said that the practical philosophy of living is to be found in those three brief words.

"No man can take more from life than he puts into it," said the speaker. "This is true concerning life as a whole and of every phase of human existence. If a man is a hypocrite he will not be slow to perceive hypocrisy in his church. If he is a grouch he should not expect to be met with smiles and kisses on the threshold of his home.

WITHHOLDS FRIENDSHIP

"Analyze the friendless man and you will find, invariably, that he withholds from his acquaintances the jewel of his own friendship," continued the speaker. "No painting can carry the message of beauty unless it be the product of an artist who has light in his soul. Even great books, including the Bible, are largely the collections of our thoughts, ambitions and hopes, and their words are like echoes of the speech which our hearts have whispered.

"'He who would bring wealth out of the Indies must carry wealth to the Indies.' He who would get most out of his club must not go there to kill time but to give life and intelligence and purpose and inspiration to the hour. Civilizations have decayed because the people failed to put vision, spirit and energy into their government. It would be well today for those who criticize their city, State or national government to pause and ask themselves the questions: 'How much have I contributed toward my country's welfare? How much time and intelligence have I given to the selection of officials and to helping them in making and maintaining wise and just laws?'

"In conclusion, I would like to add that to get the most out of your business you must put into your business the best that is in you. You cannot hope to take a reasonable profit out of an enterprise unless you put at least 3 per cent of the gross receipts into advertising. And you cannot hope to be a first-class advertising man unless you are willing to put into your work not only your energy and time but also your ideals—your joy, your religion, your life, your soul. There is as much science as sentiment in the saying that 'He profits most who serves best.'"

CLUB IS PRAISED

Another speaker on the program was Don Francisco, president of the P.C.A.C., who praised the Los Angeles Advertising Club as one of the best organizations of its kind in America, declaring that this status has been won through the individual efforts and fidelity of the members of the club.

The Tunberg Orchestra, from Oaks Tavern, played several selections and, through the courtesy of Sim W. Crabill, manager of the American Engraving and Electrotype Company, vocal numbers were given by Harold Proctor, accompanied by Bertha M. Just.

WILL STRESS PORT NEEDS

Local Customs Collector and Seattle Chief to Tell Secretary Mellon of Growing Coast Business

Customs Collectors Millard Hartson of Seattle and Lewis H. Schwaebe of Los Angeles yesterday were named by the conference of customs collectors in session in this city to go to Washington and present to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon the needs of the Pacific Coast as to the customs service. The recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury in the matter will be later transmitted to Congress.

Collector Hartson, representing the port of Seattle, the gateway of Alaska and one of the most important on the Pacific Coast, made a trip to the local port yesterday and was enthusiastic in his praise of what has been accomplished. He said:

"Several months ago, I paid a visit to Los Angeles Harbor, and saw more foreign vessels at the wharves than in Seattle. When I visited the place yesterday the number was still more augmented. All that is needed to make Los Angeles the greatest port on the coast is the widening and deepening of the channel and the construction of an additional breakwater, running out from the Long Beach bridge.

"We are proud of Seattle as a port of entry, but with the improvements mentioned carried out at the Los Angeles Harbor, we will have to look to our laurels. Collector Schwaebe is doing a great work here, and his efforts ought to be appreciated. He is one of the live wires on the Pacific Coast."

Speaking of the visit to Washington, Collector Hartson said that under the law it is necessary for customs officials to have charge of the enforcement of the prohibition, narcotic and immigration laws. In Seattle he has the British Columbia situation to combat. Here Collector Schwaebe has the Mexican boundary line to watch. None of these duties is applicable to customs, and it will be necessary to add to the forces at the command of the various collectors. "The need is imperative, and we hope to impress it on Secretary Mellon," said Collector Hartson.

AUTO GANGSTER CONVICTED

Oscar Whitcher Found Guilty of Assault With Intent to Kill Policeman; to be Sentenced Friday

Oscar Whitcher, said to be one of a gang of youthful automobile bandits, was found guilty yesterday of assault with intent to kill by a jury in Judge Avery's department of the Superior Court. Sentence will be passed Friday.

Whitcher was indicted by the grand jury the 11th inst. on two counts of having attempted to slay Patrolmen Walter Deatherage and Ragveald Borgen in a pistol duel August 25, last. He was also charged with first-degree larceny in connection with the theft of an automobile.

Four members of the band of which Whitcher was said to be a member were brought before Judge Avery last Friday, pleaded guilty and sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary for terms of from one year to life and five years to life. Whitcher had entered a plea of not guilty, the only one willing to face the mass of evidence gathered by the District Attorney's office and the Los Angeles Crime Commission.

Charles Whitcher, brother of Oscar, who was also indicted by the grand jury, is at large.

Immediately after the jury returned a verdict of guilty with assault with intent to kill, Oscar Whitcher was placed on trial on a charge of having stolen an automobile.

The members of the gang were rounded up in the northern part of the State following a gun battle with officers in which a policeman, a deputy sheriff and a bandit were wounded.

NEW TRACT RULES DRAWN

Regional Planning Commission Proposes Revision of Requirements for Subdivision Lay-Outs

A new set of specifications for the laying out of tracts for subdivision is in the process of compilation by the Regional Planning Commission, according to Hugh R. Pomeroy, secretary of the commission. The change is being made to enable each city within the county to exercise the same jurisdiction over subdivisions as is done by the county.

It is the desire of the commission that similar standards be established throughout the county so that orderly development may proceed on a common and fundamental basis.

Among the specifications will be not only the carrying out of the regional plan of major highways but also a requirement that local service streets be not less than fifty feet in width, and in some cases, where they may carry through traffic, at least sixty feet in width.

NARROW STREETS BARRED

Major highways, as established by the commission and the Board of Supervisors, will be eighty, ninety or 100 feet in width. Except under unusual conditions it is the purpose of the commission to do away entirely with the laying out of forty-foot streets. Such streets are occasionally essential in hillside or mountain subdivisions.

An endeavor to establish a minimum frontage and area for residential lots will also be made by the commission, which has just completed the securing of data from all the cities of the county as to standards of lot sizes that have already been established.

PLAN ROUNDED CORNERS

Rounded street intersections may be required, according to the plans of the commission, for the facilitation of traffic. A radius of at least thirty feet will be suggested for the intersection of major highways. This plan has been in use in the city of Glendale with very satisfactory results.

The entire plan for the laying out of subdivisions will be taken up with the Board of Supervisors for approval, and with the City Engineers' Association, which was recently formed under the direction of the Regional Planning Commission. The next meeting of the association will be on November 10 at the City Club.

ARSON SEEN IN NEWHALL FOREST FIRE

Hunt Begun for Suspected Incendiarist After Blaze on Oat Mountain

Expert trackers and deputy fire wardens under County Forester Stuart J. Flintham yesterday were tracing the flight of someone who touched off a blaze on Oat Mountain, near Newhall, Monday night which burned over 200 acres and threatened for a time to devastate the water-shed.

The fire undoubtedly was incendiary, according to Flintham, who stated that it suddenly sprang up in ten different spots. The tracks of the man were followed, and it was learned that he rode up on a horse, dismounted, tied gunnysacks or cloth about his feet, lighted the fires and made off on his horse.

The region burned over was new growth, a fire having ravaged that section last year. It is believed that this man is responsible for a number of disastrous fires which have raged in the northern part of the county.

IOWA GOVERNOR HATES TO LEAVE

Activity of Los Angeles and Its People Praised

He Finds Southland Just as Represented

Kendall Stops Here on Way Home From Honolulu

Nothing he has ever heard of Los Angeles has been exaggerated, Gov. N. E. Kendall of Iowa told a Times reporter at the Ambassador Hotel yesterday.

"It's a wonderful place," he said, "the climate, the scenery, the intense activity on all sides, and especially the hustle of the people. The way they hurry along the streets makes you think they are all bound for a fire."

The Governor's estimate of Los Angeles is set out in a letter he wrote a friend back in Iowa, which reads as follows:

"Los Angeles is conceded to be phenomenal among the communities of the country, a condition to be attributed, of course, to the fact that a sixth of its million people formerly resided in Iowa. In all seriousness, I am utterly overwhelmed by this wonderful town. Nothing within the range of its expansive ambitions appears impossible of accomplishment. Its achievements are as incredible as its enterprise is immeasurable. I should scarcely be surprised to read in The Times tomorrow morning that Niagara Falls, the Royal Gorge and Mt. Vesuvius had all been bodily transplanted from their immemorial settings overnight and triumphantly established in a convenient suburb of the city.

DISLIKES TO LEAVE

"My visit here has been crowded with delightful experiences, and I am reluctant to terminate it. But I have been absent from home for two months, and at this moment no spectacle would be so pleasing to me as an Iowa cornfield."

Gov. Kendall, who is accompanied by Mrs. Kendall, is spending a few days here on his way back to Iowa after a vacation in Honolulu. When he indulges in a semiocecasional period of relaxation, the Governor believes in getting away from everybody and everything and taking a complete rest.

"Do you know," he said, "during my entire absence since August 20, last, I haven't had a single official communication from my home State and haven't even read a home paper. I don't know what's happened while I have been away, but am reasonably confident that good old Iowa is still on the map."

He said his trip had restored him to health and that he was feeling fine. "I did not feel well when I left home and hadn't for some time," he said, "but when I got out on the ocean I noticed improvement at once and after I had been in Honolulu for a few days I was about as well as ever."

He found Honolulu beautiful, the climate delightful, and the islands prosperous. "I was surprised to learn that the Hawaiian group, with a total population of only 260,000, pays a greater amount of income tax than any one of nineteen States of the Union," he said.

VISITS VOLCANO

During his stay there he twice visited Kilauea, the world's greatest volcano. "An interesting thing was the fact that during the earthquake in Japan the lake of lava in the crater fell about 400 feet," he said. "I discussed this phenomenon with scientific men, but none could give an adequate explanation, except that there must have been some relation between Kilauea and the tremors in Japan."

In regard to conditions in his home State, Gov. Kendall stated that while he was not familiar with developments during his absence, the general situation there economically and commercially at the time of his departure was almost back to normal after the depression of 1921 and last year.

"Perhaps we were not so hard hit in Iowa as in some other States, owing to our great natural resources," he said, "but the period of reckless spending and frenzied land speculation just after the war brought its aftermath of failures and hard times, even with us. When hogs were 20 cents a pound and corn $2 a bushel, the farmers discarded their faithful old Fords and bought Cadillacs, and I know of farms that sold as high as $650 per acre. When corn went to 45 cents and lower and hogs sold at 7, the prosperity suffered a jolt that had a profound effect on finance and business, particularly on farming. There were many failures, and a period of gloom ensued.

"But that situation has about righted itself by now, and except for some difficulty experienced by the farmers in their contention with prewar receipts for produce, but still almost war prices on what they have to buy, the prosperity of Iowa is as marked as that of and other part of the country."

The Iowans favor Coolidge for President, the Governor says. "Iowa is a Republican State, and while the new President is not much known in our State, the general sentiment seems to be in his favor over that of any other man thus far mentioned for Presidential honors. The fact that Mr. Coolidge is from the East will not mar his chances in Iowa, in my opinion, though, of course, we would rather see an Iowa man nominated. But just at this moment there seems to be a scarcity of Presidential timber both in Iowa and elsewhere."

Composer Will be Honor Guest at Montmartre

Vince Rose, composer, will be master of ceremonies tonight at Brandstatter's Montmartre Cafe, the occasion being "Love Tales Night," in honor of the song written by Rose.

The song will be used as a theme for the evening's music, and a number of parties plan to carry out the idea in their table decorations. Rose plans to distribute autographed copies of his melody.

The City Council's health and sanitation committee yesterday recommended that the City Engineer be instructed to disconnect all industries and homes in county territory near Vernon which are illegally connected with the Los Angeles sewer system.

INFLUENCE CHARGED IN CONTEST ON WILL

Her half-sister induced their father to will her all of his estate, valued at $4000, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Van Gilder asserted in a contest of the will of the late Frank J. Bentler, filed yesterday in Probate Court. Bentler for two years prior to his death on April 19, last, lived at the home of Mrs. Elsie Campton, the half-sister mentioned in the action, Mrs. Van Gilder said. During this time Mrs. Campton was declared to have prejudiced her father against Mrs. Van Gilder. Mrs. Van Gilder also stated her father was incompetent at the time the will was drawn.

Good Morning Mrs. Hen

—how are you these October days?

"Not as good as I was in April thank you.

"A body must rest," sighed Biddy. "That's what I'm doing—both resting and moulting.

"No, I don't feel like a shirker. Why, I myself can hardly tell my April EGGS from the few I lay now. And they cost 15c to 20c a dozen less. The way they have developed modern refrigeration is a wonder."

Biddy turned to her GRAIN with a cluck. "And now they are 'processing' EGGS. This seals the shell, you know, and keeps all the goodness in. You ought to try them."

EGGS au Gratin

Use individual casserole with potato mashed fine, and seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Break EGG into each casserole. Dot with butter. Season with salt and pepper. Grate mild cheese over top and place in oven till lightly browned. Remove from oven and place small sprigs of parsley around the edge and serve hot.

Mrs. O. Y. Botts, Los Angeles.

Novel Omelet

Melt a quantity of butter over a slow fire and slowly heat to a boiling point. Take 6 or more EGGS and beat well. Into the boiling butter drop the beaten EGGS quickly in the shape of an omelet, starting from the center. When a light brown it is ready for use. Makes a wonderfully appetizing sandwich when put between bread and salt and pepper is added, as desired. Also goes well to make up salads. W. Ehrhorn, Los Angeles.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver — constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty-dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctors' medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

Women of Three Generations

The daughter, mother, and grandmother have all proved from personal experience the remarkable strengthening and tonic properties of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs in 1873 by Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore until it is now looked upon by women everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, which is a marvelous record for any remedy to hold.—[Advertisement.

PAINTS CITY'S RAPID STRIDES

A. C. Blumenthal's Views of Future Optimistic

Any Spot in Los Angeles is Sure to Double Value

New Yorker Also Chamber of Commerce Speaker

A talk that for pepful enthusiasm and articulate optimism over the future of Los Angeles exceeded any recent utterance before an assembly of that perenially enthusiastic and optimistic body, the Chamber of Commerce, was delivered by A. C. Blumenthal, big realty operator, at the biweekly luncheon meeting of the Chamber at the Biltmore Hotel yesterday, and was received with great applause by the 700 members present.

The meeting was likewise addressed by Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Company of New York City, who has recently returned from Europe and gave the audience a brief outline of the Ruhr situation, stating in effect, that the policy of France in this matter is a tragedy, in that it profits her nothing and retards the solution of a problam that must be settled before peace can be established in Europe.

Mr. Blumenthal, who was the first speaker, impresses one with his youth—looks boyish, in fact. He said he had never addressed so large a gathering before and doubted his ability to get away with it in the manner he felt the occasion demanded; but after he had reeled off figures, all in millions, dealing with Los Angeles real estate values and particularly the sky-rocketing rise thereof in the past two years, and cited facts anent the development of this city that left his hearers dizzy, it was unanimously agreed that he was an exceedingly modest young man, in addition to being a realty wizard.

He stressed the rise in values in this city and especially the pre-eminent justification for these increases. When he came here two years ago he felt that the business properties downtown were not yielding the revenues they should, he said, and set about to remedy this situation. He mentioned a business building on Broadway which was acquired by the syndicates of which he is the head. "The owner was getting only $42,000 a year," he said. "Today that building, outside the ground floor, which was under lease, is yielding $430,000 a year, and when we have control of the entire building the annual rental will be $650,000 a year."

He referred to a single store in this building that is paying a rental of $5300 a month, and stated that a building on Hill street, also controlled by his syndicates, was now paying $30,000 a month where the former rental was only a fraction of that sum.

"I stand aghast at the profits I might have made had I had enough money to take advantage of all the opportunities that have come my way since locating in Los Angeles," he declared.

VALUE ADVANCE EXPLAINED

In discussing the reasons for these stupendous advances in values, Mr. Blumenthal suggested that they were largely due to stabilization of the real estate market in Los Angeles. "Up until two or three years ago values here were fluctuating," he said. "Investors did not have enough confidence to risk their money. Now this is changed. Investors realize that Los Angeles is a coming metropolis and that values here are as stable as in New York, Chicago and other centers."

Mr. Blumenthal said he was so confident of the future of Los Angeles that he was willing to take any man in an airplane over the city, land in any spot his passenger might indicate and purchase the property there at whatever price might be demanded, confident that within five years' time he could sell it at double what he paid.

Mr. Bush followed Mr. Blumenthal and in his discussion of the Ruhr situation suggested that France today has two classes of friends—those who favor her policy and those, who, while sympathising with France, consider her course the wrong one.

"I am a friend of France," said Mr. Bush, "and I certainly don't want to be understood as holding a brief for Germany. But I feel that the course she is pursuing in the Ruhr is brutal not only in that it is paralyzing German industry and thus preventing that country's payment of reparations, but also because it is interfering with world peace. I believe, further, that it is a stupid policy because France is gaining nothing by her present policy."

Mr. Bush admitted that there is wealth in Germany, but he drew a distinction between wealth and money.

"True, they have the resources and the means of developing them, but they are destitute of money," he declared, "and money is what France wants and needs to rebuild her shattered fabric. But how can Germany convert her resources into money under present conditions? She cannot. Her hands are tied and will be as long as France pursues her present policy."

DRAINS RESOURCES

Referring to the effect on France of her occupation of the Ruhr, the speaker says it is draining her resources, and that if her present methods are continued the interest on the French debt by 1925 will equal her present income.

The question as to what America can do to help the situation, the speaker answered by stating that she can do nothing until she is invited to do so by all the parties to the controversy.

"Some time ago Secretary Hughes suggested an international commission that might be appointed to make a survey of the whole situation, determining what Germany can pay and by what methods she can raise the funds. This suggestion, I found, is favored by the diplomats of all the coutries of Europe except France and Belgium. They will have none of it. They insist on the payment of the claim, which as last fixed, amounts to about forty-two per cent of Germany's total wealth. Economists hold that this is an exorbitant claim in the first place, and in the second, France insists on pursuing a policy that makes it impossible for the Germans to pay any claim whatever."

TO SETTLE RIVERSIDE BANK CASE

Special Master is Named to Finish Liquidation of Institution

The liquidation of the First National Bank of Riverside by the Citizens' National Bank of that city, in progress since 1916, was passed over to a special master yesterday by United States District Judge James, by stipulation between the parties. H. L. Thompson, an attorney of Riverside, was named as special master to make a report to the court later of the disposition of the remaining assets of the Riverside bank.

It is set out in the bill of complaint that on March 28, 1916, the First National Bank was in a failing condition, with many worthless assets. At that time the assets of the bank were $1,640,704.49; liabilities $1,634,642.19, with an apparent surplus of $6062.80.

On that date there was an agreement between the Citizens' National Bank and the First National Bank for the first named to take over the assets of the First National, signed by S. H. Herrick, president, for the purpose of placing the First National Bank in voluntary liquidation. This arrangement was later on agreed to by the stockholders of the banks by a vote of two-thirds of the holdings. It was asserted that the Citizens' National Bank still has property of the First National Bank valued at $294,630.28, but that unsuccessful attempts have been made from time to time to collect various claims due, with the result that it was estimated not more than $35,000 could possibly be secured from the remaining assets in the hands of the officials of the Citizens' National Bank.

It was represented to the court that it was desirable that the matter be closed up somehow, and it was agreed by all parties that the appointment of Mr. Thompson should be approved by the court. This was done.

BABCOX, OIL PROMOTER, GIVES BOND

Operator is Said to Have Made Fraudulent Claims of Holding Leases

Bail of $10,000 was furnished yesterday by George A. Babcox, one of many oil operators named in secret indictments returned by the grand jury last week, asserting use of the mails to defraud when he was arraigned before United States Commissioner Long.

Babcox, who is now working in a Los Angeles furniture store, acted as a representative of the South Texas Lease Syndicate and later organized the George A. Babcox Company. The investigators assert that he claimed ownership of leases on land in the vicinity of proven oil territory in Texas, but that no wells were sunk and no dividends paid investors.

Most of the complaining witnesses against Babcox live in Long Beach. They charge that he sold units originally for $35, disposing of $14,000 worth at this figure, and that later he raised the unit price to $110. His profits are asserted to have reached $40,000.

With Babcox's arraignment, there remain only three of those named in indictments who have not appeared. One of these is now in Texas.

CHAMBER TO OPPOSE CHECK PLAN CHANGE

RESOLUTION OF LOCAL BODY DECLARES COLLECTION SYSTEM EFFICIENT

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will oppose any action to change the method of check collection used between Federal reserve banks, according to a resolution adopted by the board. The national body has been advised of the attitude of the local organization.

Reasons for the action are: "This represents the best possible practice and condition under which the matter should be operated for the best interest of all concerned."

The resolution adopted by the chamber is:

Whereas, we have noted with concern recent agitation for radical changes in the existing system of check collection operated through the Federal reserve banks, and

Whereas, we are informed that there has been submitted to the Federal Reserve Board a suggested substitute for the present method of par collection, the said substitute containing provisions that:

(1.) For exchanges charges drawn on member banks bearing out-of-the-district indorsements, which would impose upon commerce and industry an unnecessary and unjustified burden.

(2.) For acceptance by the Federal reserve banks as actual cash reserve, immediately available, on an unlimited volume of out-of-town checks, and

Whereas, we believe that the two provisions above mentioned are subversive of the best interests of the general public, and

Whereas, we believe the system of check collection as par, as now operated by the Federal reserve banks (par in the instance being defined as remittance without charge to the Federal reserve banks of their respective districts by drawee banks for checks drawn on them) represents a distinct improvement over all methods of check collection that were available before the organization of the Federal reserve banks, from the standpoint of efficiency and economy of operations, quickness of presentations and receipt of returns from checks, as well as benefits to business, industry and the general public, be it

Resolved, that we urge the Federal Reserve Board to continue its efforts to develop the existing system of check collection by voluntary co-operation of nonmember banks with the hope that it may ultimately reach the ideal goal of a universal system of check collection at par.

Pile Sufferers! This New Discovery Will Rid You of Piles (Hemorrhoids) Forever

Has Completely Cured Cases of Several Years' Standing in from Three to Eight Days. Guaranteed by all Good Druggists

Perhaps the most amazing discovery of recent years in the field of medicine is the discovery that Piles can now be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful substance called MOAVA. This substance in the form of a suppository is inserted into the rectum where by its soothing, healing action all pain and soreness is allayed and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes after the use of the first suppository even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments; often after operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.

The discoverer of this truly wonderful substance has instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in every case of blind, bleeding or protuding piles, in fact, goes so far as to say that he doesn't want a cent of any sufferer's money, even in the worst cases, unless it absolutely does what is claimed for it.—[Advertisement.

Are You Fat? Just Try This

Thousands of overfat people have become slim by following the advice of doctors who recommend Marmola Prescription Tablets, those harmless little fat reducers that simplify the dose of the famous Marmola Prescription. If too fat, don't wait—go now to your druggist and for one dollar, which is the price the world over, procure a case of these tablets. If preferable you can secure them direct by sending price to the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. They reduce steadily and easily without tiresome exercises, starvation diet or absurd greases and saliva.—[Advertisement.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY SKIN

Make This Lemon Cream to Clear Skin and Bleach Tan, Freckles

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands, then shortly note the youthful beauty, softness and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream to bring that velvety, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—[Advertisement.

MERRITT TRIAL DRAWS SOCIETY

Prominent Pasadena People Hear Divorce Testimony

Wife Says Husband Created Scene at Party

Witness Points to Asserted Companion of Woman

The contested divorce suit of Mrs. Ella Emory Merritt against Lewis N. Merritt, of the Pasadena millionaire colony, got under way yesterday when Mrs. Merritt took the stand to affirm her allegations of extreme cruelty, on which she bases her pleading.

Furs, jewels and Tut gowns overflowed the spectators' seats, for witnesses and spectators were drawn from the haute monde of Pasadena and Altadena. While Judge Burks took a recess an atmosphere akin to a Mah Jongg tea pervaded the chamber. Small talk and trilling laughter displaced the cigar conversation customary to a court.

Mrs. Merritt declared that during the past five years her husband struck and choked her. She left him in February, 1922, and returned only after much persuasion, and then after he had signed a "compact" to keep the peace and pay her certain sums, she testified.

In her testimony she stated that all went well until a bridge party, August 26, 1922. Then he lost his temper, she said, and created a scene. When he repeated this later, she testified, she left him, that being in October of last year.

In January, she said, he came to her apartment and waved in her face a cross-complaint, in which he asserted that she was continually intemperate and that she conducted herself in an unwise manner. She refused to live with him again, she said, and the cross-complaint was filed.

W. F. Dennis, a horticulturist, occupied the stand for a few minutes, and testified that in 1918 he attended a party where Mrs. Merritt imbibed "a few drinks." He recounted an incident when, he said, she struck him.

"Was that a love tap," asked Judge Burks.

"It didn't appear that way," replied the witness.

The party, he said, was not boisterous, even for Pasadena.

Mr. Dennis stated that one night, several years ago, at Catalina Island, he observed Mrs. Merritt promenading the strand arm-in-arm with a gentleman, while Mr. Merritt was away.

"Did you know the man?" the witness was asked.

"No," said Mr. Dennis, "but there he stands back there against the wall."

The courtroom craned to look, while the gentleman flushed.

The trial is to be resumed before Judge Burks today.

Fatal Shooting of Boy by Friend Held Accidental

That 7-year-old Arnold Mohr of 1113½ East Fifty-third street, who was shot and killed by his playmate, Earl Ross, 6, at the Ross home at 1409 McBride street, Belvedere, Sunday, met death by an accidental discharge of a shotgun was the verdict of the Coroner yesterday. The children had returned to the Ross home from an automobile ride and had gone into the house to inspect a new plaything the Ross boy said he had found. The accident then occurred, it was reported.

Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of Central-avenue Undertaking Company, Fifty-sixth street and Central avenue, tomorrow or Thursday, it was stated. The services are held up pending the arrival of out-of-town relatives. The boy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ross.

WOMEN TO ASSIST IN GROTTO CIRCUS

Plans for the organization of women's committees to work for the success of the Jinnistan Grotto circus and Arabian fete at Fraeger Park November 30 to December 9, will be discussed tonight at a meeting and dinner of the Ladies Auxiliary at their clubhouse, 1500 South Figueroa street. Officers of the auxiliary, who will have charge of the program tonight, include Mrs. Alice C. Tucker, president; Mrs. Sarah C. Reynolds, vice-president; Mrs. Myrtle Dorland, chairman of the dinner committee; Mrs. Olive Scaife, Mrs. Lottie Rubendall, Mrs. Bertha Netting and Mrs. Bird Arbrigast. The ten-day circus and fete will be for the benefit of the Christmas charity, the Masonic Children's Home and building fund.

The War on Crime
By Geo. C. Henderson

CHAPTER FIFTY
Catching Counterfeiters

In the old days the Chief of the United States Secret Service could sit in his office in Washington and, looking at a bill, tell his operatives who made it.

The veteran steel engravers of those times left the traces of their handiwork on bills just as surely as if they had trademarked them. You can tell the work of a pen and ink artist by his individuality. For the same reason the secret service could pick out the jobs of the various known counterfeiters.

The Chief would look at a bill and say:

"Go out and get Miles Ogle." Or maybe it would be Charley Smith or Otto Ulrich.

When Ogle was brought in from some town 3000 miles away, the Chief would show him the bill and say:

"You're leaving some of your work lying around again. Better go down the line for another fifteen years and $5000."

And Ogle would look at his bill and have to admit that it was his—and he was pround of it. Off to a Federal prison he went.

Another thing made it easy for the authorities. Nearly all the bad money "birds" were ex-cons or recidivists. "Once a counterfeiter, always a counterfeiter," was considered an axiomatic expression.

IMPOSSIBLE TO QUIT

Charley Smith, another old-timer, used to declare that it was impossible for a counterfeiter to quit the game. There was something irresistibly appealing about the idea of making your own money. He would leave prison filled with the highest resolves and maybe go straight for a number of years, all of which time he was thinking over his mistakes and resolving never to make them again. Then a brilliant idea would come to him. A scheme for making better money would run through his brain, torturing him insistently. And at last he would succumb.

Of course, the fact that nearly all the counterfeiters had records and were known personally to the authorities made it very easy to pick them up when they were wanted.

Today a lot of young fry are engaged in raising bills from $1 to $10 and in making currency and coins. True, nearly all of them are jailbirds and ex-cons but they are not known counterfeiters. Photo-engraving has taken the making of bogus money out of the hands of a few artists and made it the plaything of any number of half-baked petty thives, swindlers, and morons. Secret service men admit that while most counterfeiters are better educated and more intelligent than the ordinary crook, they do not come up to the professional standing of the steel engraver.

METHOD OF DISCOVERY

Counterfeits are generally discovered in some such manner as this. A bank cashier gets the bill in a batch sent in for deposit by a merchant. Immediately he notifies the merchant and turns the paper over to the secret service. Government operatives try to get a description of the person who passed the bill. Many times this is impossible.

A general warning is then sent out throughout the country, describing the type of bill in question. Banks and big commercial institutions are notified to be on the lookout. If any more counterfeits appear in the same city, the Federal authorities feel sure that the man is working locally and immediately comb the places with the aid of the police and sheriffs. Clews are obtained often from paper houses and from those who sell photo-engraving supplies. If necessary every person who has bought photo-engraving supplies for months previous is investigated.

I neglected to state that one of the first moves made is to round up all the known counterfeiters. Not infrequently the authorities get some clew in this way.

USUALLY IS CAUGHT

All the forces of the Federal government are devoted to the task and it is not long before the man is caught, as a rule. The percentage of counterfeiters who operate for three months in the United States is infinitesimal. They constitute such a menace to the prosperity of the country by promising to undermine its currency that no expense is spared to nab them once they show their heads.

The life of a counterfeiter, as such, is indeed short.

Although the law specifies a maxium of fifteen years' imprisonment and $5000 fine, a man easily may be sent up for life. This may be accomplished by sentencing him on many counts. He can be given the fifteen years and $5000 for making the note, another "limit" for passing it, still another fifteen years for having it in his possession, fifteen years more for making the plate and fifteen piled on top of all that for having the plate in his possession.

This is the counterfeiter's reward.

CITY TO SHARE MOTOR TAX

County Agrees to Turn Over $400,000 for Maintaining Streets Serving as Outside Traffic Arteries

An arrangement whereby $400,000 is to be turned over to the city by the county for the development and maintenance of city streets and boulevards serving as arteries for county traffic, $50,000 of which is to be advanced immediately, was entered into yesterday at a joint meeting between the Board of Public Works and the County Board of Supervisors.

By the same arrangement, $200,000 is to be devoted to the same purpose in the remaining forty-two cities of the county. The total of $400,000 represents the amount of money which the county expects to derive from the motor vehicle license tax, which may be expended by the county on the development of city roads serving as arteries for county traffic, under the law. In the event that the sum realized from the tax is less than, or exceeds, the estimated amount of $600,000, proportionate changes will be made in the shares due Los Angeles and neighboring cities.

DISCUSSION IS LIVELY

The agreement was arrived at after a lively discussion in which City Engineer Griffin recounted the necessity for county aid in the improvement and maintenance of city streets.

It was pointed out by Paul Hoffman of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, that a great deal of support by cities had aided in securing the passage of the recent gasoline tax through the Legislature. It was expected that this fund would be available for the improvement of arterial streets, but according to a recent opinion of County Counsel Bishop, the fund may be devoted only to county uses. As a result, the Board of Public Works requested, and succeeded in persuading, the Board of Supervisors to devote the entire sum received from the motor vehicle tax to arterial development in the cities of Los Angeles county.

MAY DEVELOP LATERALS

The fund will not only be used for the maintenance of such thoroughfares as Pico Boulevard, but will also be used for the development of sub-arteries or parallel laterals which extend into county roads. It is expected through this means that the flow of automobile traffic over such arteries as Santa Monica Boulevard will be diminished and more evenly distributed.

It was estimated that about $2,200,000 will be available to the county for the improvement of county roads exclusively from the gasoline tax. With this sum in hand, and with the $600,000 to be turned over to the cities by the county, a decided impetus toward the completion of an unexcelled system of roads in Los Angeles county is expected.

A scheme for expenditure of the $400,000 to be turned over to the city will be worked out in the near future by the Board of Supervisors, the Board of Public Works, the City Planning Commission and the Regional Planning Commission.

Despondent Wife Commits Suicide by Asphyxiation

Despondent, it is supposed, over the continued absence of her husband, Mrs. Francis Marion Campbell killed herself with gas yesterday in her home at 4327 East Fifth street, according to a report by Deputy Sheriff Catlin.

When her daughter Myrtle, 12 years of age, came home from school she found Mrs. Campbell lying on the floor, her head shrouded in a blanket, with a gas tube tightly clenched in her teeth. A physician was called who took Mrs. Campbell to the General Hospital, and efforts were made to revive her, though it was judged she had been dead two hours.

Mrs. Campbell is a former school teacher. Her husband, James Campbell, an automobile salesman, had been at Jacksonville several weeks, it was said.

HEARING CONTINUED

The preliminary hearing of Mrs. Anna V. Kelsey charged with assaulting her husband, E. O. Kelsey, with a deadly weapon, was continued yesterday by Justice Forbes until the 29th inst. Only one witness testified yesterday. He is an elevator man at the Title Insurance and Trust Company Building and testified that he had seen Mrs. Kelsey threatening her husband with a revolver on the 6th inst.

Col. Daly Out as Treasurer to Vanderbilt

Ascribing no reason for his action, but giving it emphasis through the medium of an engraved announcement card, Col. Joseph J. Daly, who came here several weeks ago from New York, has sent formal notice to persons here and elsewhere of his retirement from the directorate and his resignation as treasurer of the three enterprises controlled by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., the Illustrated Daily News Publishing Company, Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., and C. V. Newspaper Service, Inc.

Col. Daly has departed from Los Angeles and it is understood is en route to New York where, it is said, he will resume business association with young Mr. Vanderbilt's father.

The date on the card announcing severance of Col. Daly's connection with the Younger Vanderbilt's newspaper activities is October 10. Col. Daly aided in the organization of the Illustrated Daily News Publishing Company and, until his retirement, was regarded as one of the directing heads of the organization.

CITY GIFT ON DAM PUT UP TO AUDITOR

Stephens Tells Myers He Should Learn Whether Board Abused Privilege

City Attorney Stephens yesterday forwarded an opinion to City Auditor Myers that the city auditor could legally approve a donation of $1500 by the Board of Public Service Commissioners to the Boulder Dam Association if the city auditor were convinced that in making the donation the "Board of Public Service Commissioners had not abused its discretion."

On June 12, last, the board agreed to donate not more than $1500 a month to the Boulder Dam Association for lobbying and other propaganda purposes here and in Washington in support of the Swing-Johnson Bill and other legislation and forwarded a check with the City Auditor Myers's approval for $1000 to Mayor John L. Bacon of San Diego, president of the association. As the Power Bureau was known to be short of money as was shown by a later loan the Bureau received from the City Treasury of $500,000, the donation was received with resentment by taxpayers, and the July, August and September payments were omitted.

Then came another payment at $1500 to the Boulder Dam Association, but before approving it the City Auditor asked the City Attorney for an opinion as to the legality fo the donations. The City Attorney's opinion places the responsibility on City Auditor Myers as part of the city auditor's duties under the law of determining whether the Board of Public Service Commissioners abused its discretion in authorizing the donations.

It is expected that City Auditor Myers now will approve the demand for the $1500 as he did when City Attorney Stephens similarly advised him in the case of the demands for $12,415 to pay campaign bills incurred by the commission for "jazz" bands, marcel waves for young women, circulars, banners and other propaganda in support of the $35,000,000 power bond issue which was defeated at the June 5, last, election.

EGAN PREPARES

PRODUCER ALL SET TO GO WITH HATTON COMEDY

By Grace Kingsley

It looks as though Frank Egan were all set to go on his current season. He will launch his first new production of the year, a brilliant new comedy by Frederic and Fanny Hatton, called "The Waning Sex," on Monday, November 5, at his Little Theater.

Bertha Mann yesterday signed a long-term contract with Egan and if "The Waning Sex" proves as great a success as seems likely, she will be sent to New York in the production at the end of the Los Angeles run of the piece. Later Miss Mann is to appear in other of Egan's productions. Miss Mann has many admirers in the city from the old days when she was leading woman at the Morosco, some four years ago, before she went to New York to appear in a number of productions. She has been playing in the East ever since.

Another former Morosco favorite who will appear in "The Waning Sex" will be Edmund Lowe, who has been playing in pictures since he left a Morosco production playing Broadway in New York. He appeared there in "The Brat," "The Walk-Offs," "The Sun Daughter," "The Divine Crook" and other plays.

Bessie Eyton is another former Morosco favorite who is to have a leading role in "The Waning Sex." The cast also includes Hugh Huntley, Lilyan Tashman, Frederick Truesdell, Hazel Lowry, Max Montesole, Brady Kline and Elwyn Eaton.

Fred J. Butler is staging the play for Mr. Egan.

Charlie Chaplin in Comedy

Charlie Chaplin is going to make another laugh picture. Whether so much seriousness as was displayed in "The Woman of Paris" got on his nerves, or whatever, he has decided to put aside his idea of playing a serious role, and will appear in one of his old-time joy bringers.

He has three or four themes in mind, but hasn't definitely settled which one to choose. He is working over various leads with Monte Bell and other writers these days, with a view to hitting on the most attractive and humorous one. He will start shooting in about four weeks.

Edna Purviance is henceforth to appear only in her own starring vehicles, under Chaplin's management and direction, so it looks as though the world's most famous comedian were going to have a busy time of it during the coming year.

As Miss Purviance will be tied up on her own pictures, Mr. Chaplin is to have a new leading woman. It is said that he has the actress already in mind, but as no contracts have been signed, he won't tell who she is to be.

Sounds Reasonable

Grace Gordon, playing Patsy in "The Gold Diggers," took out her best winter fox fur, the other day, and saw that the summer months had done it no good, and that it looked a bit mangy. She sighed.

"What are you going to have done to it?" asked Iva Shepard.

"Oh," said Grace, "have monkey glands put into it, I guess!"

Monte Bell to Direct

Monte Bell, who has been aiding Chaplin in making his pictures, particularly from the story end, is himself blooming into a full-fledged director. He has signed with Warner Brothers, and his first directorial work will be in connection with a film version of Owen Davis's old melodrama, "Broadway After Dark," written when there really was a little after dark in New York.

The cast of the picture has not yet been announced, but Bell moves his fancy inkwell and his easy shoes over to an office in the Warner Brothers studio next Monday. He is busy at present working out the continuity of the story. And it looks now, he says, as though it will be only the title of the play that will be used.

Elmer Harris Produces

Elmer Harris, whose name has been associated with some of the biggest productions of the screen world, has launched out into independent work after completing the filming of his original story "No More Women" for Asociated Authors.

Harris is now at work on production plans with Thomas H. Ince, and is writing for him a screen special based on an idea said to be entirely new. In fact the story sounded so promising to Mr. Ince that he persuaded Harris to give up his annual trip to his fox farm on Prince Edward Island in Canada and to work on the script.

The author is contenting himself with wire and letter reports from his superintendent, who expects to forward a record shipment of pelts to New York this fall.

"IRENE" COMING BACK FOR NEW ENGAGEMENT

There has been nothing in musical comedy history in recent times to match the record of "Irene," which returns to Los Angeles at the Mason Operahouse Sunday night for a single week's engagement. The cast is headed by Dale Winter.

The play is a comedy of modern metropolitan life, the heroine being a clever and vivacious shop girl, and the hero a rich youth who falls in love with her when he begins to dabble in business. In the background are various amusing characters, including Irene's dear old Irish mother, whose sense of comedy is richly Celtic. The play, written by James Montgomery, is saturated with humanity, comic and romantic, and is embellished with a song hit score by Harry Tierney, with lyrics by Joseph McCarthy.

Proof that the piece has extraordinary intrinsic worth is attested by the fact that it has achieved success wherever it has been presented. In New York it ran continuously for two years at the Vanderbilt Theater, and recently it had a successful return engagement at the Jolson Theater in the same city.

"WHY WORRY" TO OPEN AT GRAUMAN'S MONDAY

"Why Worry?" the title of Harold Lloyd's newest comedy, gives a splendid idea of just the type of picture it is.

In this production Lloyd set out to make a light farce, with a little romance and plenty of action. How he triumphed will be proven to those who see the picture at Grauman's Million-Dollar Theater, starting Monday. There are probably more laughs in this than any picture Lloyd has ever made. Interpreted with speed, pep, merriment and romance, the story is laid in South America in the midst of a fiery revolution.

Lloyd has a new leading lady in the person of Jobyna Ralston, who is pretty and vivacious. Another outstanding figure is John Arsen, a giant, 8 feet 9 inches tall, who adds to the comedy effects.

"GOLD DIGGERS" ARE STILL IN BUSINESS

For five weeks "The Gold Diggers" have been industriously digging at the Morosco Theater with never a lull.

A fine cast headed by Charlotte Treadway, Harland Tucker, Gayne Whitman, Lloyd Corrigan, Iva Shepard, Ruth Long, James Kyle MacCurdy, Grace Gordon, Wanda Sibbald, Elizabeth Noble, Anne Lockhart, Dorothy Eggenton, Elsie Wenger, Sibyl Carpenter, Charles Buck, Richard Richmond, Arthur LaRoe and Fred Hamer appear in the play.

MARY GARDEN

PRIMA DONNA'S GOWN AND PRESENCE DAZZLE

By Edwin Schallert

With a débutante air, and a white gown dazzlingly beaded to match, Mary Garden, chiefly known heretofore as impresario and opera singer, last night made a dashing bow before the public here as a recitalist.

This is indeed an event—a Mary Garden concert. It is all of thirteen years, as I recall it, since I heard the last one. My recollection of it is that Miss Garden wore a heavy black gown that almost needed a page to carry it. But that was thirteen years ago. Styles have changed, and so has the prima donna, and in the fashion of the women of today, it probably is for the better.

At least, she was a picture last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. She filled the stage with the twinkle of her ankles, brightly visible because of her short skirt, and if I had been sitting down in the bald-headed row, instead of back at a proper distance from the stage, I am sure that I should not have heard a note.

As it was, it was difficult enough to listen to mere music, between the shimmering of Miss Garden's gown, her furtive operatic gestures, and the spell that casts upon you of being at all times a remarkably interesting woman.

I really am never quite sure whether Mary Garden can sing or not. I have a sort of impression that she can, and then again I think—Oh, well, what of it. For it takes nearly a whole evening to find out, there are so many other happenings worthwhile.

The program that she offered reminisced on operatic tidbits and ventured out nicely and leisurely into the more traditional recital field. It was about the third group as a matter of fact that one commenced to catch the Richard Strauss and Gretchanikow numbers, and there were no Schubert or Schumann, or Brahms. For which, in the instance of this particular prima donna, I am wholeheartedly thankful.

To all of her interpretations, Miss Garden brings something extremely glowing and personal. Her voice, to be sure, is not all beauteous heather, far from it, perhaps. The Scotch thistles that sharply show at time, are none the less an individual contrast.

Time has mellowed her tones, however. It has softened, too, the harder, more technical lines of her artistry. She poses gracefully—yes, even as she has always done; but she feels more deeply, I think, too. And withal she is a woman of tremendous poise, and above all a personality, and—I may reiterate the thought—a figure!

Her aria from "Louise," the "Depuis le Jour," was an appropriate opening, because this has always been so definitely associated with her career. She sings it always with the finest sentiment—and real sentiment, not sentimentality—and authority.

In "La Serenade" of Paolo Tosti, the next real high light, there was to her presentation, almost a comic opera esprit. In fact, she did everything but dance this time-honored and lilting song and "Ouvre tes yeux bleus" of Massenet.

For a deeper and more fascinating lure, her rendering of "The Steppe," by Gretchaninow; the lovely "A Romance," by Faure, and even the familiar Berceuse by Godard are to be warmly commended, for they disclosed the beauties of her art and feeling, as well as a finer perception of tone.

The accompanist for Miss Garden, Georges Laurevryns, should receive especial praise, I feel, because he met so well the exacting task of responding to the singer's impulses.

Gutia Casini, the 'cellist, her assisting artist, succeeded in winning manifest popular approval with his rendering of the Slumber Song by Schumann, the Tarantelle by Popper, Nocturne by Chopin and Gypsy Airs by Sarasate. The latter is adapted from the higher violin register by himself. He answered the call for encores with an extremely difficult if slightly grotesque perpetuum mobile number the Orientale of Cesar Cui.

Miss Garden had many encores to her various groups, which is proof of the fascination with which she endows anything in which she takes part.

GIVES ONLY LOCAL RECITAL TOMORROW

Queena Mario

Queena Mario, lyric coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, will appear in recital at the Hollywood High School tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. This will be her only appearance in Los Angeles this season.

The singer is a protege of Sembrich, and is in her second year with the Metropolitan.

MARJORIE RAMBEAU IN NEW PLAY NEXT WEEK

Saturday night will bring to a close the run of George Middleton's comedy drama, "The Road Together," at the Majestic Theater. It will be succeeded Sunday night by Blanche Upright's new play, "The Valley of Content," which Mrs. Upright wrote specially for Marjorie Rambeau.

Maureen Olsen is seen this week in the role originally played by Maude Leone, owing to the latter's illness.

With the opening of "The Valley of Content" Cullen Landis, well known juvenile star of the screen, will make a return to the footlights after an extended absence.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT OF

The Smart Musical Comedy
IRENE
Mason Opera House, Beg. Sunday Night, Oct. 28th
Engagement positively limited to one week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.
During the last visit of this great musical success hundreds of anxious theatergoers were turned away from the Mason box office for the very good reason that they did not heed the managerial urge to secure their seats well in advance. Don't YOU make this mistake and find yourself among the disappointed ones. If you do you're missing what all Los Angeles has already acclaimed the biggest musical comedy hit seen here in years.
"IRENE" comes to Los Angeles after a recent return engagement in New York at the Al Jolson Theater with the same cast, which includes DALE WINTER, FLO IRWIN, MARY O'MOORE, GLADYS NAGLE, DOROTHY LAMAR, HENRIETTA HOUSEN, DOROTHY KANE, HOWARD FREEMAN, JERE DELANEY, HENRY COOTE, GEORGE COLLINS, EDDIE MARR and GEORGE MANTELL in prominent roles. An exceptional beauty chorus is also provided and a special orchestra.
Seats go on sale at the box office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock for all performances at a popular scale of prices, ranging from 50c to $2.50 for the evening performances; 50c to $2 for the Saturday matinee, and a special price matinee on Wednesday at 50c to $1.50.

CASH IN ON OUR NEW PROPOSITION.

GET IN ON THE GROUND FLOOR.

The biggest and quickest selling proposition ever launched in this city.

CHARLES W. PRESTON, nationally known expert in salesmanship, head of our Educational Department, will deliver his famous lecture on "Opening and Closing a Sale" Wednesday night. Don't miss it. It will help you. IT PAYS BIG TWO WAYS.

After the lecture we'll briefly explain our new proposition and arrange for interviews for those who wish to join us before the lecture. It points the way to a big income.

Wednesday Night, 8 o'clock Sharp

604-6 CONSOLIDATED BLDG., 6th and Hill sts.

$5000 REWARD

IF YOU were suddenly to receive a telegram advising you that $5000 awaited your call, you would not only be interested but would follow instructions between now and then to the letter. Those instructions were to be pleasantly and that they reported only a minimum amount of effort to do it was all that you desired. I am sure you would take it up.

THAT IS all I have to offer you for I am the telegram sprite of interest on your part. That interest may be satisfied by dropping in at the address below and there to tell you of the most marvelous piece of work that ever attempted by mankind in this direction. Don't hesitate.

1924-6 C. C. CHAPMAN BLDG.

BUNGALOW COURT DE LUXE
4 ARTISTIC UNITS $30,000
INCOME $2880 NR. WESTLAKE PK.
One of the handsomest little income propositions in L. A. A wonderfully built, extremely artistically designed group of typically Spanish homes, each with ENCLOSED PATIO covered with expensive awnings, large breakfast nook, extra large living room, bedroom and model kitchen. Each is a little picture with every imaginable modern convenience. There is a large lot artistically landscaped with expensive trees, shrubs and flowers. THE LOCATION IS IDEAL—close in near Wilshire Blvd., Westlake and Lafayette Parks. Public tennis courts, etc. This is an offering which will appeal to the conservative investor—the income is large and rising, and the property is considerably undercriced. Let us show you.
